COLD WAVE IS BROKEN BUT VAST HARM DONE.

Much of Citrus Crop Lost, According to Experts' Estimates.

Damage to Trees Possibly Heavy and Young Plantings Killed in Some Localities—Less Frost Last Night and Temperature Higher All Around—Hope That Many Oranges May Be Saved.

THE cold wave is broken, but the harm's done, and Southern California orange and lemon growers have suffered a loss of many millions of dollars in a few nights of frost such as no person now living may ever see again. While the freeze continued last night it was in lesser degree, the temperature being about 6 degrees higher all around, and little additional damage has been done. Warmer weather is promised today.

With the rising temperature the spirit of optimism, hard hit for a time, came to reassert itself yesterday in the citrus-growing communities, and pessimistic orchardists turned toward the future and its promise of crops that shall more than compensate for the losses of the present, heavy though they be. Smudge fires were kept lighted and energies bent on saving what remained of the undestroyed fruit and preventing further damage to the trees which are to be laden with golden globes in the seasons to come. And there is still a lively hope that many oranges supposed to be spoiled may be saved. "Don't jump to conclusions!" is the talk.

HIGH FIGURES.

One man yesterday estimated the loss from $15,000,000 to $24,000,000, a shortage of $1,250 to $4,000 cars, as what had been estimated as a 5,000-car crop still on the trees. This takes no account of the damage to fruit, which is admittedly heavy. Last night's freeze added to the damage, said Assistant General Manager Powell of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange yesterday. "We are trying to be optimistic, but there is no use to deny that perhaps 50 per cent. of the crop is a loss. Some say 60 per cent., but 50 per cent. is a fair estimate."

"Eighty per cent. of the crop is badly damaged," said W. A. Randolph, president of the Randolph Fruit Company. "In many sections it

Wreck of the Rosecrans.

Wireless Calls for Help Are Stilled by Raging Sea Before Intrepid Life-Saving Crew Reaches Doomed Vessel — Three Men Alive, But Rescuers Are Cut Off from Shore—Four Drown in Wreck North of Vancouver.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ASTORIA (Or.) Jan. 7.—The oil tank steamer Rosecrans, Capt. L. F. Johnson, from Monterey, Cal., to Portland, while crossing the bar to the Columbia River early this morning during a fifty-five-mile gale, ran aground on Peacock Spit, and was lost with more than thirty of the thirty-five on board.

Two men from the wrecked ship was reported this evening as having been washed ashore at Tioga, Wash., six miles from the scene of the wreck. The Point Adams life-saving crew, which with the life crew from Ft. Canby had been on the scene of the wreck since early morning, rescued three other men this afternoon. The names of the rescued are not available. The three men rescued by the Point Adams crew had taken refuge in the rigging of one of the masts when the ship went down. For many hours they clung there, the waves breaking over them. This afternoon the wind decreased, permitting the life-savers to reach the men. Two of the men were taken from their perch, while the third, who had jumped into the sea when the lifeboat neared the spot, was taken from the water.

OFFICERS AND CREW.

At the offices of the Associated Oil Transportation Company at San Francisco, owners of the Rosecrans, names of the thirty-five officers and men who composed the crew of the ill-starred ship were announced as follows:

Capt. L. F. Johnson.
First Officer Thomas Mullins.
Second Officer Hans Tonda.
Third Officer C. R. Palmer.
Chief Engineer Richard Grundell.
Second Assistant Engineer J. L. Adams.
Third Assistant Engineer Norman Fife.
Chief Steward Fred Wilson.
Wireless Operator L. A. Prudhont.
Boatswain Peter Uren.
Ship's Carpenter Eric Lindmark.
Ship's Electrician Milton Ellefson.
Walter D. Bryant.
Messman Angus McDonald.
Messboy Charles Cross.
Chief Cook James Yeats.
Second Cook Charles Alt.
Firemen William Harden, Stephen O'Hara, Fred Hannan, Charles Smith, John Olsen, John McGlinchy, L. Cagna, C. Murphy, Peter Hareide, — Murray and one unknown fireman.
Seamen Fred Peters, F. Armstrong, Hjalmar Reister, Severin Gjosen, Thomas Stensvig and J. Slenning.

HURLED ON THE ROCKS.

The wind at the mouth of the Columbia River was blowing fiercely from the southeast when the ill-fated tanker essayed an entrance and was hurled upon the rocks at the same place where the steamer Gen. Washington went aground a year ago. The Washington was pulled off after a two days' fight.

When the Rosecrans's perilous position became known, the tugs Goliath and Oneonta, and the Ft. Canby and Point Adams life-saving crews rushed to give aid.

When the tugs reached the vicinity of the tanker, she was found hard aground. For a time it was believed she might be saved, or her crew taken off, but the high seas and the fierce winds made near approach impossible. The wrecked vessel soon shifted and began to break up. Before the tugs and life-savers could get close enough to heave a line aboard, she slipped off the rocks and sank until only her masts and the funnel appeared above the water. Three men of the crew clung to the rigging.

SUMMARY.

THE CITY. Clear. Wind at 5 p.m., 5 miles. Thermometer, highest, 52 deg. Forecast: Fair and heavy frost in the morning; light winds, changing to southwest. Citizens should continue efforts. For weather report see page 11.

Hundreds of children fought and yesterday in the Congressional "whipping trust" inquiry that European drug grant shippers large rebates to control the trade from South America.

The Supreme Court has decided that notice by publication in a divorce suit is legal and sufficient if the State is shown to have been the matrimonial domicile of both parties.

The California delegation will hold a conference today in an endeavor to have a quarantine placed against Mexican oranges to guard against the introduction of the Mexican weevil into California fruit.

The nomination of Walter A. Frear as Governor of Hawaii by President Taft is not likely to be confirmed, it was announced yesterday, and the place will probably go to a Democrat when President-elect Wilson goes in.

In the Senate yesterday consideration of the omnibus claims bill was resumed; the court of inquirement resumed the trial of Judge Archbald of the Commerce Court; Sargent introduced a bill to appropriate $25,000,000 to aid State good roads; Col. E. M. Johnson was sworn in as the successor of Valley of Texas; the Appropriations Committee gave hearing on the further appropriation for continuing the United States Commerce Court.

In the House yesterday consideration of the Indian Appropriation bill was resumed; the money trust committee continued its investigations; bankers and financiers testified on the currency question.

THE GREAT WAR. It was announced yesterday by Sir Edward Grey, the British Secretary of Foreign Affairs, that the powers are considering the question of intervention in case the peace negotiations fail.

FOREIGN. The Canadian police at Calgary, N. C., yesterday arrested three men believed to be implicated in a series of nitro-glycerin outrages which have occurred there lately in connection with labor troubles.

United States Consul-General Paul Nash of Budapest died suddenly in a London hotel yesterday.

FINANCIAL. The wheat contest on the Chicago Board of Trade was a draw yesterday, with the hours on lon, the prices being down considerably at the close. Stocks showed throes of bull tactics during the day, and on the market also had its effect on the prices of provisions.

Prices on the New York Stock Exchange crept steadily upward yesterday, there being a demand for Hartman stocks, while Union Pacific sold at two points higher than on the previous day.

Santa Barbara Maid of Nineteen Becomes the Bride of Her Employer Whose Sister Is the Wife of Steel Magnate's Brother—To Spend Honeymoon in Smoky City.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Local and Montecito society folk were given a surprise when W. H. Coleman, whose sister is the wife of Thomas M. Carnegie, brother of the steel magnate, was married to Miss Anne Dane. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride and was witnessed by immediate friends only. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Dane and is only 19 years old, while the wealthy groom is said to be past 50.

The wedding was the culmination of a short courtship which began soon after Miss Dane went into Mr. Coleman's employ as a stenographer. The bride is a graduate of the local High School.

Mr. Coleman formerly was in the steel business at Pittsburgh, but has been living in Santa Barbara several years.

The couple left at noon for the East, where they will visit the Carnegies and then go abroad for a few months.

Friend and Confidant of Yuan and Dr. Sun Will Try to Enlist Investment of United States Capital in the Orient—First President Not Coming Over.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Jan. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] On a mission to raise in the United States millions of dollars for the financial relief of the new republic of China Guilford A. F. Bidwell arrived today on the Pacific Mail liner China from Shanghai.

Bidwell asserts he has been delegated by President Yuan Shi Kai and Dr. Sun Yat Sen to negotiate with American capitalists to invest in the great natural resources of China. He further says the preliminaries of the negotiations have been arranged in advance and he hopes to close several colossal deals in the United States that will go a long way toward the accumulation of the $66,000,000 which the new government sought under the six nation loan plan.

Bidwell says Dr. Sun has temporarily abandoned his plan of coming to the United States for a conference with railroad men.

WARN SETTLERS AGAINST FLOODS.

Weather Service Fears for Western Washington.

Rivers Swollen and Are Rising Rapidly.

Trains Crippled, Landslide Buries Five Men.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) Jan. 7.—The United States weather service issued a flood warning today to dwellers in the lowlands of Western Washington, pointing out that the melting of the mountain snows must cause the overflowing of rivers, already at the danger point. Rain fell all day in the lower altitudes of Western Washington, with soft snow in the mountains. The Great Northern Railway, whose mountain division has been tied up for several days, was unable to clear its track on the western slope because of successive landslides. A slide today covered five men, and one was killed. The Milwaukee and Northern Pacific were crippled by the storm, and trains are running irregularly.

Reports from the Green, White and Stuck rivers in King county indicate that farmers living near these streams are preparing for a great inrush of flood water.

SNOHOMISH IN FLOOD.

At Everett the Snohomish River, swollen by melting snows, is rising rapidly, and farmers have moved all their portable property back from its banks. The same condition prevails along the Skagit, the largest river in Western Washington, and the Puyallup, Vhehalis and Cowlitz rivers. High water in the Cowlitz would interfere with the operation of the single railway between Puget Sound and Portland, which is used by three companies.

The Chinook wind, the coming of which has been dreaded by railroad men for the last two weeks, has arrived. It is feared the fifteen feet or more of snow that piled upon the Cascade Mountains will be speedily melted and rush down the slopes, washing out tracks and bridges and inundating the valleys.

SNOW TURNS TO SLUSH.

Snow that fell yesterday in Western Washington has been reduced to slush by the rain and warm wind now prevailing. The temperature has risen in average ten degrees in Oregon and Washington, and in some places twenty degrees. A southwesterly storm that will bring great masses of vapor from the sea is sweeping over Western Washington.

The railroads have already begun to suffer from the thaw. The Milwaukee's train, due here at 11 o'clock this morning, has been marked indefinitely late. Northern Pacific trains are three or four hours late. The Great Northern gave up hope of opening its mountain division until late in the week.

Alaska reports high temperature. Dutch Harbor, in the Aleutian Islands, had a maximum temperature yesterday of 38 deg.; Sitka, 42; Valdez, 28.

SELL WATER AT SALT LAKE.

Cold Wave Causes Famine and Gluid Is Doled Out by the Gallon in Mormon City.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 7.—Water is being sold by the gallon in the streets of Salt Lake City from municipal sprinkling carts. A number of laundries have been compelled to shut down. In some parts of the city unsanitary conditions have become a menace.

However, the back of the cold wave has been broken, according to the weather man, and it is hoped that this, together with extraordinary provisions made by the City Council, will bring relief from the famine by tomorrow. The lower parts of the city are enjoying a limited supply of the precious necessity. Water has been turned into the mains from artesian wells and small irrigation ditches.

The temperature reached a maximum of 13 degrees above zero at noon today. At 6 tonight the mercury was holding its own at 10 above.

COLORADO WARMING UP.

Temperature Rises From Fifty-four Below to Zero for First Time Since Sunday Morning.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER (Colo.) Jan. 6.—With slowly rising temperature reported from all over Colorado, it is believed the cold wave which has prevailed over the Rocky Mountain region has passed the crisis. Shortly before 11 o'clock today, the mercury, upward bound, reached zero, the first time in Denver since 6 a.m., Sunday. This afternoon the cold moderated rapidly. District Forecaster Frederick N. Brandenburg predicted that tonight the minimum would be at least 10 degrees above last night's record of 18 degrees below.

Reports from the western slope in Colorado tell of all records for cold being broken. The lowest temperatures recorded in the Rocky Mountain region is at Steamboat Spring, where an official record of 54 below was made early today.

Little loss of live stock has been reported in Colorado. This is attributed to the absence of severe winds and to the fact that the snow in most stock-raising districts is light.

OPERATES ON HIMSELF.

Nervy Minnesota Physician Scrapes Bone by Aid of Mirror, While Nurse Succumbs to Strain.

MINNEAPOLIS (Minn.) Jan. 7.—Driven to desperation by pain and his inability to find a surgeon who could relieve him, Dr. W. M. Beck of Clarkfield, Minn., stood before a mirror in his office, made an incision just below his left jaw, cut away the flesh from the point of the chin almost to the left ear, scraped the bone and then sewed up the wound. His operation, however, failed to relieve him of a growth which threatened to destroy the jaw bone, and today he is in a local hospital, where another operation has been performed. When Dr. Beck performed his operation, he was aided only by a nurse, who was the first to give way under the strain.

Cold Wave.

appears a clean sweep and there are some who state that 90 per cent. of the total crop will be unmarketable."

Sixty per cent. is the loss figure favored by many. Others chose 75 per cent. as their estimate, while men who went out for the railroad companies came back with damage estimates that ran all the way from 75 to 90 per cent. Generally speaking, the figures were about 50 per cent.

The citrus crop this year was estimated at 46,000 cars, valued roughly at $32,500,000 f.o.b., at the packing-houses. Records kept by the California Fruit Growers' Exchange show that 5500 cars had been shipped to date, 2500 cars from the Tulare and Butte county fields and 3000 cars from Southern California. This left 42,500 cars to ship, granting that estimates on the crop as a whole were correct.

In other words, the crop in the orchards represented a money value of something like $29,750,000, or $700 per car. This being true, the loss at 50 per cent. would be $14,875,000 and at 80 per cent. $23,800,000.

HITS THE RAILROADS.

There is also the freight and refrigeration loss at $1 a box. If 50 per cent. of the crop is a loss this means that the railroads and refrigerating concerns will be deprived of something like $9,000,000 in reverse; if 80 per cent. then the loss in revenues will be $14,400,000. It was no wonder that the railroad traffic departments had men in the citrus districts all day yesterday trying to get a line on the loss. The Salt Lake had four men out; the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe had as many.

"We stand ready to do everything in our power to relieve the situation," stated General Traffic Manager Wann of the Salt Lake yesterday. "If one car of oil will help we will haul it immediately to any point designated. The citrus crop is a big thing to Southern California and we are for Southern California first, last and all the time."

Oil valued at $42,000 left here yesterday to replenish the smudge pots. There were 100 cars in all, twenty going to Santa Paula, twenty to Glendora, Azusa and Claremont, fifteen to Corona, fourteen to Pomona, and thirty-one cars to other points. From this it is evident that many growers are making a last desperate fight to save their crops.

There is no possibility of accurate loss estimates for a week or ten days. As soon as warmer weather comes, the California Fruit Growers' Exchange will begin a thorough canvass of all the districts. Men will go into every orchard, cut the fruit, and ascertain accurately the amount of damage. When this is done there will be some promise of an accurate estimate of the loss.

AS TO THE TREES.

"It will take another year to estimate the damage to the trees," stated President Randolph of the Randolph Fruit Company yesterday. He stated further that considerable damage was doubtless done, but said that it should be remembered that there was a freeze last year, yet the estimates this year showed a 43,000-car crop, the largest in history.

The young plantings are especially hard hit. In many localities they are killed. This is especially true of lemons. Yet the conservative ones point out that trees often show rare perseverance in rejuvenating themselves. No estimate of the young plantings can be obtained and no local authorities are willing to venture a guess as to the extent of the damage.

The reports that come from the individual sections are oftentimes more optimistic than actual conditions warrant. There is always more or less local pride behind this, also the disposition of growers to be as optimistic as conditions will permit. This optimism is shown by the fact that many growers are smudging on a forlorn chance of saving their fruit.

Naturally an industry in which $175,000,000 is invested is one of many interests. The observation is being made on all sides that banks, mercantile establishments, and in fact the whole body politic of Southern California will feel the loss to the citrus growers.

"It is most unfortunate," said Assistant General Manager Dezell of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, "that two short crops should follow each other. It will make it hard on the growers, especially those who were staking their all on a good crop this year."

SHIPMENTS HALTED.

TRUCK TRADE NUMBED.

Coming at this time, the damage to the vegetables by frost very seriously affects shipments to outside points, one of the most important and profitable branches of the industry.

"We are not sending out any vegetables at present," said Thomas O'Neill, manager of the California Vegetable Union, yesterday. "We will not be able to do so at best until the cold spell breaks, and they have had time to thaw out. The demand is brisk and a good business can be done at this season. Car lots of celery, cauliflower and cabbage are shipped, and in smaller quantities tomatoes and lettuce.

"Our investigations show that the injury to vegetable crops has been quite general, and we understand that produce in sections of Northern California has been damaged as well. No accurate estimate of the loss can be given until the various products have had time to thaw out. It is certain, however, that tomatoes, peppers, beans, peas and egg plant are frozen. Celery has been damaged to some extent and will have to be stripped of its outer leaves, with the result that it will be a second-class product."

About $500,000 worth of celery was shipped out of California last season, most of it being produced in the vicinity of Smeltzer, in Orange county. The value of other principal vegetables shipped out of Southern California for the winter trade is approximately as follows: Cabbage, $125,000; cauliflower, $150,000; lettuce, $50,000; tomatoes, $190,000.

Locally firmness with a strong upward tendency characterizes the market on cabbage, cauliflower and lettuce. Advances are expected soon. Tomatoes are brought from Mexico, but sell more than 50 per cent. higher than the vegetable did a week or so ago. Beans and peas are practically exhausted, and there is apparently no source from which a supply can be secured. The last peas on the market brought as high as 20 cents a pound wholesale. Citrus fruits have not been affected to any degree as yet, but are expected to show a tendency toward higher prices in a few days.

Hopeful.

TEMPERATURE MODERATING.

GROWERS WILL SAVE PART OF CITRUS CROP.

Gradual Thawing of the Fruit Will Insure a Large Marketable Balance—Loss, However, Is Tremendous and Small Ranch Owners Face a Long, Hard Struggle.

GLENDORA, Jan. 7.—Glendora growers have suffered a terrible blow. The exact extent of the disaster cannot be stated for several days, but it may be said conservatively that the immediate Glendora district will lose $1,000,000 as a result of the unusual spell of weather which is just passing.

The temperature is rising slowly and hope is expressed that the fruit will not be a total loss because of that fact.

Having entertained the belief for years that this section was immune to the dangers of frost, few growers had provided smudging pots. Some say it would have been a useless expense, anyway, when the thermometer reaches the point which it has during the past week.

S. C. Schiffman and W. J. Dennis made a tour of the orange-growing sections this afternoon and report that all sections suffered severely. They traveled 150 miles and inspected scores of orchards, and desolation greeted them on every hand.

The temperature is rising and at midnight showed four degrees over the same hour last night. Frost is expected in the morning, but it will be comparatively light and cannot add greatly to the damage already wrought.

COVINA.

GROWING WARMER.

COVINA, Jan. 7.—The temperature has greatly moderated within the past few hours, and it is believed that the unusual conditions will soon give way to normal. At 10 o'clock the temperature was 35 deg. There is little wind, however, and a perfectly clear sky, and smudging will be the rule during the early morning hours.

Growers and packers frankly admit that the crop has suffered great damage. Some of the better informed said today that the loss to the immediate district will be $450,000.

Experts in handling the fruit say that 25 per cent. of the crop will be marketable if the fruit thaws slowly. The experience of local growers proves that while smudging is beneficial with the thermometer at or near 20 deg., it will not avail if a temperature of 22 deg. is registered and maintained for several hours as it was during the present freeze.

WHITTIER.

VALENCIAS HOPELESS.

WHITTIER, Jan. 7.—The cold snap has destroyed the entire Valencia crop and no hope is entertained of saving any lemons. Fifty per cent. of the navels will be saved, however, if the thaw is gradual. Nursery stock was not injured to an appreciable extent. Growers are smudging tonight, though the temperature is several degrees higher than it was twenty-four hours ago. Shippers and growers estimate that the damage to fruit in the Whittier district will approximate $3,000,000.

Careful Thawing May Save Orange Crop Not Touched by Lower Temperatures Than Twenty Degrees—Ninety Per Cent. of Yield in Central and Northern Parts of State Already Shipped.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7.—Tomorrow morning will see the end of the devastating cold spell that has held California in its grasp the last three days, according to Alexander G. McAdie, director of the government Weather Bureau in San Francisco. Northern California will get rain, he said, and a rising temperature will come to the aid of the stricken citrus belt in the south.

Southeast winds will bring rain and warmer weather to San Francisco and vicinity tomorrow, according to McAdie. In the south, light northeast will change to west winds during the day.

The lowest mark today at Fresno was 24 deg. above zero; at Sacramento, 28 deg.; San Jose, 24 deg., and San Francisco, 36 deg.

Ninety per cent. of the citrus crop in Central and Northern California, which matures earlier than the southern crop, has been shipped, and estimates from Oroville, Porterville and Visalia, the principal shipping points, were that the damage would be light.

Prof. McAdie thought it a little early yet to forecast the total damage done.

"During the cold snap of December 25 and 26, 1911," he said, "$5,000,000 damage was done. It will probably take a week or ten days to arrive at final figures of loss this year.

"Probably it will be another twenty-five years before another such a visitation descends on us. The lesson taught is that we must study to care for oranges after they have been nipped. The department is now preparing a pamphlet on 'The Best Temperature at Which to Thaw Out Oranges After They Have Been Frozen.'

"Briefly, it may be said that with slow, careful thawing oranges may be saved if they have not been subjected to a temperature of lower than 20 deg. Below that there isn't much hope.

"About the best we can do is to raise the temperature 5 deg."

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Cipriano Castro took personal charge today of his fight against deportation. He called a lawyer to his room, where he is detained at Ellis Island, and prepared a new petition asking for a superseding writ of habeas corpus. This writ was granted late today by Judge Holt in the Federal District Court. The new writ is more specific than the original documents. It is returnable January 10.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TOLUCA (Mex.) Jan. 7.—Twenty Federal soldiers were killed today owing to a clash by mistake between two bodies of government troops, brought to Toluca after the attack on Sunday by fifty followers of Zapata on a passenger train. A detachment of cavalry protecting the passengers of the wrecked train were fired on by another body of Federal troops approaching the spot. Before the commanders of the two forces had recognized that they were fighting comrades twenty men were dead.

AY TRIBUTE TO STANFORD.

ramento to Commemorate Central Pacific.

Fifty Years Ago Work on Road Started.

State Officials to Take Part in Celebration.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fifty years ago tomorrow, Gov. Leland Stanford turned the first shovelful of earth in this city for the construction of the Central Pacific Railroad, and the event will be commemorated on the spot by a celebration of fitting magnitude.

...y members of the Veteran ... Association will arrive from San Francisco in the morning and gather at Front and K streets, where a bronze tablet will be unveiled.

W. H. CROCKER COMING.

William H. Crocker, son of Charles Crocker, one of the "Big Four" that built the road, will arrive from New York tomorrow morning to participate in the exercises. President David Starr Jordan of Stanford University, Gov. Johnson and R. A. Donahue, one of the oldest pensioners, will be among the speakers.

The Chamber of Commerce and other civic and industrial organizations will be represented by large delegations.

After the exercises the pensioners will be taken in automobiles to the Country Clubhouse, where a reception will be held.

EVERY WHISTLE TO BLOW.

From 12:55 p.m. to 1 p.m. every whistle in town will be blown.

Work will be suspended in the railroad shops from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. in order to give all employees a chance to attend the celebration, and every wheel on the entire system will be motionless for the five minutes preceding 1 o'clock.

READY FOR PANAMA SERVICE.

Eastern Company Takes Over Bates and Chesebrough Line and Will Compete With Pacific Mail.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7.—J. L. Luckenbach, son of the founder of the Eastern Steamship Company, which has been operating freight vessels in the Atlantic for half a century, announced last night that the Luckenbach interests would take over immediately the business of the defunct Bates and Chesebrough line and continue in the field as a competitor of the Pacific Mail Company.

February 1 is the date set for the inauguration of the service, which will be by way of the Isthmus of Panama and later via the canal. The Luckenbache already own four freighters in Pacific waters, some of which were under charter by the Bates and Chesebrough line, and the first of these, the steamship Pleiades, will leave San Francisco with a cargo for New York within less than a month, according to announcement.

Luckenbach said it was the intention of his company to operate a two weeks' service between San Francisco and Panama at first, the sailing dates to be arranged at shorter intervals when the business increases. The firm has applied to the Harbor Commissioners for permanent dockage facilities.

FIX FOR CALIFORNIA.

Two Carloads of the Animals Sent From Montana to Stock Game Preserves in Shasta County.

[BY WIRELESS LINE TO THE TIMES.]

REDDING (Cal.) Jan. 7.—[Special Dispatch.] A telegram was received here today from Livingston, Mont., that two carloads of elk left there Saturday bound for Shasta county. They were in charge of two men sent here from here by the Redding lodge of Elks. The animals are a gift of the government and come from the Yellowstone National Park. They will arrive by the end of the week and will be liberated at Winthrop, where they will be at home on the range between the McCloud and Pit rivers.

JAPANESE BRIDES.

Subjects of Mikadoo Furnish One-seventh of All the Marriages in San Francisco.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 7.—One-seventh of all the marriages in San Francisco are between Japanese subjects, according to George Leslie, statistician of the State Board of Health. During the year 1912 San Francisco had 1,165 marriages and of this number 167 brides were of Japanese nativity, or 14.2 per cent. For 1911 the proportion of Japanese brides was only one-tenth, the total number of 1,134 being 5226, of which 553, or 10.4 per cent., were from the Flowery Kingdom. Many of the Japanese brides are said to be recently arrived "picture brides," who are married in American fashion.

PROFIT IN MUNICIPAL ROAD.

GEARY RAILWAY RECEIPTS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7.—Total receipts on the Geary street municipal railway at the end of one week's operation show a net profit of $1125, from which it is estimated, will show improvement as more cars contracted for are brought into service and the road is in better condition to care for traffic.

DETECTIVE UNDER BAN.

Tell Court to Add Hard Labor to Murderer's Life Sentence.

[A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
WOODLAND (Cal.) Jan. 7.—Jacinto Vaca, convicted of the murder of Marshal Rice of Winters, last October, was today sentenced to life imprisonment in Folsom penitentiary. J. Norton, one of the jurors in the case, arose and informed the court that he and other jurors favored hard labor and prohibition of parole in the sentence.

CAPITAL GRAB STARTS TROUBLE.

SACRAMENTO READS RIOT ACT TO SAN FRANCISCO.

Seventeen Business Men Visit Golden Gate Chamber of Commerce and Protest Proposed Plan to Erect State Building in Civic Center.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
SACRAMENTO, Jan. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Seventeen business men, representing the Chamber of Commerce, Retail Merchants' Association and other local organizations, read the riot act to San Francisco for trying to take half the capital away from this city. Incidentally, there is the same number, just seventeen, of the State departments, which legally should be located in Sacramento, but which are now housed at San Francisco, rent paid by the State, and which San Francisco is determined to retain.

SACRAMENTO IS INCENSED.

The Sacramento delegation went to the Bay City with blood in its eye. Public feeling has been strongly aroused in the Capital City by the announcement that the San Francisco delegation in the Legislature will endeavor to obtain a million-dollar appropriation for a State building in its new civic center. This would mean a permanent division of the State offices between Sacramento and San Francisco, to which division the Capital City has never and will never consent. It would also pave the way for a future demand by San Francisco for the removal of the capitol itself to the Bay City, as was attempted six years ago.

All the leading civic organizations except the Home Products League joined in the attack upon San Francisco today. The league announces that it is useless to appeal to San Francisco's sense of fairness, and that the only way is an appeal to the law, and this will be made.

OAKLAND IN ACCORD.

The capital delegation shrewdly made an appointment with the Oakland Chamber of Commerce in advance of its date with the San Francisco Chamber. Ready assurances of hearty support were accorded the delegation in Oakland. This did not add to the cheerfulness of the outcome when San Francisco was reached.

The conference at San Francisco was held with the Chamber of Commerce and the Building Committee of the city. The San Franciscans took the ground that it was necessary for some of the branches of the State government, such as the Supreme Court, to meet occasionally at the Bay, and that a proper building should be provided. This did not satisfy the Sacramentans' objection to the bodily lifting of seventeen departments, which now have their main offices, not mere branches, there. Finally after two hours' discussion, it was agreed that a second conference would be held in the near future, and the Sacramentans came home with feathers still ruffled and crowing like game cocks.

SCHMITT'S AMBITIONS.

Milton Schmitt of San Francisco, it is reported, will land the chairmanship of the Assembly Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds. San Francisco is anxious to place one of its delegation in that job to enhance the chances of the Bay City in its fight to retain the truant State officers. Assemblyman Victor Canepa will introduce the bill asking for an appropriation of $1,000,000 for the construction of a State office building in San Francisco's proposed civic center.

The San Francisco delegation is united in this one bill, and will press it to a finish. Los Angeles, Alameda and Sacramento are expected to band together in an effort to compel the offices to be restored to Sacramento.

Sacramento's case is re-enforced by the report of a commission on capitol extension just made, which provides for an office building and a new State library at Sacramento.

GAINS ON THE RECOUNT.

GLENDENNING IN OFFICE.

[BY WIRELESS LINE TO THE TIMES.]
YREKA (Cal.) Jan. 7.—[Special Dispatch.] Supervisor John A. Glendenning of the Scott Valley district gained fourteen votes on the recount in the Superior Court in the election contest brought by Samuel R. Gardner. On the face of the returns, Glendenning had a majority of five, but after the recount he had a majority of 19. At the conclusion of the recount Gardner's attorneys threw up their hands and surrendered, failing to call on a single one of the sixty witnesses summoned. Judge Lodge decided in favor of Supervisor Glendenning.

SNOW ON THE RANGES.

ALBUQUERQUE (N. M.) Jan. 7.—The coldest weather in twenty-five years continues over New Mexico, with no signs of immediate abatement. From some sections of the State thirty-six below zero is reported. Because of the snow on the ranges, losses are occurring among cattle and sheep on the ranges. Unless the weather soon moderates these losses will be heavy.

TO OPEN FIGHT ON PARCELS POST

Wells Fargo to Compete on Rates and Service.

Eggs, Butter and Poultry to Be Delivered Direct.

Plan to Eliminate Profits of the Middleman.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7.—The announcement that direct competition, national in scope, between the Wells Fargo Express Company, and the Federal parcels post will go into effect as soon as the plans which the company has been maturing for the past four years can be set afoot, was made here today by C. R. Graham, traffic manager of the company, at a hearing before the State Railroad Commission.

"We are in constant communication with other express companies," said Mr. Graham, "and although they have not yet signified to us their final decision, we hope they will fall into line."

SCOPE OF COMPETITION.

Competition, he explained, would extend to both rates and services, with special regard to eggs, butter, poultry, and other perishable foodstuffs, to be delivered direct from shipper to consignee, thus eliminating the middleman's profits.

Eleven pounds will be the maximum weight acceptable, as with the parcels post.

Edward P. Ripley, president of the Santa Fe Railroad, was expected to testify before the commission at his own request later in the day to present the railroad's side of the express rate question now being looked into by the commission.

"In the handling of merchandise matter on the graduate scale our rates of course are higher than those fixed in blanket form for the different parcels post zones by the government both for the long and short hauls," Graham explained. "But in commodities that are perishable we can underrate the competition on the long and are trying to do the same on the short haul rates.

THE MIDDLEMAN'S PART.

"At present very little of the food we eat and drink, that is distinctly of California product, goes direct to the consumer. The middleman receives it and then parcels it out.

"Our revenue today for packages of eleven pounds or less is 20.55 per cent. of our total revenue and yet this business constitutes only 62 per cent. of the entire business from the standpoint of weight or tonnage."

Mr. Ripley did not appear before the commission, and at his offices it was said he had not decided when he would appear. He is not under summons.

At the close of the session the commissioners called the express rate hearing at an end, although provision was made for reopening the case should Mr. Ripley desire to testify.

JOHN W. WORLD DEAD.

Noted Vaudeville Actor, Famous on Orpheum Circuit, Expires of Pneumonia at Paso Robles.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Jan. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] John W. World, one of the best-known vaudeville actors in America, died of pneumonia today at Paso Robles, where he had gone with his wife in an effort to regain his health.

World and his wife, known on the stage as Mindel Kingston, toured the world on the Orpheum circuit for years. Both were great favorites with the theater-goers.

News of his death came as a great shock to associates in this city. Mrs. World has left for this city with her husband's body.

World was a prominent Elk, being a member of New York Lodge No 1. He also belonged to Mecca Temple, Mystic Shriners.

ICY IN NEW MEXICO.

LOUISVILLE CATHOLIC PASTOR MARRIED AT ST. LOUIS.

Falls in Love With a Young Woman Whom He Had Received Into the Church—Leaves Cathedral of Assumption and Will Go Into the Lumber Business.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
ST. LOUIS, Jan. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Inquiry here today as to the whereabouts of D. J. Gallagher and Florence Layer, both of Louisville, Ky., who were married last Friday in Christ Church Cathedral, St. Louis, by Canon Percy Brown, Episcopalian, revealed that the bridegroom was until his marriage a Roman Catholic priest, and that the bride is a graduate nurse of Louisville.

Canon Brown said tonight he had no intimation at the time he performed the ceremony that the bridegroom had been a Roman Catholic priest, but that Gallagher told him after the ceremony he was a priest and had formerly been assistant rector of the Cathedral of the Assumption in Louisville, Ky. Canon Brown said he had no knowledge of the present whereabouts of the couple. He had never seen them before they presented themselves to him to be married.

The couple came to St. Louis from Louisville Friday, accompanied by the bride's mother, Mrs. William Layer, who said her daughter became acquainted with Gallagher two years ago, when she became a convert to Catholicism and that he officiated at the ceremony by which she was formally received into the church.

Gallagher's father is reputed to be wealthy and it is said the son intends going into the lumber business.

RENOUNCES HIS VOWS.

FATHER GALLAGHER'S RECORD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
LOUISVILLE (Ky.) Jan. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Until two weeks ago Father Gallagher was assistant rector at the Cathedral of the Assumption here. Miss Layer lived at No. 124 Hite avenue. A short time ago Father Gallagher informed Mrs. Layer that he loved her daughter and wanted to marry her and said even if they were not married, he would leave the church. Mrs. Layer consented and the trip to St. Louis followed. Gallagher is a pulpit orator of note. He is 35 years old and Miss Layer is 23 years old. She was formerly chief night surgical nurse at the City Hospital. Father Gallagher had made no announcement of his purpose to his congregation or brother priests.

TO WED PASADENA MAN.

Miss Alice Pillsbury of Minneapolis Will Marry Stanton M. Forsman This Afternoon.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
MINNEAPOLIS (Minn.) Jan. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Eugene W. Page has issued invitations for the marriage of her daughter, Miss Alice Pillsbury, to Stanton M. Forsman of Pasadena, Cal., which will take place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Osgood Ayer (Harriet Pillsbury,) No 3 Westmoreland Place, Pasadena, Wednesday afternoon, January 15, at 5 o'clock.

Miss Pillsbury, who is one of Minneapolis' richest heiresses is a beautiful blonde type of girl. Her father was the late C. A. Pillsbury, founder of the Pillsbury-Washburn Flouring Mills Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bardwell (Helen Pillsbury) and little daughter Beatrice of Pittsfield, Mass., will be guests at the wedding. Mrs. Bardwell and daughter expect to spend the remainder of the winter in California.

The Oldest Order.

[Westminster Gazette:] What is the oldest order in existence? The claim is made for that of the Holy Sepulchre, the Grand Officership of which has just been conferred by the Pope on a member of the Irish Nationalist party, Sir Thomas Grattan Esmond. It appears that no date or the name of a founder can be assigned to the Order of the Holy Sepulchre, though there is a legendary tradition that traces its origin to the time of Charlemagne. In the middle of the last century, however, when the Latin Patriarchate of Jerusalem was re-established, the office of Grand Master of the order was transferred to it by Pope Pius the Ninth, who, many years later, in 1868, created by statute three ranks of the order—the grand cross, commander and knight. The costume is a white cloak with the Cross of Jerusalem in red enamel. The Pope himself is Grand Master of the order.

ROCKEFELLER MUST SAY "AH."

Pujo Committee Will Have His Throat Examined.

"Money Trust" Inquisitors Want His Testimony.

New York Banker Will Be Cited for Contempt.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON (D.C.) Jan. 7.—The House Money Trust Committee, in executive session, tonight made plans for dealing with two reluctant witnesses, William Rockefeller and George G. Henry of the firm of Solomon and Company, bankers, New York City. Chairman Pujo announced that the committee had decided to procure the services of a competent specialist in throat diseases to examine Mr. Rockefeller and certify the certificates of ill health filed today with the committee, from Dr. Walter F. Chappelle, Mr. Rockefeller's personal physician, and Dr. Samuel W. Lamett. Dr. Chappelle said that to force Mr. Rockefeller to testify would "endanger his life."

MAY CHARGE CONTEMPT.

In the case of Mr. Henry, the committee prepared forms to be submitted to the full committee, charging him with contempt. Mr. Henry refused on the stand, to reveal the names of national banks and national bank officers allotted a share in the syndicate flotation of the California Petroleum Company. The bank officers made a profit of $50,000, and the banks a like amount. Mr. Henry said, without putting up any money or even taking possession of the stock allotted them. The syndicate, he said, simply offered them the stock and then sold for them at a profit. The full committee will be asked to certify the case of the speaker, with the request that he certify it to the District Attorney for the District of Columbia, who will be asked to take it before the grand jury.

INSURANCE COMPANIES.

The committee, after hearing of the California Petroleum Company from Mr. Henry, went over the affairs of the Equitable, New York and Metropolitan life insurance organizations with the officers of each. The fact was developed that in the mutual companies, the policy-holders show little inclination to control the affairs of the companies and exert practically no power in the election of officers.

John C. McCall, vice-president of the New York Life Insurance Company, said that in 1908 there were 900,000 policy-holders in the company. Of these, sixty-two voted at the annual meeting. In 1911, forty-one voted.

Charles A. Peabody, president of the Mutual, said that in 1911 there were between 600,000 and 700,000 stockholders, and 13,527 votes were cast.

FEW CAST VOTES.

Judge W. A. Day, president of the Equitable Assurance Society, said that out of 500,000 policy-holders, usually between twenty-five and fifty voted.

Affidavits to the effect that William Rockefeller has "gouty inflammation of the larynx and windpipe" which has necessitated six operations, the last of a "serious nature," were recorded with the committee as evidence why the much-sought oil magnate should not appear.

The affidavit by Walter F. Chappelle, Mr. Rockefeller's physician, said Mr. Rockefeller cannot speak above a whisper and must take the so-called "silent treatment."

SUSTAINS LICENSE TAX.

United States Supreme Court Upholds Right of Cities to Collect on Express Companies' Business.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The right of cities to impose license taxes upon State business of express companies and their agencies was upheld yesterday by the Supreme Court in affirming the decision of the Supreme Court of Kansas that an ordinance to that effect in Leavenworth, Kan., was valid. The court distinguished this case from those where the tax was upon interstate or governmental business.

KNIVES OUT FOR FREAR.

Democrats Will Oppose Confirmation as Governor of Hawaii to Make Place for Regular Jeffersonian.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

HONOLULU, Jan. 7.—Supporters of Gov. Walter Frear, whose reappointment was recently sent to the Senate by President Taft, concede today that it will not be confirmed. They are advised that President-elect Wilson will in all probability appoint a Democrat.

Gov. Frear's administration was recently the subject of investigation by Secretary Fisher of the Department of the Interior. The Secretary found much to criticise in the economic, political and social condition of the islands, but nothing specifically to be attributed to Gov. Frear.

Several Democratic candidates are already actively in the field for the nomination.

FEND MEXICAN MAGGOT.

California Delegation in Congress Will Ask Quarantine Against Orange, to Protect State Against Pest.

[BY WIRELESS LINE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Jan. 6.—[Special Dispatch.] Members of the California delegation held a conference yesterday with Dr. A. J. Cook, regarding the Mexican maggot, an insect peculiar to Mexican oranges which has made its appearance across the line into Texas.

Following the conference a subcommittee, consisting of Senator Works and Congressmen Raker, Stephens and Kent, was appointed to co-operate with committees representing Texas, Arizona, Louisiana, Florida, Alabama and Mississippi and attend a general hearing to be held tomorrow before Secretary of Agriculture Wilson. The purpose of the California members of the various committees will be to have a quarantine established against Mexican oranges.

Dr. Cook was sent to Washington by the California authorities to induce the government to place a quarantine upon the Mexican oranges, this fruit being the particular food for the Mexican maggot.

FILL COMMITTEE VACANCIES.

Democratic Caucus Selects Three Congressmen to Serve on Ways and Means, and Territories.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The Democratic caucus of the House elected today Representative Ansberry of Ohio a member of the Committee on Ways and Means to succeed William Hughes of New Jersey, who resigned from the House to seek election to the Senate. Mr. Ansberry originally was slated for membership on the committee, but a factional fight in the State delegation resulted in shifting the choice from Ohio to New Jersey.

Representative Hamill of New Jersey, the choice of that delegation, withdrew and seconded Mr. Ansberry.

The caucus approved all the recommendations of the Ways and Means Committee to fill committee vacancies, which included Flood of Virginia to succeed Gov. Sulzer as chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee, and Humphreys of Mississippi, to succeed Flood at the head of the Territories Committee.

Thirty Go Down.

throughout the forenoon, and all efforts of the tugs and life-savers to get near enough to pass a line to the imperiled men were vain. Breakers threatened the tugs and lifeboats. The daring tugboat men and life-savers were unable to reach the wreck. When the tanker slipped off the rocks into the boiling waters, not a human being was seen except the three men clinging to the rigging.

WIRELESS CALLS STILLED.

Wireless calls for assistance were picked up by the local station today and the tugs Oneonta and Tatoosh went out to the Rosecrans's assistance. Shortly afterward the steamer's wireless was stilled. No answer came to repeated calls. From Ft. Canby and Point Adams the life-savings crews put out against the sixty-mile gale sweeping up from the south. Big waves broke over the crews as the lifeboats struggled through the water.

ILL-FATED CREW.

The raging tumult of water about the ill-fated crew defied rescuers. Huge seas battered at them relentlessly; the gale, bitterly cold, stiffened their clinging fingers until they slipped moment by moment closer to the end—in the harried water beneath. Tugboats and a life-saving crew stood by, hoping against hope; but there was no chance to aid.

AN ILL-FATED VESSEL.

Trouble perched on the forefoot of the Rosecrans, when she was launched as the Methven Castle in Glasgow twenty-nine years ago, and never left her. Capt. Johnson, her master, went down with her today after three wrecks within a year, for none of which was he responsible.

On an early voyage, Carey, one of the Phoenix Park murderers who surrendered his confederates in the assassination at Dublin of Lord Charles Frederick Cavendish, Thomas Burke, was tracked half around the world to Capetown, South Africa, and shot down on her decks by avengers.

For a time the Rosecrans did duty as an American army transport but the government was dissatisfied and sold her. Scooped out and converted into a tanker, she became more actively unfortunate. On March 12, 1912, after fighting a terrific gale all night she grew unmanageable and was tossed broadside on the rocks at Alcatraz, twenty miles north of Santa Barbara, at 4 o'clock in the morning. The ship's carpenter and the quartermaster were washed overboard and drowned.

With a hole twenty-five feet wide in her plates and spiked firmly on the rocks, the Rosecrans was given up for lost, but the weather moderated and it was seen she could be saved. Patched up at a cost of thousands and put to work again, the obstinate old trouble hunter caught fire five months later while taking on oil at Gaviota and burned to the waters edge.

The owners put another handful of thousands into her in repairs and sent her to sea again a few months ago. This time she made a complete job of it, carrying her stout-hearted skipper and more than thirty men to death with her on Peacock Spit.

RESCUERS CUT OFF.

Life-saving Crew Unable to Get Back to Shore Because of Disabled Boats.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ASTORIA (Or.) Jan. 7.—The wireless station here has received a message to the effect that the Point Adams life-saving crew, which rescued the men clinging to the rigging of the wrecked steamer Rosecrans, is unable to get back to shore, owing to disabled boats. The tug Oneonta has gone to their assistance.

HEARS LAST CALL FROM ROSECRANS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7.—The wireless operator aboard the steamer Wilhelmina, which arrived here today from Honolulu, believes he received the last wireless message from the wrecked Rosecrans.

A short distance out from the San Francisco lightship he caught the ominous "S.O.S." distress signal and asked what was the difficulty. The reply came back:

"We have gone ashore at the mouth of the Columbia. I guess it is all off. The ship's back is broken."

There was nothing more, although the operator on the Wilhelmina kept at his instrument until the vessel had passed into the harbor.

Lucien F. Johnson, the master of the Rosecrans, was only 29 years old and lived with his widowed mother in San Francisco. He was born and reared on the water front here and went to sea as a youth. He had been employed by the Associated Oil Company for seven and one-half years.

Richard Grundell, the chief engineer, also lived here. He leaves a wife and three children.

A telephone message received from Ft. Canby at 9:30 o'clock tonight said that the lifeboats were still burning a red flare. This was taken to mean that the Oneonta had not reached the disabled lifeboats at that hour. The report also said that the bar was still very rough and that a high wind prevailed although its velocity was less than earlier in the day.

FOUR ARE DROWNED WHEN BOAT CAPSIZES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Jan. 7.—Word of the loss of the little steamer Cheslakee was received here by wireless at the Union Steamship Company's office from the Camosun, another of the company's steamships plying between Vancouver and Texeda Island, seventy-five miles to the north. The report received by wireless says three passengers and one member of the crew were lost as the result of the steamer capsizing.

The other passengers were rescued by the Camosun.

The Cheslakee left here last night on her way north at 10 o'clock, and Van Anda was her first port of call. The Camosun is standing by, and a report from the captain says that the hull of the Cheslakee appears to be sound.

The Cheslakee was built at the Dublin dock yard and sailed from that port on July 25, 1910, and arrived in Vancouver on September 24, 1910. She was the smallest of the Union company's latest vessels and was employed on the logging camp run.

News of the accident came to Manager E. H. Beasley of the Union company in the following telegram from Capt. Cocle:

"Cheslakee sank Van Anda alongside wharf. Three passengers and second cook drowned. All others saved. Camosun standing by."

The Camosun with the Cheslakee survivors is expected to arrive here later tonight.

Political.

WILSON EXPERT AS WIRE-PULLER.

Makes Personal Canvass for State Treasurer.

Exemplifies His System of Political Policy.

Devotes Day to Business of New Jersey.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TRENTON (N. J.) Jan. 7.—Gov. Wilson gave today an example of his system of political policy when he saw individually nearly all of the Democratic members of the State Legislature and earnestly urged them to vote for Edward E. Grosscup, Democratic State chairman, for State Treasurer as against Edward I. Edwards, also a Democrat, and at present Comptroller of the State.

The Governor argued with the legislators that, while he was a warm personal friend of Mr. Edwards, he believed the latter's banking connections made it inadvisable to elect him State Treasurer, a position which controls the deposits of public funds.

GOVERNOR IS CONFIDENT.

"I feel perfectly sure of the result and confident that there will be a large vote for Mr. Grosscup," was the Governor's comment tonight. Friends of Mr. Edwards, however, disputed the claim, declaring the fight was not over.

The Legislature will meet a week from today. The Governor had only one other kind of business before him. Delegations of men and women representing labor organizations made a formal appeal for the reappointment of Lewis T. Bryant, a Republican, as Commissioner of Labor in this State. One of the spokesmen remarked that "both sides," meaning Democrats and Republicans, favored Mr. Bryant's reappointment.

TRIBUTE TO BRYANT.

"I am sorry that there should be any sides in a matter of this kind," said the Governor, with a smile, when he replied to the delegation, "and, though I do not usually say in advance what I am going to do in appointments, I want to take this opportunity of adding my testimonial to Mr. Bryant's excellent service."

THE COATESVILLE LYNCHING.

TOWN MAY LOSE CHARTER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HARRISBURG (Pa.) Jan. 7.—Gov. Tener, in his message to the Pennsylvania Legislature, which began its biennial session today, urged the revocation of the charter of the borough of Coatesville for its failure to punish any of the persons implicated in the death of Zach Walker, who was burned by a mob in August, 1911. The Governor also recommended that the question of woman suffrage be submitted to the people.

CHECK ON SUFFRAGE.

WOMEN MUST BE NATURALIZED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ALBANY (N. Y.) Jan. 7.—Obedient to the platform pledge of the Republican party, Minority Leader Hinman of the Assembly introduced a woman suffrage amendment to the constitution last night. The resolution provides that foreign-born women who become citizens merely by marriage must be naturalized in the same way as men before being permitted to enjoy the suffrage.

MONTANA FOR NORRIS.

INDORSE HIM FOR PORTFOLIO.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HELENA (Mont.) Jan. 7.—The first message of Gov. Samuel V. Stewart to the Legislature was read today. It was confined to a recitation of the platform pledges of the Democratic majority and a plea for their enactment into laws. An appropriation for Montana's participation at the Panama-Pacific Exposition was urged. The Legislature, in joint session, unanimously adopted a resolution introduced by Senator Whiteside indorsing former Gov. Edwin L. Norris as Secretary of the Interior in the Cabinet of President-elect Wilson.

FAVORS DIRECT ELECTIONS.

IDAHO GOVERNOR ADVANCED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOISE (Idaho) Jan. 7.—Gov. John M. Haines, in his first message to the Legislature today, asked that body to give its approval to the amendment to the Federal Constitution providing for the direct election of United States Senators. He also urged the Legislature to enact laws requiring a physician's examination before the issuance of marriage certificates and the sterilization of degenerates.

CHICAGO HOST TO WILSON.

WILL BE GUEST AT BANQUET.

[BY WIRELESS LINE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Jan. 7.—[Special Dispatch.] President-elect Wilson will be the guest and principal speaker at the Commercial Club dinner to be given at the Blackstone Hotel Saturday night. He probably will reach Chicago Friday. Reservations have been made for him at the Blackstone. It was reported he might reach here Friday afternoon and attend the Arabian Nights ball and entertainment to be given in the First Regiment Armory.

SPECIAL MESSAGES FROM FOSS.

FAVORS PERSONAL TAX LAW.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—Gov. Foss sent special messages to the Legislature today urging the early ratification of the Federal income tax amendment and a new personal tax law.

Hair Health

If You Have Scalp or Hair Trouble, Take Advantage of This Offer.

We could not afford to so strongly indorse Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and continue to sell it as we do, if we were not certain that it would do all we claim it will. Should our enthusiasm carry us away, and Rexall "93" Hair Tonic not give entire satisfaction to the users, they would lose faith in us and our statements, and in consequence our business prestige would suffer.

Therefore, when we assure you that if your hair is beginning to unnaturally fall out or if you have any scalp trouble, Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will promptly eradicate dandruff, stimulate hair growth and prevent premature baldness, you may rest assured that we know what we are talking about.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is vastly different from other similar preparations. We believe that it will do more than any other human agency toward restoring hair growth and hair health. It is not greasy and will not gum the scalp or hair or cause permanent stain. It is as pleasant to use as pure cold water.

Our faith in Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is so strong that we ask you to try it on our positive guarantee that your money will be cheerfully refunded without question or quibble if it does not do as we claim. Certainly we can offer no stronger argument. It comes in two sizes, prices 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain it only at our stores—The Owl Drug Co., Inc., Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland, Sacramento, Portland, Seattle and Spokane.—[Advertisement.]

BLOW TO STATE RAILROAD LAWS.

Supreme Court Ends Power to Limit Liability.

Reciprocal Demurrage Held Unconstitutional.

Cannot Penalize Roads for Scarcity of Cars.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The power of the States over railroads and express companies suffered a hard blow yesterday when the Supreme Court held that since the passage of the Carmack amendment to the Interstate commerce law in 1906 the States had ceased to have the right to annul contracts between railroads and shippers limiting the liability for the loss of interstate shipments.

Another serious blow was delivered when the court held that the States since the passage of the interstate commerce acts and particularly the Hepburn law in 1906 had no power to penalize railroads for failure to furnish cars for interstate shipments. In this connection the court declared unconstitutional the Minnesota reciprocal demurrage law, authorizing the recovery by shippers of a dollar a day for every day on which the railroad failed to furnish a car for the removal of freight.

UPHELD IOWA STATUTE.

The court pointed out today that previous to the passage of the Carmack amendment the court had upheld an Iowa statute, under which a contract limiting the damages in case of loss had been annulled and also had approved a Pennsylvania law in which it was held that the public policy of the State was opposed to such contracts. As a result of the passage of the Carmack amendment, however, the court, speaking through Justice Lurton, held that Congress had manifested its intention to deal with the subject of carrier liability for interstate shipments, and that being the case, the State laws must give way. Consequently its decision at once annulled the Kentucky and Nebraska laws holding such contracts void. The court not only annulled State laws which seek to regulate the liability, but it held that the Federal law, as expressed in the Carmack amendment, dealt with the damage of railroad shipments, and that it did not prohibit contracts limiting liability in return on a low rate.

JUSTICE LURTON'S VIEW.

Justice Lurton said it was just as reasonable to base rates on value as on the character of shipments. Furthermore, he added, it was not unreasonable to plain principles of justice that a shipper might understate the value of his property for the purpose of reducing the rate and then recover a large value in case of loss.

As to the reciprocal demurrage law and interstate commerce, the court said that the Hepburn rate law expressly fixed the duty of carriers to furnish cars and that precluded the States from acting further on that subject.

Illinois Names Commission to Act in Conjunction With Other Commonwealths to Unify Laws for Marriages as Well as Separations.

[BY WIRELESS LINE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Jan. 7.—[Special Dispatch.] Formation of the Illinois State Commission on Uniform Marriage and Divorce will be perfected tomorrow. The commission, which is modeled after a similar organization in California, will join in the country-wide movement for uniform legislation governing marriage and divorce.

The body will consist of twenty-one members, to be named at a meeting of the executive committee in Judge Kavanagh's chambers in the county building at 2:30 o'clock. This executive committee consists of Judge Kavanagh (chairman,) the Rev. W. G. Waters, the Rev. W. C. Convert, Judge Hugo Pam, Clifford W. Barnes and Oliver R. Williamson.

GENERAL CONFERENCE.

Within the next month the commission will call a general conference of persons interested in the stricter regulation of marriage and the improvement of the laws governing divorce. At the conference existing conditions will be discussed and legislation designed to improve them will be framed.

Leaders in the movement in this State have not formulated any plans as yet for new legislation on the marriage and divorce question. It is the hope of the commission to work for uniform laws in all States. In Illinois, for instance, marriage within a year after divorce is prohibited. It is true, however, for divorced persons to go to a near-by State and be married. It is such conditions as this that the commission will try to remedy.

WHERE MOVEMENT STARTED.

The movement started in California, where a commission is doing active work. Organization of commissions in New York is now under way. Ultimately hope to bring about Federal legislation governing marriage and divorce. Such a plan first, however, to get uniform State laws as far as possible. A State-wide organization is provided for in Illinois. A national commission may also be organized later with headquarters here.

NEW DIVORCE RULING.

SUPREME COURT DECISION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Notice by publication, to a person absent from the State, of a divorce suit against him is sufficient to give to the State jurisdiction over the marriage relation, so that the State be the matrimonial domicile of the man and wife, is the decision of the Supreme Court. The conclusion was reached in upholding the divorce laws of Virginia courts to Charles Thompson, a public school teacher of Norfolk city, who defeated a suit brought by the District of Columbia to annul his wife, by pleading that he had secured a divorce from her in Virginia on their matrimonial domicile. Notice of the suit by publication was given.

Mail Order Dealer Charges in Government Case That His House Was Persecuted Seven Years.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—Persecution on the part of the Retail Lumber Dealers' Association was alleged today by Henry W. Scott, owner of several mail order houses in Davenport, Iowa, when he testified in the government anti-trust case against the retail lumber dealers.

The government contends that retail lumber dealers of the Middle West have combined to oppose the competition of the mail order houses.

Mr. Scott was the first witness called by the government in the hearing here.

"They had detectives in our plant," he said, "bribed our employees and traced all of our shipments, and then warned dealers in the towns to which we shipped.

"It was a vicious and well-organized persecution covering a term of seven years."

Canadian Police Arrest Three Believed to Have Been Implicated in Nitroglycerine Outrages.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CALGARY (Alberta) Jan. 7.—A criminal organization to which many nitroglycerine outrages in this vicinity within the last eight months have been attributed, is believed to have been broken up yesterday with the arrest of James W. Sullivan, Leslie Ayres and Edwin Murphy. The three are awaiting trial charged with transporting explosives and the police say the other members of the gang have fled.

The police say that William Hallis, one of those who escaped, was head of the gang which blew up the office of the Canadian Railway Express Company at Edmonton recently and that the gang has committed many similar crimes in Western Canada.

They were gathered here, it is stated, all being employed as overhead wiremen of the local street railway company. Detectives traced them to this place and arrested the trio named; but the others, nine or more in number, were warned in time to escape.

Patronage Deemed of More Importance Than Great Issues—First Clash of Session Comes in Senate Over Distribution of Jobs—Women on Deck Early With Welfare Measures.

BY LOU GUERNSEY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The first clash on the floor of either House of the 1913 Legislature occurred today when the Progressive and Democratic armies in the Senate went to the mat on the patronage issue. The encounter fairly shook the Senate chambers with verbal volleys and caused the first healthy excitement since the advent of the bifurcated session.

The Democrats were routed, but it required the personally-conducted attention of the Johnson-Lissner-Finn "steam roller" to quell the Bourbon attack. The Democrats fought with white-hope courage and held their own until the arrival of the roller. The question of patronage overshadows the important problems which the lawmakers here are called upon to deal with.

PROGRESSIVE "GENEROSITY."

The Progressive Senators held a caucus this morning before the Senate convened and generously agreed to give the ten Democratic Senators $10 a day patronage, or two iron "dobeys" apiece, while they nonpartisanly apportioned $10 a day to each of the thirty "Progressive" Senators.

The war clouds appeared when Senator J. B. Curtin of Sonora, Tuolumne count, introduced a resolution that five young women be appointed Senate stenographers at $6 per diem each.

Senator Boynton, Progressive floor leader, vigorously opposed. Boynton told the Democrats that $20 a day patronage was all they could expect and all they would get from the Senate.

"It's a damnable outrage," yelled Curtin as he glared at the majority helmsman two seats removed. "You battlers for the Lord talk about giving us a fair deal; why, you know you don't intend to. If the patronage of the Senate was distributed fairly the ten Democrats comprising one-fourth of this body would be allotted $125 a day instead of a paltry $20. You were sent here to make laws for all the people of this great State and not to play low politics."

Senator Shanahan, a Bourbon leader, aired his wrath in a fiery speech. Senator Caminetti of Amador, Democratic leader in the Senate, also poured the hot shot into the enemy.

Boynton then moved that the Curtin resolution be referred to the Committee on Contingent Expenses to be chloroformed and the motion prevailed by a vote of 29 to 8.

The Democrats contend that the $400 a day allowed for attaches is the public's money, and as they represent the public they are entitled to a better break.

The Democrats are in a fighting mood tonight. The Bourbon strategists in both Houses have aligned their forces for a long fight. Not in a long while have the unterrified exercised an organization influence so potent.

BIG BILLS AND BIG ISSUES.

Big bills and big issues are slow in coming to the front. It will take at least two more days to organize both Houses and find jobs for the several hundred job hunters brought here by newly-elected members who had visions of unearthing snug State berths for all of their friends.

SUFFRAGETTES ACTIVE.

A distinguishing feature of the session is the activity of the women. The suffragists have established headquarters at a leading hotel. They will demand a bill to make it compulsory for each party to a marriage license to show a health certificate.

The women are also fighting for a mothers' pension law, a broadening of the eight-hour law for women to include part or all the work done in canneries, and bills against vice.

MUST HAVE MORE REVENUE.

A substantial increase in the gross earnings from tax rates of the utilities corporations, in the segregated class is accepted as the probable solution of the revenue problem confronting the Legislature. Progressive leaders stoutly deny there is a programme. They express the belief that the State's deficit will be wiped out and the rapidly-growing expenses under the Johnson regime provided for by increasing the corporation tax rates.

The most conservative estimates indicate that the revenues produced by the segregated gross earnings taxes will be fully $800,000 short of the amount necessary for the normal increases in governmental expenses for the ensuing year.

An increase of 25 per cent. in the gross earnings tax total will add, approximately, $2,000,000 to the State's revenues, wipe out the deficits and provide for necessary building extensions. Senator N. W. Thompson of Alhambra, the tax expert of the Progressive side in the Senate, will probably be chairman of the Senate Committee on Taxation and Tax Legislation.

"I believe that the corporation rates will be increased," said Senator Thompson tonight. "There is no probability of making the rates effective before March and therefore the revenue cannot be available for a year and a half."

INCOME TAX.

Senator Shanahan, author of the free text-book amendment which carried at the November election, said tonight that he would probably introduce a bill for an income tax, which he declares to be constitutional.

PUBLIC LOANS TO FARMERS.

Senator Larkins of Visalia will introduce a measure within the next few days to provide for public loans to farmers. The bill provides that on petition of 100 land owners of a given district the question may be submitted to them at any general election of forming a "loan district." In that event of their voting so to do, a tax for that purpose is to be levied upon their property and collected as other county taxes. The money is to be set aside by the County Treasurer in a special loan fund. Any land owner of the district may borrow of this fund up to within 50 per cent. of the assessed valuation of his land, the money to be loaned to him as if from a bank and is to be secured by mortgage upon his land. The interest to be allowed is 4 per cent. Interest collected in this way under the terms of the bill is to decrease the taxes ofthe district.

CHAIRMANSHIP FOR BENEDICT.

Assemblman Benedict of Los Angeles is slated for the chairmanship of the Judiciary Committee in the Lower House, and Senator Gates in the Senate. Senator Hewitt will probably remain at the head of the Committee on Municipal Corporations. Sutherland, who hooked with Benedict in the speakership fight, is booked for a big committee plum, probably Revenue and Taxation, or Committee on Corporations. Assemblyman Chandler of Fresno, is sure of the chairmanship of the Ways and Means Committee. The Benedict and Sutherland prize packages are in the nature of "rewards" because of the services rendered by each in withdrawing from the speakership contest.

Assemblyman W. A. Roberts, from the Sixty-first District, Los Angeles, will be obliged to fight to retain his seat. Roberts has been made defendant in an action brought by J. M. Lampert of Los Angeles, foster-father of the Alexander recall frizzle, and the hearing has been set for January 15. Lampert charges in his complaint that Roberts, while a candidate for office, called into his office constables and other township officers and promised in return for their support that he would introduce a bill in the Assembly raising the salaries of the officers. The offense is a felony. Incidental to this report, Charles H. Randall, a Highland Park newspaper man, who was defeated by Roberts, is here and declared tonight that if the charge against Roberts is proven and his seat is declared vacant, he will get into the fight for the place. "It's all bosh," said Roberts tonight. "I never promised to introduce a bill for anyone. It's just dirty politics, that's all. They haven't a chance to unseat me for I will prove the absurdity of the charges at the hearing."

SENATE SESSION.

SQUABBLE OVER PATRONAGE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 7.—Democrats, disagreeing on patronage, took their troubles to the floor of the Senate today, and had the matter taken out of their hands by the Republicans, who referred it to a committee.

Senator Edwin E. Grant, of San Francisco, appeared to be the chief opponent to the patronage slate, as it was arranged in conference, and he admits with not being pleased with it.

"It probably will be adjusted," he predicted, but was reluctant to say more.

The Republican patronage list, as thus far prepared, had been disposed of comfortably, when Senator J. B. Curtin of Sonora, Democratic floor leader, offered a resolution with the namesof four stenographers as Democratic appointments. One had been selected by Curtin, and the other three were the nominees of Senators Caminetti, Campbell and Juilliard.

Immediately President pro tem A. E. Boynton of Oroville, Senate Floor Leader, opposed the passage of the resolution, declaring that the Democrats themselves were not in harmony on it. Curtin, without denying this, said flatly it was no concern of the Republicans, but Boynton's motion to refer the matter to the Committee on Contingent Expenses was adopted.

"It will come out as soon as the Democrats agree among themselves," he promised.

"I don't care whether you ever report," said Senator A. Caminetti.

NOT ENOUGH TO GO AROUND.

One report was that Grant, a progressive Democrat, was not hailed with enthusiasm by some of his fellows because he defeated Edward I. Wolfe, an old-line Republican, who fought steadily against the administration politics at the last session and so was to be slighted in the matter of patronage. Senator Curtin said there was nothing whatever, to this.

"Grant is a new member; there is not enough patronage to go around, and the older men get their's first. I had no patronage the first three sessions I served," he said. "Later on, we'll put in a resolution for more."

The Senator announced that he would offer a resolution tomorrow bringing the patronage resolution out of committee.

"It is beneath the dignity of this body to squabble over this affair as we do," said Senator Shanahan of Redding, who added that he hired his own stenographer at the last session, rather than bother with it.

"You either do this, or resort to a lead pencil and yellow pad," he said. "We've got one-fourth of the members," declared Senator Curtin. "One-fourth of $500 per day is $125. Senator Boynton says $20 is a fair division for the minority. I don't know where he gets his arithmetic."

"If you don't like this resolution don't vote for it," said Curtn to the majority members. "If the Democrats won't vote for this it's our affair. I don't want to start a fight now that will last all through the session and will ask Senator Boynton to withdraw his motion.

HAD NO INVITATION.

"We sought harmony," declared Senator E. O. Larkins of Visalia. "We tried to have a non-partisan caucus."

"Who asked any Democrats into that caucus?" asked Curtin.

"I didn't get any invitation. It's the first I've heard of it.

"No body asked me either," said Larkins, "but it was common knowledge. But I'm told the Democrats were invited and declined."

He added that the responsibility upon the majority necessitated the control of committees and hence the majority needed the greater amount of patronage.

EXECUTIVE APPOINTMENTS.

A message from the Governor was then taken up covering a list of appointments in which concurrence was asked.

They are as follows:

John S. Chambers, Sacramento, member board of managers, Napa State Hospital.

Charles L. Neumiller, Stockton, member State Board Prison Directors.

J. W. Clark, Santa Rosa, member board of managers, Napa State Hospital.

Horace Wilson, San Francisco, member board of managers, Napa State Hospital.

Don C. Fugit, Los Angeles, Port Warden, San Pedro.

Charles A. Ramm and Charles S. Wheeler, both of San Francisco, members board of regents, State University.

John F. Ellison, Red Bluff, member board trustees, State Normal School, Chico.

Jessica B. Piexotto, Berkeley, member State Board Charities and Corrections.

E. M. Norton, Healdsburg, and Robert A. Poppe, Sonoma, members board managers, Sonoma State Home.

Prescott F. Cogswell, El Monte, member board trustees Whittier State School.

Dr. Ellis Harber, Stockton, member board managers, Stockton State Hospital.

John H. McCallum, San Francisco, member board State harbor commissioners.

George P. Morse, Oroville, member board of trustees State Normal School at Chico.

George E. Grothers, member board trustees, State Normal School, San Francisco.

C. J. Corcoran, San Francisco, member board managers Napa State Hospital.

The nominations were referred to the committee on executive communications to be appointed.

BACK SEAT FOR SENATORS.

"The people of the State of California" are doing the legislating at the present session according to the form now to be used in the introduction of bills. Senators who unpacked their grips today began scratching out the phrase "in Senate and Assembly represented" on advice of legal experts. It is argued that, under the initiative and referendum clauses of the Constitution, the people really are doing their own legislating, although some Senators had difficulty seeing just what difference this makes.

ASSEMBLY SESSION.

CAUCUS ATTEMPT FAILS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 7.—The Assembly came to order at 11:04 a.m. today for a fifteen-minute session, at which no business save the receipt of a number of petitions was transacted.

Assemblyman John H. Strine of Los Angeles was excused until Monday noon upon his plea that urgent business in Los Angeles required his presence.

Speaker Young announced that he would endeavor to select the Committee on Assembly attaches before Thursday. After a motion to adjourn until 10 o'clock tomorrow had been put, Assemblyman W. F. Chandler of Fresno called a non-partisan caucus in the Assembly chamber immediately after adjournment.

"May I ask who the nbn-partisans of the Assembly are?" inquired Assemblyman William B. Shearer, Democrat, of Siskiyou.

"Inasmuch as the announcement comes from Mr. Chandler," said Speaker Young, "I presume that the call applies to those who participated in yesterday's non-partisan caucus."

Shearer subsided amid laughter, and the session adjourned.

Mr. Chandler announced after adjournment that his call was for a general conference of the members of the Assembly for the purpose of appointing a committee to confer with a Senate committee relative to agreeing to a time of adjournment for the first session and convening of the second.

"Most of the vicious legislation enacted in any session is passed during the jam in the few hours preceding adjournment," said Mr. Chandler. "With the time of adjournment clearly understood throughout the session there can be no excuse for any eleventh-hour rush."

While sentiment in the Senate is understood to be for a twenty-five-day session, it seems probable that the Assembly will insist upon remaining the full thirty days.

The attempt to caucus was fruitless. Points of order that the caucus call contemplated only organization were sustained, and the caucus was adjourned sine die.

WOULD SCOTCH MONEY TRUST.

SENATOR HEWITT AT WORK ON BOND AMENDMENT.

Legislation to Be Offered to Empower Los Angeles to Pay in Long-term Securities for Razing Temple-street Hill—Administration Will Rush Corporation Tax Bill.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 7.—An echo of the Congressional investigation of the alleged money trust found its way into the California Legislature today.

Working on the theory that such a trust actually exists, and is in a position to squeeze States and municipalities, Senator Leslie R. Hewitt of Los Angeles has prepared and will offer a constitutional amendment providing that either the State or any city in it may go abroad to market its bonds.

This cannot now be done in California, and it was pointed out today, not only are the State highway bonds below par, but municipalities, in marketing their bonds, are liable to be at the mercy of groups of financiers who, in some instances, can dictate the rate of interest and the price paid for the securities.

"I have no doubt that a money trust exists," said Senator Hewitt tonight. "By going abroad we open up a market where there is likely to be plenty of money at moderate rates. It is only necessary to provide that bonds may be paid in foreign money or marketed abroad."

THE TEMPLE-STREET HILL.

Senator Hewitt also will offer legislation providing for long-term municipal bonds, in order that Los Angeles may chop through the big hill running south from Temple street. Under the present law municipal bonds run but ten years and hence draw

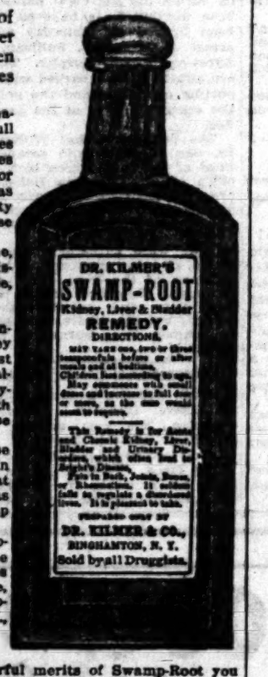
ARE YOUR KIDNEYS WEAK?

Thousands of Men and Women Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.



Nature warns you when the track of health is not clear. Kidney and bladder troubles compel you to pass water often during the day and get up many times during the night.

Unhealthy kidneys cause lumbago, rheumatism, catarrh of the bladder, pain or dull ache in the back, joints or muscles, at times have headache or indigestion, as time passes you may have a sallow complexion, puffy or dark circles under the eyes, sometimes feel as though you had heart trouble, may have plenty of ambition but no strength, get weak and lose flesh.

If such conditions are permitted to continue, serious results are sure to follow; Bright's disease, the very worst form of kidney trouble, may steal upon you.

Prevalency of Kidney Disease.

Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalency of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who usually content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease constantly undermines the system.

If you feel that your kidneys are the cause of your sickness or run-down condition, begin taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, because as soon as your kidneys improve, they will help the other organs to health.

If you are already convinced that Swamp-Root is what you need, you can purchase the regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles at all drug stores. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., which you will find on every bottle.

Sample Bottle Sent Free.

SPECIAL NOTICE—To prove the wonderful merits of Swamp-Root you may have a sample bottle and a book of valuable information, both sent absolutely free by mail. The book contains many of the thousands of letters received from men and women who found Swamp-Root to be just the remedy they needed. The value and success of Swamp-Root is so well known that all readers are advised to send for a sample bottle. The genuineness of this offer is guaranteed. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure to say you read this generous offer in the Los Angeles Daily Times.—[Advertisement.

Los Angeles Will Capture the Bulk of the Live Stock Business of the Country

THE trend of the live stock market this way is inevitable. It has gone to Chicago, Kansas City, Omaha and other eastern cities simply because Los Angeles has overlooked its obvious opportunity and has not provided means for handling the traffic. But every natural advantage—every inducement to stockmen—is pulling the business here. The location of Los Angeles on the very edge of the great western grazing grounds—the shorter haul to market—the saving in transportation—the easier trip for the stock—the facilities for shipping by sea and Panama Canal to all parts of the world—the enormous demand for meat in the western empire—all of these big factors combine to make

This City the Logical National Distributing Point for Live Stock

Los Angeles can draw upon many thousand square miles of range country—and from over five and one-half million head of stock—to support its mammoth yards; it can ship east, and to Europe by Panama Canal, and to Mexico, South America and the Orient by Pacific freighters, at half the price it would cost to ship from middle west yards by rail. Live stockmen of all parts of the country are unanimous in admitting that this is to be the greatest stock market in the entire country.

Los Angeles' Opportunity Is Yours

In helping to build up an industry here that will place Los Angeles in the front rank of industrial cities—you can make an investment that gives every promise of yielding rich returns—an investment absolutely safe and secured by Los Angeles realty. But it demands QUICK ACTION. Shares are going fast at $1.00 par, the price has already gone up and is due for another rise. Come to our office—meet the officers of the company—learn every fact. POLICE-COURT JURIES.

Another measure will provide for trial-term juries in police courts, and pay for the juprors at the rate of $2 per day.

Most of the legislation introduced before the end of January, it was learned today, will have to go over until after the recess. The next four weeks will be used to crowd through measures to which there is no opposition, or, as was said today by a leader, "which must be passed."

RUSH REVENUE MEASURE.

The one measure which, it is felt in administration circles, "must be passed," is that providing for readjustment of the corporation tax rate to secure new revenue by the State. Senator Newton W. Thompson of Alhambra is working on this now. The reason given for prompt action is that, unless it passes both houses before recess at the end of the month, it will not have time to become a law before the first Monday in March, the date of the new tax levy.

Of measures which will be denominated "administration measures" there will be but few, if any. Gov. Johnson feels that bills like the mothers' pension bill and one for a minimum wage for women are supported generally rather than by any one party, and no one party should claim credit for them.

SCHEME TO CUT LIVING COST.

STATE TO GO INTO COMMISSION BUSINESS.

Assemblyman Tulloch Has Bill Up His Sleeve for Creation of a Produce Exchange That Would Buy from Farmers and Sell to Consumers Within California.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 7.—Reduction of the high cost of living by bringing the farmer and consumer closer together is the aim of a bill to be introduced by Assemblyman D. W. Tulloch of Oakdale, Stanislaus county, for the creation of a State produce exchange.

The bill proposes the creation of a commission of five members who shall maintain at least two offices, one in San Francisco and another in Los Angeles, and shall have power "to organize, manager, control and carry on the business of receiving on consignment, selling and shipping to dealers and consumers within or without the State of California, all agricultural, horticultural, dairy and farm products manufactured or processed therefrom, which shall be grown, produced or manufactured within the State of California."

All producers within the State of any of the above items will have the right to consign their products to the commission for disposal. The commission's duty is to receive, care for, and as far as practicable preserve, and dispose of and distribute all products of every nature consigned to it to the best possible advantage."

The commission is empowered to rent or acquire receiving stations, warehouses, machinery, horses and wagons and other necessary supplies. The bill also contemplates the establishment of a bulletin service similar to that maintained by the United States Department of the Interior, to advise farmers as to the condition crops, the acreage planted to different varieties of product, and price forecasts.

The commission is empowered to impose sufficient fees to make its work self supporting.

An appropriation of $200,000 is asked for the installation of the system. The salaries of the commissioners are fixed at $6000 each per year; an attorney at $4000, and a secretary at $3600 specified, and provision made for the appointment of all necessary clerks and inspectors.

The bill was originally prepared by A. B. Penfield, principal of the Turlock High School for submission to the electorate by initiative at the time of the last election.

Twenty thousand signatures to the petition placing the bill upon the ballot were obtained, but the time limit expired before the requisite number had been obtained.

PUBLIC COMFORT STATIONS.

Other bills in course of preparation include one by Fitzgerald of Oakland for the establishment of public comfort stations in all towns and cities of more than 1000 population, the State to bear one-third the expense. The bill carries an appropriation of $50,000.

DISTRICT FAIRS.

The rejuvenation of the old district fairs will be attempted by Wallace Stockton, in a bill providing for the supervision of a circuit of not more than ten exhibits to begin in the northern part of the State two weeks after the State fair and continue each. An appropriation of $5000 per fair per year will be asked.

The State who lose their votes by reason changes of residence are granted relief by Assemblyman Percy Peisley of Red Bluff, Tehama county, who will introduce a bill permitting railroad men, lumberjacks and others to vote with short residence qualifications.

GREEN BILLS MAKE TROUBLE.

President-elect Woodrow Wilson May Be Asked to Help Head Them Off at Sacramento.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 7.—Pressure to prevent introduction of any alien land bills or other unfavorable bills affecting aliens began to be felt by legislators here today. As it seemed to both Houses that this would be a good session to put in such bills, they have been prepared in various shapes and not all of the authors had been headed off as late today. There is the possibility that some of them may decline to be stopped and, in case they are Democrats, that an effort will be made to have President-elect Woodrow Wilson reach out from Washington to call them off.

A conference of Senate leaders was held in the office of Gov. Hiram W. Johnson today at which Charles C. Moore, president of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, presented his views as to the unpleasant situation which would have upon legislation, even if not enacted, would have upon the attitude toward the exposition Authors of such bills were asked not to put them in, and some of them have consented.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 7.—Custard pie cannot be baked in the ovens at the Whittier State School because the oven floors are so uneven the filling runs out. This and many other deficiencies brought Superintendent Fred C. Nelles to Sacramento today with a set of twelve appropriation bills aggregating $242,474. The laundry, Mr. Nelles said, is eighteen years old; the hospital is in a garret; the carpenter shop has no equipment of consequence, and all the 200 boys are housed in one building. Separate cottages are desired. The bills also will be introduced by Senator Prescott F. Coggswell of Los Angeles. Several other bills are in preparation providing for a separate school for the girls now at Whittier.

Two Los Angeles Rabbis Head List of Signers of a Protest Against Proposed Statute.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 7.—Opposition to the proposed "day of rest" legislation developed today with the filing of two memorials to the Legislature protesting on religious grounds.

Rabbis Shecht and Isidor Myers, heads of Jewish synagogues in Los Angeles, headed the list of signers of a lengthy protest which pointed out that any legislation providing for a day of rest each week for employees or tradesmen, if specifying the orthodox Sabbath, would work a hardship upon and violate the constitutional rights of many citizens outside the pale of the evangelical churches.

Other signers of the protest were Theophilus A. Gill of the Christian Sabbath-keepers' Union, Victor Harris, secretary of the Hebrew Benevolent Society of Los Angeles, and the Rev. Eli F. Loofboro of Riverside.

A similar memorial, prepared by the Northern California-Nevada conference of the Seventh Day Adventists last June, was also presented. Both were accepted by the Assembly without action.

HURL QUESTIONS AT ARCHBALD.

SENATORS DOUBT PROPRIETY OF HIS LETTERS.

Correspondence With Railroad Attorney as to Merits of Case Before Him Read in Impeachment Proceedings—Judge Says Answers Had No Effect on Decision.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The impropriety of a Federal judge writing to an attorney on one side of a case that had been argued before him for information or argument to clear up doubts became the point around which members of the Senate fired questions today at Judge Robert W. Archbald of the United States Commerce Court, now under trial by impeachment for alleged violation of his Federal oath.

Cross-examination of the accused jurist, begun by Representative Sterling, virtually was taken out of his hands when that charge was reached involving Judge Archbald's correspondence with attorney Helm Bruce of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad. Members of the Senate demanded of Judge Archbald time and again whether he did not think it improper and unfair to the other parties in a suit to request of one attorney an explanation or correction of evidence without giving like privileges to the other side. He insisted he thought there was nothing improper in his conduct.

VOTE TO BE TAKEN.

There remain now only the closing arguments and the vote of the Senate as to whether or not Judge Archbald is guilty. The Senate will give three days to the arguments, the time to be equally divided.

The Louisville and Nashville charge centered about Judge Archbald's request of Attorney Bruce for information as to a certain point in the so-called Montgomery rate cases, which had been argued before the Commerce Court. Judge Archbald said he had differed with the rest of the court, and in writing a dissenting opinion he asked Mr. Bruce to clear up a disputed question about whether or not certain rate changes violated the old "Cooley arbitration" agreement, that long had operated over the southwestern rates.

LETTERS NOT IMPORTANT.

He declared the correspondence became of no consequence because later the other members of the court except Judge Mack took a view similar to his own, and Presiding Judge Knapp finally wrote an opinion favorable to the railroad.

"Was it not due to the arguments you got by writing Mr. Bruce that the court reversed its earlier position?" asked Representative Sterling.

"Absolutely not," said Judge Archbald.

"Why did you not give the attorneys for the other side a chance to present their views?" asked Senator Reed.

"The point amounted to so little that it didn't affect the decision of the case," replied Judge Archbald.

"You set out, did you not, to write an opinion in favor of the railroad, and you wanted Mr. Bruce to fortify you in this?" asked Senator Nelson.

DISAGREES WITH NELSON.

"No, I don't think what I did could be characterized in that way," replied Judge Archbald.

"Why did you not give the Bruce letters to your associates on the bench?" asked Senator Culberson.

"Because they practically did not enter into the case at all," said Judge Archbald.

"Did yoh secure Mr. Bruce's assistance in preparing a dissenting opinion?" asked Senator Hoke Smith, "and then bring the other members of the court over to your view without disclosing the correspondence?"

"No, I reached my decision without Mr. Bruce's assistance and wanted his view on the one point," said Judge Archbald.

WIFE AWAY TRIES SUICIDE.

Chicago Switchman Cuts His Throat Because His Better Half Had Gone to California.

[BY WIRELESS LINE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Jan. 7.—[Special Dispatch.] Preferring death to life without the companionship of his wife, Patrick Hurley, a switchman employed by the Chicago Railways Company attempted to commit suicide today by cutting his throat with a razor in a hotel at No. 2158 North Clark street.

The wife, according to Hurley, refused to live away from her parents whose home is in California. In a note found in his room Hurley wrote: "My wife has left me and gone back to her parents in California. Without her I am too lonesome to live."

Hurley was removed to the Chicago Union Hospital where it was stated tonight he has slight chance of recovery. If the man's condition is such that he can be interviewed an effort will be made to learn the California address of his wife.

SHERMAN'S WEALTH.

Late Vice-President Left Three Hundred and Seventy Thousand Dollars, Minus a Few Debts.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

UTICA (N. Y.) Jan. 7.—The late Vice-President James S. Sherman left an estate valued at $370,750.75, practically all personal property, according to today's report of the transfer tax appraiser. The debts and expenses amount to $46,429.34 and the net balance goes to Mrs. Sherman.

RAISING BAIL FOR REDDIN.

MILWAUKEE (Wis.) Jan. 7.—Thirty-two thousand dollars bail has been raised by Milwaukee and Manitowoc men for the release of J. E. Reddin of Milwaukee, one of the men convicted in the "dynamite conspiracy" trial at Indianapolis.

What Is Drunkenness and Who Is the Drunkard?

Is a Question That Should Be Seriously Considered by All Drinking Men.

Drunkenness does not mean that a man drinks until he falls into the gutter, for that is only one stage of drunkenness, but it applies to every man who has drunk until the craving and necessity for just so many drinks each day are necessary to make him comfortable and enable him to transact business.

So-called moderate drinkers fool themselves every day with the belief that they can "drink or leave it alone," but they never "leave it alone," and are drunkards just as the man in the gutter is a drunkard. It is only a question of the stage of drunkenness, for both are drunkards. This is plain language, but it is the truth, and every drinking man knows it is the truth.

All men who drink should take the Neal Drink Habit Treatment, which is a harmless, vegetable remedy that never fails to remove all craving and necessity for drink in three days, without the use of painful, dangerous hypodermic injections.

Make up your mind you will stop drinking, call at the Los Angeles Neal Institute, 945 South Olive street, and investigate the Neal Treatment, or write or phone G. U. Neal, manager, for Dr. Neal's free book. Phones: Broadway 4602—A4072.

Torrance

The Modern Industrial City

Although Torrance will always be famous as "Southern California's Modern Industrial City"---it is also destined to achieve fame as an ideal residential place.

The founders and developers of Torrance have paid just as much attention to its residential side as to its industrial features.

Fine oil-macadam thoroughfares are being established throughout the residential district. Model homes of various types of architecture are being built---one hundred have already been completed.

Over 40,000 ornamental shade-trees have been planted.

An elaborate park system will be established.

The civic center will include handsome public buildings—including municipal headquarters, public library, high school, kindergarten, hospital, etc.

All public utilities, including electricity, gas, water and telephone conduits are being installed in alleys and back of curb lines.

The beauty of Torrance thoroughfares will never be marred by the "digging-up process."
As a living place, Torrance will compare favorably with any of Southern California's finest cities.

Torrance Has Secured---

One of the largest tool mfg. plants in the world.
A great steel fabricating plant and iron works.
A metal products factory.
Immense car-building shops (to be built by P. E. Ry. Co.)
A traction auto plow mfg. company.
A large brass foundry.
A modern shoe factory.
And several smaller factories to be established in the near future.

Torrance is already a "city of achievements"—with real industries and real improvements.

An investment at Torrance is backed by millions of dollars' worth of tangible assets and resources. This is not merely an "industrial city to be"—it is already an overwhelming success.

Get in touch with the unparalleled investment opportunities in business and residence property. Take Pacific Electric cars direct to Torrance from depot at Sixth and Main Sts.

PASADENA—THE CROWN CITY.

I have a delightful little bungalow, (6 rooms,) that I can sell you so cheap, and on such agreeable terms, that you can't afford to pay rent. Everything new, everything up-to-date, everything well built. Situated, and just as fine a view and as fine air as the millionaires over on Grand ave. go crazy about. Wouldn't you like to own your own home? Wouldn't you like to feel that pride of possession? Wouldn't you like to see the flowers and fruit growing more beautiful every day, and know that it is all your very own? Health, happiness and prosperity lie along this road. Let me point the way.

Telephone me and I will be glad to show you this exceptionally attractive home.

GOVERNMENT LAND—

THE BEST GOVERNMENT LAND

In Arizona is open for homesteaders. Fine soil in a developed country with plenty of water; best markets on earth; three railroads, three churches, a graded school and three miles from Salt River, within three miles. This is what I offer you as a homestead. I am the secretary of the Southern Arizona Development Association. The information I give you is absolutely reliable. If you really want a home this is your opportunity. A few choice locations still open within ten miles of Benson and two miles from a railroad station. Call early and investigate my reading matter and see samples of the crops we produce at Benson.

MURRAY J. MORLET, Hollenbeck Hotel a'l this week.

WHY NOT USE YOUR HOMESTEAD RIGHT

where you can grow wheat, corn, oats rye, alfalfa, potatoes, beans and fruits? Rainfall 14 to 16 inches, desirable and pumping water at shallow depth. A few claims left requiring NO RESIDENCE, also residence claims. Come and see list of our clients; 20,000 acres placed in last 18 months. Excursion every Saturday. NEECE-EVERETT CO., 214 Wright & Callender Bldg.

GOVERNMENT LAND—

FOR SALE—

GOVERNMENT LAND.

No Location Fee.

Investigate this where you can have a farm with growing crops started for less than $15 an acre, first payment, this includes the cost of filing on the land, first payment of perpetual water rights, cost of seed and we will prepare the land and sow the seed. The returns from your crop will pay for this, besides giving you a surplus. Future payments are much smaller, $2.50 a year for water rights.

Get your start now, irrigated lands will not last long at these prices, where conditions are favorable and within two miles of main line of railroad.

WHY YOU SHOULD LET ME HELP YOU USE YOUR RIGHT TO GOVERNMENT LAND.

1st—I want you for a neighbor.
2nd—I survey all land before I show it to you.
3rd—I have made a thorough study of all government land in Southern California, and have found my location, in which I have myself settled, to be the best and in close vicinity to railroads, schools, postoffices and churches, and only 70 miles from Los Angeles.
4th—A nominal fee for location.
5th—Water a sure thing.
6th—Go with our next automobile excursion (Jan. 11.)
7th—Free fare if not as represented.

IMPERIAL VALLEY—

FOR SALE—
IMPERIAL VALLEY.

10-ACRE LEMON GROVE.
$350 per Acre.

SOIL—Just the right combination of decomposed granite and reddish clay.

WATER—Already developed, with complete distributing system. One inch to 5 acres goes with the land.

FROST CONDITIONS—The warm foothill slopes give ideal frost protection. No smudge pots necessary in this district.

ADJOINING GROVES—Owned by some of the most experienced fruit men in the State. Stand as a concrete evidence as to perfect soil, water and frost conditions, and give assurance of ultimate success of this young grove.

PART OF PRIVATE ESTATE—Owned by Ennis Bros., who have developed it not for promotion purposes, but as their permanent investment and home place. THEY offer a limited portion to complete developments on balance.

SCIENTIFIC CARE—If you desire it, they will give the same careful and scientific treatment to your grove as they do their own, and they have your actual pro rata plus a small fee for management.

The Ennis Bros. also offer a few choice young orange groves under the same terms and conditions.

Inspection of this property will agreeably surprise you. Recommended by experienced fruit men as the safest, the most substantial and ultimately the most profitable citrus investment possible to be made today.

FOR SALE — ORANGE AND LEMON GROVES.

PIONEER GROWERS OF ORANGES
LOS ANGELES COUNTY, CAL.

Planted first trees at what is now Claremont, year 1875. Engaged in real estate business and orange and lemon growing at San Dimas, Cal., year 1886. Since which time maintained offices in Pomona for 12 years, Los Angeles City and Branch Office at Lordsburg for 13 years. Have from 1886 been continuously growing oranges and lemons in the districts of San Dimas and La Verne. Past 9 years have established our own brands, for our oranges and lemons, and looked after our own shipments. Have now a reputation for our oranges throughout the Eastern markets second to no other. Brands now established. We now solicit consignments from other growers, as well as buy outright for cash, pack and ship under our own private and independent brands. We now have some excellent buys in large income orange and lemon groves, located in the San Dimas, La Verne, Charter Oak and Claremont districts. Any grove we recommend will always prove profitable to the buyer. Don't call in our offices. Corner D and 2nd sts., Lordsburg, and talk real estate and orange growing with us. We pledge ourselves not to hurt you. MICHAIL & SON, Lordsburg, Cal. Phone, Office 212; Res. 303.

BUREAU OF INFORMATION.

Times Branch Office, No. 617 South Spring street.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Occidental College Opening.

The formal opening of the new year's work of Occidental College took place yesterday forenoon at 11 o'clock, when Dr. Burdette spoke before the assembled faculty and students, and a large audience of friends and patrons of the college.

Not by Proxy.

No voting by proxy will be allowed at the Chamber of Commerce election today. The polls will be open from 9 to 3 o'clock and the voting place is the board of directors' room. The directors will meet immediately following the close of the polls to canvass the vote.

The Dean's "Treat."

One of the annual U.S.C. Law School events, the dean's "treat," will be held next Saturday night in the Tajo building. There will be a vaudeville programme, but the real treat will be a supper. Committees are actively engaged in preparing for both features.

To Save the Palms.

The Los Angeles County Horticultural Association last night appointed John J. Jones, Ernest Braunton and Dr. A. D. Houghton a committee to work with the Native Sons and Pioneer Society in trying to prevent the park commissioners from removing any more palms from parks. The commissioners' attitude in this connection was deplored. Charles Winnel was elected president.

To Honolulu.

A special car will carry a party of twenty-eight persons out of here Sunday night on the Lark for San Francisco, where they sail Tuesday for Honolulu on the Ventura of the Oceanic Steamship Company Line. William Roseman, local manager of the Ferguson Steamship Agency, booked the party. Those who go are Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. S. Hall, Monrovia; Mr. and Mrs. John Levitt, Mrs. Lizzie Courtright, Miss Lena B. Courtright, Mr. and Mrs. Jonah Jones, Jonah Jones, Jr., Miss Neomi Jones, Mrs. Francis Murphy, Mrs. D. M. Eaton, Mrs. Mary Moore and Lloyd E. Wyatt, all of Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Myers, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. George H. Judd, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. McMicken, Mr. and Mrs. C. Ramsey and Mrs. J. V. Hanna, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. John H. Edwards, Denver, and W. C. Lukens of Beverly Hills.

EQUINE ELKS SIGNED.

Klamath Falls Sends Buckers South to Unseat a Few of the Best Fellows on Earth.

The only genuine equine members of the Elks in this country will "buck" for charity at the Stadium, February 16. These are Square Deal, White Pelican and Cheyenne, members of and owned by Klamath Falls (Or.) Lodge No. 1247, B.P.O.E. They have been loaned for the Associated Charities contests and will be able to respond to the salutations of Los Angeles Elks in due and proper from, and to entertain the crowd as become all good and charitable members of the horny tribe.

"We believe Square Deal will be a sensation in Los Angeles," says Exalted Ruler Hunter Savidge of the Klamath Falls Lodge, in his communication to Manager of Contests Raley. These horses have had nothing to do since the rodeo last June. We look to you to give them plenty of work."

From his camp in Cochise county, Arizona, "Lariat Bill" Jackson writes "with a cartridge" that he wants to be among the contestants at the Rodeo.

"I ain't got no pencil and so I am writin' with a catridge, so excuse this bum fist. I saw the Rodeo last year and am boosting for it this year. I'm going to bring two or three boys with me to make a showing for Cochise county."

Two carloads of Rodeo horses had to be unloaded at Ashland, Or., to give them exercise and rest.

"Coldest weather in forty years, so they say here," wired Col. Raley's man in charge of the horses, "so am stopping here for a day or two."

Owen Clickenger of Oxnard has entered himself and two other men from the beet country who are at present "working cattle" on one of the big ranches in that vicinity.

NINE VETERANS PASS AWAY.

Death Stalks at Soldiers' Home. Many Official Changes Were Made When New Year Began.

SOLDIERS' HOME, Jan. 7.—The body of Veteran Clarence West of this place, found dead in Boehme's lodging-house in Santa Monica at 7 a.m. today, was brought to the Home morgue this afternoon. West was an employee at the hospital and had been absent without leave for several days.

He served during the Civil War in Co. E, Third New York Infantry, was a native of New York, admitted from Globe, Ariz., in 1901, and aged 66.

OFFICIAL CHANGES.

Of a number of changes with the new year in prominent places, are the following: C. H. Nelson, former sergeant of Home, Co. H, promoted to commander of Co. K, vice Wilson, resigned. Richard Campbell, formerly of Co. I, First Michigan Sharpshooters, appointed sergeant of Co. H, vice Nelson, promoted. Charles G. Lovell, adjutant's clerk, promoted to hospital steward, vice Higby, resigned. W. A. Booth, formerly Co. B, Fiftieth Illinois Infantry, appointed adjutant's clerk, vice Lovell, promoted. Henry Harrison, formerly of Co. K, Tenth Illinois Cavalry, appointed fatigue sergeant, vice Bothwell, deceased. George M. Slyter of Co. C, Eighty-ninth New York Infantry, appointed sergeant-at-arms of Home Co. G, vice Fowler, resigned. John C. Wakefield appointed hospital clerk, vice Stebbins, resigned.

RECENT DEATHS.

Lawrence Webb, formerly of Co. I, First Iowa Infantry, a native of Indiana, admitted from Sawtelle, Cal., in 1912, died January 3, aged 72.

John Whittier, formerly of Co. F, Twenty-sixth Maine Infantry, a native of Maine, admitted from Los Angeles in 1913, died January 2, aged 69.

Michael Lorscher, formerly of Co. M, Ninth Illinois Cavalry, a native of France, admitted from Eureka, Utah, in 1906, died January 4, aged 69.

Hiram B. Metcalf, formerly of Co. C, One Hundred and Forty-fifth Illinois Infantry, a native of Missouri, admitted from Seattle, Wash., in 1907, died January 4, aged 72.

James Kivlen, formerly of Co. F, Forty-sixth Pennsylvania Infantry, a native of Pennsylvania, admitted from Glendale, Cal., in 1912, died January 4, aged 69. Body sent to Glendale for burial.

Frank J. Blair, formerly of Co. K, Third Ohio Cavalry (Spanish-American War,) a native of Virginia, admitted from San Diego, Cal., in 1903, died January 5, aged 69.

Judson Bunn, formerly of Co. K, Third Ohio Cavalry, a native of New Jersey, admitted from Santa Fe, N. M., in 1910, died January 5, aged 89.

Charles J. Rand, formerly of Co. A, First New Hampshire Heavy Artillery, a native of New Hampshire, admitted from Light, Ariz., in 1912, died January 6, aged 71.

THOSE GIDDY BEACH ELKS!

Santa Monica Lodge Arranges for Three Days of Continuous Frivolity. Short News Stories.

VENICE, Jan. 7.—A three-day gambol is the latest jollification to be planned by Santa Monica Lodge, No. 906, B.P.O.E. February 18, 19 and 20, will be the nights given up to dancing, vaudeville and a general frolic. In the Venice dance pavilion booths will be erected where may be had anything from safety pins to automobiles. An Indian Village, displaying the mode of manufacturing Navajo rugs and bead work, will be a feature. Entertainers from the Al G. Barnes circus will join in the stunts and there will be music by the Chiaferelli band.

Invitations have been sent to all lodges in Southern California. Thornton Kinney, son of Abbot Kinney, himself an Elk, tendered the lodge the use of the big hall.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Believing that curiosity will bring larger attendance at the services of the union week of prayer being observed by beach churches, the names of speakers and programmes are being withheld from night to night. The result has been most satisfactory. Tonight worship will be held at the Christian and Baptist churches, tomorrow night at the Methodist, and Friday at the Presbyterian and Christian.

The Venice Trustees have for sale a franchise to construct and maintain for a period of forty years a system of pipe lines for the purpose of carrying refrigerating materials along certain public streets and alleys. A local refrigerating company has plans for such a system.

The Speedway is to be widened at one of the most dangerous curves of the "death trap." At the corner of Brooks avenue several feet will be cut off an adjoining lot to allow a wider curve.

Application has been made by William Caruthers for a restaurant liquor license at the Knickerbocker apartments, Paloma avenue and the Ocean Front.

Opinions vary as to the result of the election to be held tomorrow to vote on the question of whether or not Venice shall add to her bonded indebtedness $100,000 for extension of salt water mains for fire protection.

TO HANDLE BLACK'S AFFAIRS.

Creditors of the Former State Senator Name a Man to Look Out for Their Interests.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN JOSE, Jan. 7.—William A. Slade of Palo Alto was chosen by creditors today to handle the affairs of the Marshall Black Investment Company as trustee. The selection was approved by Maj. W. A. Coulter, referee in bankruptcy, and Slade qualified with a $10,000 bond. The schedule of liabilities and assets shows secured claims amounting to $83,936.43; unsecured debts, $3678.20. These are offset by assets, chiefly real estate, valued at $75,892.45. Many actions are now pending in the Superior Court of this county to foreclose mortgages on property listed in the schedule.

DEATH OF ENOS H. NEBEKER.

Los Angeles friends of Hon. Enos H. Nebeker of Covington, Ind., were informed by telegraphic dispatches from that city of his death at Covington on Monday night. Mr. Nebeker was 75 years old at the time of his death. He was a prominent Republican in Indiana and held many public offices. He was United States Treasurer under President Harrison, and held several State offices. He leaves a widow, a daughter, Mrs. Grau Torres, and a son, Sewall Nebeker.

Swear in Badger Governor.

Sacrifice of Millinery
¼ to ½ Real Value

Trimmed Hats are free to go this week at practically your own price, at ridiculously low prices—a quarter to half their real worth. In most cases the trimmings alone would cost more. And the styles are such as you will see worn by good dressers for months to come.
—Second Floor—

Tailored Suits $12.50
Formerly Priced to $22.50

The Suits we offer today at $12.50 are late winter styles from our own well selected stock—not ordinary "sale" Suits. The styles are right, the materials all wool, the colors fashionable and Skinner satin linings. Seventy in the lot. Sizes for misses and women. $12.50.
—Second Floor—

The Undermuslin Sale

One of the most satisfying features of this sale is to see so many of the same faces here day after day, and on each visit their purchase is a little larger than the day before. Good judges of Undermuslins have told us that they simply "CAN'T keep away from this sale." We could hardly ask for stronger proof of the values offered.

For this week's visitors many new lines have been brought forward, broken lines have been replenished, more help has been engaged, as we expect this to be the record week of the sale.

GOWNS, CHEMISE, CORSET COVERS LONG SKIRTS, DRAWERS, SHORT SKIRTS, PRINCESS SLIPS, COMBINATIONS, 1-3 Under Value
—Third Floor—

Annual Sale White Waists
Priced ⅓ Under Value

It's little wonder that women lay in a season's supply at these special January Waist Sales. No such assortments will be found later on, nor will such values be offered. Charming, new styles are here at $1.00—$1.25—$1.50—$2.50 and $3.50.
—Second Floor—

Plaid Blankets Reduced

Special inducements are offered today in these handsome Plaid Blankets you have admired so much.

A January Clean Up---
Pianos and Player Pianos
Including The Balance of the Stock of the School Music House of Santa Ana

We recently purchased the stock of the School Music House of Santa Ana. A few splendid sales were said in that city. The balance of these splendid new Pianos and Player-Pianos were shipped to Los Angeles, and are now placed on sale at bargain prices. Other shipments to come during our regular "January Clean-up," so you can select at bargain prices, not only from them, but from scores of desirable Pianos and Players from our own stocks—odds and ends in new instruments and many exchanged instruments that were traded during the holidays for new Pianos or Player-Pianos.

Instruments Bought to Sell at $300 to $750, Go at $195, $225 to $300 in Pianos, & $4.0 to $500 in Player Pianos

Pay $1.50 Weekly on Pianos and $2 up Weekly on Players

Prices begin to go into details. The prices are printed merely to give you an idea of the great range of selection. You can choose not only from the best from scores of new and used instruments offered during our "clean-up," but you may pay $1, $2, $3, $7 to $10 per week or month, as above.

Pianos at $75 to $175 — Select from the Schmer, Weber, Stock, Kurtzmann, etc.

Pianos at $100 to $250 — Kranich & Bach Yose, Chickering, etc.

Pianos at $125 to $350 — Select from a good Steinway, an extra-fine Schmer, and other famous makes.

Grands $450 up — Choose from such well known makes as the Steinway, Estey, Kranich & Bach, Schmer, Chickering.

Read Mr. Schall's Letter—

Selling out his business was a real sacrifice to Mr. Schall. Sickness in his family compelled him to make the move. Certainly his letter attests to the genuineness of this sale, and the reasons which compelled him to make the sacrifice:

Santa Ana, Cal., Nov. 13, 1912.

George J. Birkel Co., Los Angeles, Cal.

Gentlemen: It is, of course, a great disappointment to myself and family that we cannot carry out our plans, establishing a business here, but sickness in my family makes it absolutely necessary for me to return at once to Minnesota. It is for this reason only that I am compelled to accept your offer and act quickly. I personally selected every one of these Pianos and Player Pianos, have sold them for years in my eastern home, know how well they wear and give musical satisfaction—and in turning these instruments over to you, I wish to express my thanks for your prompt action in assisting me to hurriedly adjust my affairs. Respectfully,

(Signed) SCHALL MUSIC HOUSE.

CHILDREN HEROES AS THEIR SCHOOL BURNS.

Racing Conflagration Wipes Out Fourteenth-street Intermediate Building While Boys and Girls Toil at the Hose and Dash Into Blazing Structure to Rescue Records and Equipment.

WITH a cup of water and a wet towel, teachers at the Fourteenth-street Intermediate School yesterday attempted to combat a blaze that twenty minutes later successfully resisted the efforts of trained fire-fighters with a dozen powerful streams of water. The frame structure, erected in 1909 and said to have been one of the best-equipped school buildings in the city, was an easy prey for the flames, which gutted the interior with an approximate loss of $35,000.

The fire occurred at an opportune time, if a disaster of that kind is ever opportune. An hour earlier or an hour later and from 300 to 800 pupils would have been in the building. The rapidity with which the fire gained headway, the flames spreading at once to the stairways, makes it extremely doubtful whether all would have escaped from the building without accident. As it was there were not more than half a dozen children in the library and these were quickly hurried out. The teachers were eating lunch in a room on the second floor and left the building at the first alarm.

PATHETIC EFFORT.

Miss Minnie O'Brien, secretary to the principal of the school, was in her office on the first floor when a tiny tongue of flame that had eaten its way from the basement made its appearance, curling and lapping ingratiatingly about the radiator. So small was the flame that the teachers attempted with a cup of water and a wet towel to smother it. Before a full realization of the danger came to those persons in the building, the flames were bursting from every part of the interior.

Hundreds of the children had returned from their homes or had finished their lunches on the grounds when the flames spurred them into action. At once a wail arose from hundreds of youthful throats for precious books, many of them purchased at considerable sacrifice, were endangered. As with one impulse the youngsters rushed toward the blazing structure and were only restrained from entering by the teachers and larger pupils.

SAVES PIANO LEG.

Acting under the direction of Miss O'Brien, who retained remarkable presence of mind, some of the larger pupils rushed into the office and saved the school records. The thought of losing the piano, which had afforded them so much pleasure, was too much for the larger boys and despite the efforts of the teachers to restrain them they hurried in to save it. Now it so happened that this particular piano, through an unfortunate accident, had lost one of its carved legs, and in the hurry this important member was left behind. Not to be outdone by the boys a little girl rushed into the burning building and emerged a few seconds later hugging to her breast like a big doll the precious piano leg.

Starting from the basement the flames spread rapidly to the upper part of the building. In a few minutes the high sloping roof collapsed, carrying parts of the upper and first floors to the basement. The flames burst through the walls on all sides and endangered near-by buildings. A slight breeze from the northwest drove the flames toward the main school building a short distance from the burning annex and the firemen devoted their efforts to saving the as yet untouched structure. At this critical juncture the wind veered and danger from that source was averted.

CHILDREN HELP FIGHT.

Special praise is due the hundreds of school children of all ages who gathered about the burning school. The larger boys with the arrival of the first companies assisted the firemen in carrying the heavy hose while others volunteered their services to frightened neighbors who began piling their household goods in the streets. The neighborhood is comprised almost exclusively of small frame buildings and of these the inhabitants lost no time in preparing for possible emergencies. While virtually unable to do anything so far as saving the building itself was concerned the firemen under Acting Chief O'Donnell prevented the flames from spreading to the new gymnasium or the main school building.

Practically the only thing saved in the intermediate building was the equipment of the new machine shop recently installed at an expense of $5000. The tools in the shop, aside from being watersoaked, were not injured. A force of boys were put to work at once carrying these from the building.

"The fire spread more rapidly than in any building I have known," Chief O'Donnell said shortly after the blaze. "It must have got a good headway in the basement before it was discovered. As nearly as we can judge it probably originated from a defective flue. The whole interior was gutted and we found it a particularly hard fire to get at. The whole thing went like tinder."

Members of the Board of Education, speaking of the fire last night, agreed that the disaster was a strong argument against the erection of frame buildings for public schools, especially large buildings such as this one, which contained ten rooms. Most of the new school buildings now under course of construction are of reinforced concrete and brick. The children were sent home for the day, but school will continue this morning as usual according to Principal Frank Bouelle.

School Children Fighting for Their Building.

Fire completely destroyed the Fourteenth-street Intermediate School in the noon hour yesterday, entailing a loss of about $35,000. That it did not spread and do much greater damage is due in a considerable measure to the work of the children, who assisted the firemen in every way possible. This photograph was made during the first ten minutes of the open conflagration by H. P. Webb, one of the instructors. It shows the roof already fallen in.

REPORT HEAVY LOSS.

The Fowler Brothers Company, No. 543 South Broadway, book sellers, stationers, engravers and printers, place their loss from the fire which damaged the building occupied by them Sunday night in excess of $20,000, resulting largely from damaged stock on three floors. The firm was fully protected by insurance.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA HURT BUT UNDAUNTED.

Veteran Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce Says Loss from Freeze Is Probably Exaggerated—Points to Our Other Great Crops as Offsetting Citrus Setback—Some Figures That Console.

BY FRANK WIGGINS.

Secretary Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

DO I think the citrus fruit crop of Southern California is a total loss? No, indeed, and I'd like to know what warrant or authority anybody has for saying so.

Just because we have had a few days of very cold weather, which has undoubtedly done a great deal of damage, it does not follow at this juncture that the citrus fruit crop is a total loss. I think you will find that, like the report of Mark Twain's death and the first reports on a big fire loss, it has been greatly exaggerated.

In the first place, no accurate estimate of the loss can be made for ten days or two weeks to come. A great deal depends upon the weather for the next week or so. If the temperature moderates gradually the frost will not injure the fruit as much as it will should there be a sudden return to normal conditions.

Suppose we are hard hit! Southern California, as represented by individual fruit growers, and by the people as a whole, will grin and bear it.

I can speak with authority on this point. I raise oranges myself and I don't suppose there is anybody who has suffered a greater proportionate loss than I.

We've a lot to be thankful for still. We can be thankful it is no worse, to begin with. Then compare present conditions with those of twelve or fifteen years ago, when we did not have the warning aid of an up-to-date weather bureau, and when "smudging" was unknown.

Great thing, that "smudging." It has saved a great many thousands of dollars to our citrus fruit growers. If the frosts of Monday and Tuesday had occurred twelve or fifteen years ago the crop would have been a total loss.

And, just think how much better able Southern California is to bear and carry loss from frost than it was then! Neither Jack Frost nor anybody nor anything was able to make Southern California take the count even then, when our industries were all in their infancy. How much less can adverse conditions and happenings harm us now?

In the first place, the citrus fruit growers are better able to stand loss now than they were then. They will go right ahead. This freeze is not likely to occur again for many years. It will take more than one year of hard luck to knock out a Southern California citrus fruit grower.

And, suppose it does lead some to look in other directions? They won't have to leave Southern California.

TAKES PROSECUTOR'S WATCH.

Personal Incentive to Catch a Thief Given City Official Who Loses Valuable Gold Timepiece.

The first thing Assistant City Prosecutor W. D. McConnell did when he reached his office at the Central Station after lunch yesterday was to make out a misdemeanor complaint—leaving blank the space for the accused's name—charging him with picking his pocket. Then he went downstairs and reported to the detectives that while walking along Spring between First and Second streets, he had been robbed of his handsome new gold watch, valued at $100. The prosecutor did not miss his timepiece until he was about to enter Central Station.

Attorney McConnell, when questioned by the detectives, remembered that while walking along Spring street he was roughly jostled by a neatly dressed man. The detectives opine that was the man and the moment that the prosecutor lost his timepiece. They have promised Attorney McConnell that they will catch the "din" to fill in the name on the complaint, and then swear to it.

CHEATED OUT OF HIS REST.

Father of the Imperial Valley Runs Afoul of Electric Car and Is Seriously Injured.

E. E. Forrester, wealthy banker and rancher, and the man who introduced cotton and cane into the Imperial Valley, was dangerously injured last night while crossing Main street between First and Second streets in the pathway of a Pacific Electric car. Three ribs on his right side were shattered and internal injuries may develop.

From his sobriquet, "The Father of Imperial Valley," Forrester has been widely known. Two months ago he decided to withdraw from active life, resigned his office of Public Administrator of Imperial county, gave up the directorship of the First National Bank in El Centro, his home town, and retired to his ranch to days of ease.

Yesterday he came to Los Angeles to conclude several business deals looking towards his retirement, and had been in the city but a few hours when struck by the car. He was taken to the Receiving Hospital for treatment.

Equity vs. Extravagance.

BURDENS UPON BENEFICIARIES.

Such Is Mulholland Plan for Water Distribution.

But Huge Bond Issue Needed for Graham Scheme.

Seeks to Make City Pay for What Others Get.

According to programme, the City Council yesterday forenoon adopted the resolutions of intention to submit to the people of Los Angeles bond propositions aggregating $17,600,000 and covering eight projects.

These have been previously outlined. All went through without a hitch, until it came to the proposition to submit the question of voting an issue of $2,500,000 for the Graham plan for the surplus water distribution from the aqueduct or, as it was officially designated by the Council yesterday, the "Pasadena-Glendale-San Dimas High Line."

Councilman Andrews was first on the roll call. He explained that while he would vote "yes" on the proposition to submit the question to the people, he wanted it thoroughly understood that he was opposed to the Graham scheme and reserved the right to vote and work against it.

Councilman Betkouski's name was called next. He declared that the statements of Andrews expressed his sentiments exactly. At a previous conference Betkouski publicly declared that he would vote against the proposition of the city building this high line and that while voting to submit it to the people, he would do his utmost to defeat the proposition. The other members of the Council, with the exception of Lusk, who was absent, voted in favor of placing the question on the ballot at the bond election.

The Council decided upon Tuesday, February 25, as the date for the election, and that there should be no consolidation of precincts. The sum of $5 was decided upon as the payment to be given each member of the election boards. The ordinance providing for the election will be submitted by the City Attorney at next Tuesday's session of the Council.

WHAT IT MEANS.

The action of the Council yesterday forces upon the citizens of Los Angeles the duty of expressing themselves on the plan of Commissioner Graham, and those whom he dominates on the Public Service Commission, to use city funds for carrying the surplus waters of the Los Angeles Aqueduct as far east as San Dimas—a plan that, if adopted, will require an outlay of $5,250,000 to carry through and that will still lack a system for its distribution when it gets to San Dimas.

The $2,500,000 is planned as but a starter. It is not even proposed to use this money to complete a line from the San Fernando reservoir to Pasadena. The scheme is to use it on work at various points along the route, from the reservoir to San Dimas, and later to call for further bond issues to supply whatever more money is needed. A noted engineer stated yesterday that about $10,000,000 would be required to fully complete this high line and the necessary distributing systems in the territories along its route.

Naturally, the submission of this question brings to public attention the sound ideas of Chief Engineer Mulholland, who planned the aqueduct and who is carrying through the last sections of that masterpiece of construction.

MULHOLLAND PLAN.

As Mulholland clearly stated at a conference between the members of the City Council and the Board of Public Service, his recommendation placed before the people of Los Angeles long ago was that if the aqueduct surplus waters were carried into the San Gabriel Valley, it should be at the direct expense of the people of that territory.

Mulholland's past record, however, that the Board of Public Service considers this a business question and not one of engineering, and while he, no doubt, has fixed convictions as to the unwisdom of the bonding proposition, he defers to the judgment of the board and remains silent.

Mulholland's past actions, however,

"SPITE BRIDE" TAKES POISON.

SEEKS DIVORCE FROM MAN SHE MARRIED IN PIQUE.

Wedded as Child Against Father's Wishes She Appeals to Parent to Help Sever Union—Receiving No Answer She Attempts to End It All but Physicians Save Her.

Mrs. Helen P. Thayer, the 18-year-old wife of Harry Thayer, who achieved notoriety about three years ago by being called "the spite bride," following her marriage to Thayer in a fit of pique, thinking thereby to spite her father, who was opposed to the union, was taken to the Receiving Hospital late yesterday afternoon suffering from the effects of bichloride of mercury poisoning. She will recover, the physicians believe.

After she had been restored to consciousness the woman asserted she took the tablets by mistake, thinking they were medicine. Benjamin Hess, who was with Mrs. Thayer earlier in the afternoon at No. 326 South Main street, told the police the young woman attempted to commit suicide because she was unsuccessful in inducing her father to assist her in securing a divorce. Hess said Mrs. Thayer took the poison while he was at a drug store getting her medicine.

L. B. Shelton, the woman's father, is a floor layer and lives at No. 778 East Thirty-eighth street.

Mrs. Thayer was only 15 years old when she married. She lived with Thayer five or six days, going from here to Denver. She worked in a number of eastern cities and returned to Los Angeles about a week ago.

It is said Mrs. Thayer had waited all day for a telephone message from her father telling her that he would assist her in securing a divorce.

Quantitatively Speaking.

HIS MESSAGE MONUMENTAL.

Mayor Sends Forty Thousand Words to Council.

Feature a Plea for Proposed New Bond Issues.

It Goes to Supply Committee Without Comment.

Mayor Alexander's annual message, a document covering 144 typewritten pages and comprising roughly 40,000 words, was presented for the consideration of the City Council yesterday. It was referred to the Supply Committee without comment.

In addition to the Mayor's recommendations, which comprise most of the subjects considered by the Council within the past year, the message deals at length with forty-two general subjects and uncounted subdivisions. As a quantitative document it is monumental.

The principal feature of the personal recommendations of the Mayor is a plea for the success of the forthcoming bond issues totaling $17,600,000. The message views briefly the situation calling for $2,500,000 for water and power, $2,500,000 for the harbor, $1,000,000 for the municipal railway, $1,000,000 for a new City Hall and $500,000 for a municipal auditorium. At the conclusion of this list the Mayor ingenuously adds that "several other questions require attention carrying with them the issuance of bonds to provide for the development of our city. However, these must wait." The intimation is that all the other matters will be placed on a paying basis before the taxpayers are asked to assume more burdens than the seventeen-odd millions called for.

ON THE CHARTER.

The need for a new charter is set out in five and a half lines of the message. The Socialist-Good Government coalition to that end is not mentioned except to the extent of intimating that the success of "two bodies now at work" is problematical. Garbage gets three and a half lines, prophesying success in dealing with it. The work at the harbor, the Mayor admits, "has been delayed for many different reasons," but he believes it will now go on with a whoop. Another part of the message, relevant to this subject, recommends a charter amendment providing for salaried commissioners, the Mayor having found that experienced and competent business men are hard to keep in his official family for this, or other reasons.

The Mayor further advocates the revision of the tax ordinance, with special reference to the occupation tax and the establishment of a vehicle tax. He recommends a municipal employment bureau and a municipal lodging-house, an ordinance to do away with the smoke of gasoline motor cars and the granting of a franchise for a car line to Griffith Park; this in connection with the offer of Col. Griffith for a $100,000 observatory on Mt. Hollywood. He also calls attention to the necessity for securing a site and making plans for a great public library building before July 1, on which date the lease of the present quarters in the Hamburger building expires.

In that part of the volume compiled from the reports of department heads and bureau chiefs, the Mayor starts in on the financial department of the city government with the bon mot: "While the city has no 'money to burn' the treasury has been subjected to a plethora of cash;" this from an accumulation of funds paid in by purchasers of the aqueduct bonds.

FINANCIAL CONDITION.

He finds that the city's ability to meet its obligations is excellent. The budget allowance has increased for the past three years at the average rate of $530,000, the 1912-13 allowance totaling $4,921,794. There is $1,091,695 in the aqueduct fund uninvested at the present time. "I have steadfastly advocated," says the Mayor, "that the entire available sinking fund shall be invested in a future issue of bonds, and thus pay interest to ourselves instead of outside bond-holders."

The Mayor attributes the "marked increase in city taxes" to "ignorance of the facts." Only a small portion of this, he says, can be charged to the city rate, but more to the county rate due to the greatly increased needs of our schools. The city rate has increased from $1.43 in 1910-11 to $1.54 in 1912-13.

The aqueduct receives five pages of review and congratulation. On January 1 there remained 11,000 feet of conduit to be excavated, 260 feet of power conduit, 2500 feet of power tunnel and 1864 feet of power siphon. The system will be ready for operation within the next eight or nine weeks and the Mayor urges dedicatory exercises in keeping with the importance of the event.

Twenty-seven and one-half miles of streets were paved during the year, and forty-two miles of sewer constructed. The Avenue Twenty bridge across the Arroyo Seco was completed and other important bridge work accomplished.

In the number of building permits the Mayor finds that Los Angeles will probably rank first in the nation for the year. In valuation Los Angeles is exceeded only by New York, Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia, all cities with a population of 1,000,000 or over. The chief executive predicts a record-breaking year for 1913 and cites a number of large building projects to be consummated during the year. Approximately 15 per cent. of the 1912 total, or $15,000,000, has gone into the building of homes. A permit has been issued at the rate of one every ten minutes throughout business hours for construction work of some sort, each permit averaging $1937.

SOME STATISTICS.

The message recites that there are 145 miles of paved streets in the city and 600 miles of streets are receiving regular sprinkling; 240 miles have been oiled, requiring the use of 44,-846 barrels of oil; 1,400,000 gallons of water are used on the streets daily during the winter and 2,200,000 gallons during the summer. A total of 1270 miles of streets in the city are maintained, and 32,450 cubic feet of asphalt have been laid in repair work. Eight hundred miles of streets have been electrolite lighted for the year at a cost of $290,949.

The Mayor urges the need of a quarantine station at the harbor to care for "the flood of immigration which within a year or two will begin to pour through this port from Europe. Commerce should be developed," he says "and the harbor handled strictly as a business proposition." In this development, the message holds, the city is handicapped by the charter, which limits water front leases to fifteen years.

Along the word strewn route, the Mayor hesitates for a few thousand nouns, adjectives and infinitives, split and whole, to discuss gas rates, street railway matters, fire alarms, the City Clerk, and all the other city departments. He would extend the number and the power of the board of censors which deals with moving pictures, and "praises the accomplishments of the City Prosecutor's office, but is silent on moral censorship in connection with the job. He admits that the municipal newspaper costs more than the $36,000 appropriated for its sustenance and comfort, but says the difference is made up in advertising receipts and that anyway the publication is worth more than it costs.

IN THE DEPARTMENT.

The police department the message declares to be in excellent shape and to have enjoyed a successful year. The year's arrests totaled 37,979; fines collected, $115,049; total expenditure, $676,473.37. "I cannot express too strongly," the message proceeds, "the stringent necessity for an immediate and appreciable increase in the number of patrolmen."

The fire department also comes in for high praise. Disastrous fires have been few and the fire loss is reduced to 75 cents per capita. In the health department the vital statistics show Brer Stork with a safe lead over the Grim Reaper; there was 8801 births and 5105 deaths during the year. Tuberculosis led in contagious diseases reported.

The year is declared to have been an important one in the development of public parks, and the mapping out of projects for the unification of a magnificent system of parks. As soon as the zoo is established in Griffith Park amidst natural surroundings the street car line will be constructed there, thus making it "one of the most popular parks in Los Angeles."

The City Treasurer's report reveals a December 1 balance of $9,156,994,-76, with total disbursements for the year of $19,454,967. The license bureau issued $841,760 worth of paper of this description, an increase of $87,461, over the preceding year.

The Mayor reviews the city schools, which he calls "one of our greatest assets," and notes the marvelous increase in attendance over a year ago. The amount of money required for the school year of 1912-13 is $5,961,-681, an increase over last year of $1,169,686.

The circulation of books in the public library for the year was 1,069,-297, as against 895,889 in 1911, and the total expenditures, $156,778.52 against $137,665.56 in 1911.

Other officials who come in for a chapter in the Mayor's who's who are connected with the various departments of inspection: City Sealer of Weights and Measures, Humane Animal Commission, the Housing and City Planning Commission, municipal art, and public playgrounds. The Mayor finds a great need for more baths per capita in some parts of the city and hopes the great unwashed may be succored this year.

He is strong for the establishing of a public market. He blames the credit system for the high cost of living, and concludes by propounding a riddle:

"Why not return to the good old-fashioned way of carrying baskets to the market, only make it a public market, and cut down the high cost of living?"

CRUSHED TO DEATH.

While crossing the street behind a passing car, Mrs. Augustus Peterson, 45 years old, was struck and instantly killed by a two-car train on the Pacific Electric railroad last night at Topaz street, Rosehill.

Shortly after dark Mrs. Peterson was returning to her home at No. 4233 Husted street, Rosehill. She waited at the crossing on Topaz street for the El Molino car to pass and stepped across the tracks directly behind the car. Immediately behind the El Molino car was the two-car train which bore down upon the woman without noticing it.

She was crushed beneath the guard and dragged by the car for nearly half a block before the train could be stopped. So firmly was she wedged within the framework of the trucks that it took several minutes before her body could be recovered. The remains were taken to Bresee Brothers.

The Pasadena High Line and the Contiguous Territory,

Involved in the forthcoming issue to be submitted to the voters on February 25. They will then be asked to decide whether the taxpayers shall bond themselves for $2,500,000 as a starter for the expensive Graham plan of water distribution from the aqueduct or whether, by rejecting it, a system requiring the territories served to pay the cost of construction shall be recommended.

Upon Beneficiaries.

dating back for at least three years, and reaching down towards the present to a comprehensive statement of his attitude and recommendations made on March 16, 1912, and even to his answers to questions propounded by Councilman Andrews at the conference last week, clearly show that he believes the surplus waters of the aqueduct can be applied to lands that undoubtedly will come within the boundaries of the city of Los Angeles in the course of time.

About three years ago Mulholland made a succinct report which he termed "Suggestions for the distribution of the water supply of the Los Angeles Aqueduct," and which was discussed at various public meetings held in the Council chamber at the City Hall. In that report he defined his premises clearly as follows:

"The purpose in setting forth these facts is to demonstrate that in disposing of the surplus water it should be kept in mind that the territory served should be adjacent to the city and capable of final absorption by annexation. Should this be done, no reason would ever arise for severing the water from the land to which it would be applied, as the process of assimilation would completely settle the question."

COST AND BENEFIT.

In Mulholland's report to the Public Service Commission, dated March 16, 1912, he again presented an exhaustive review of the question of distributing the surplus waters. In this report the recommendation is made that Pasadena and the districts lying to the east thereof should finance the building of their own mains if they proposed to participate in the benefits of the surplus waters of the aqueduct. This report says:

"It will be observed that no line is proposed to convey water to Pasadena or the territory lying easterly therefrom, the reason for this omission being that Pasadena has made surveys of her own for this purpose and carefully prepared estimates thereon.

"The San Gabriel country, lying to the east of her borders, can only be reached from the aqueduct by passing through the city of Pasadena, involving the acquisition of a right of way and the tearing up of the streets.

"It has always appeared to the writer that the only solution of the problem presented by this difficulty is that if the San Gabriel country is desirous of procuring the Owens River water it should be annexed to the city of Pasadena and move jointly with her in the matter, providing, of course, that Pasadena herself will want the water.

"Surveys have been made and complete data collected for the building of a line in both Pasadena and the San Gabriel country by this department, but the cost of such lines seemed too excessive to be undertaken by the city of Los Angeles.

"Indeed, the question is still an open one as to whether the city should undertake the building of any lines for the territory outside her borders other than the one that is described under the heading of 'Case I,' and which will be exclusively devoted to the city's use within her present limits."

Further on in the same report the engineer, who has given this subject more study than any other person, declares:

"In former discussions of the whole general subject of the distribution of the water the need of caution was always sought to be emphasized against too meager spreading of this water over too broad an area."

AN AMPLE SUPPLY.

Then follows a statement that, after thorough study of the hydrographic conditions of the country to be served, the writer is of the firm conclusion that with judicious management and intelligent direction, under one head, of the application of this water, "all of the territory bounded as follows can be amply supplied by having recourse to the return waters, which will, beyond a doubt, appear within a few years after the Owens River water shall have been put to universal use, provided the water is used in watersheds to whose basins the city would have access for purposes of recovery and on the condition also that ample facilities are afforded for the impounding of the winter flow of the aqueduct."

The district thus outlined by Mulholland is far from indorsement of the Graham plan for carrying at the city's expense a high line as far easterly as San Dimas. Its northern boundaries would be the Sierra Madre range of mountains; the easterly boundaries would be the easterly boundaries of Pasadena prolonged from the base of the mountains southerly to the southerly boundary of the San Antonio ranch, thence westerly, following the southerly boundaries of this ranch and the line of Manhattan avenue; thence southerly and westerly, following the south city limits of Los Angeles to their intersection with the Shoestring Strip; thence westerly to the sea.

This area contains about 195,000 acres, not including the area of the city, and about 170,000 acres are arable. This, says the Mulholland report, "would make a compact unit and the one that by reason of its topography and geographical relation to the city and the aqueduct would be most cheaply and efficiently served."

The plea of the Mayor before the City Council at last Monday's session, and also the argument that has been advanced by members of the Public Service Commission, that the San Fernando Valley has taken practically no steps to secure aqueduct water, and that, therefore, they must look to the Glendora-San Dimas region for a demand for water, is shown to be erroneous by the resolutions adopted at a largely-attended mass meeting of San Fernando Valley property owners held in San Fernando on October 22.

VALLEY TAKES LEAD.

These resolutions declared a willingness to take whatever steps are necessary, either through the organization of an irrigation district or the organization as a city of the sixth class, for the issuance of bonds for building pipe lines and later annexing to Los Angeles after these expenses had been provided for, if the city so desires.

These resolutions were presented to the City Council and by that body referred to the Public Service Commission. Nothing has been heard of them for weeks. Apparently the Public Service Commission has been too busy with its "Graham plan" for expending $6,250,000 of the people's money on the high line to San Dimas to give this broad proposition of the San Fernando people consideration.

The resolutions were as follows:

Whereas all sections of the San Fernando Valley are this day represented in mass meeting this day held at the town of Fernando, and,

Whereas the Public Service Commissioners of the city of Los Angeles have formed a plan for the distribution of the surplus waters of the Owens River, and

Whereas such plan contemplates taking from the watershed of the Los Angeles River and from the city of Los Angeles 9000 inches of water to be distributed to lands in the vicinity of Monrovia and San Dimas, and at an estimated expense to the city of Los Angeles of over $5,250,000, and

Whereas it will cost as much per miner's inch to take the water from the San Fernando Valley to Monrovia and San Dimas as it has cost to bring such water all the way from Owens River to Los Angeles, and

Whereas the engineer's report, made by J. H. Quinton, W. H. Code and Homer Hamlin, recites that in case water is used in the vicinity of Monrovia and San Dimas, such water must be diverted higher up on the line of the aqueduct, and that the loss to the city in power for the district so served, when capitalized, equals $50 per acre, being a grand total for 39,000 acres of $4,450,000, and

Whereas this valley contains 100,000 acres of the best land in Southern California, susceptible of irrigation, and can use all the surplus waters of the Owens River in excess of that needed by the city of Los Angeles and the districts immediately to the West thereof, and

Whereas we believe that those benefited by the use of Owens River water should bear their fair share of the burden thereof, and

Whereas a proper distributing system in this valley can be constructed for less than $4,000,000 and we, in this valley, are willing to bear that expense by the issuance of bonds or other obligations, and are willing to either form an irrigation district or to create a municipality of the sixth class, which shall issue such bonds and thereafter become annexed to the city of Los Angeles, so that the money from such bonds may be expended by Los Angeles in constructing such distributing system, and

Whereas a large proportion of whatever waters placed in this valley will return by seepage into the Los Angeles River and can be used again, while waters used in the vicinity of Monrovia and San Dimas will forever be lost to the city, and such seepage and return waters are necessary to supply lands between the city and Redondo, and a conduit has already been constructed from the Los Angeles River to the city of Los Angeles, based on such return waters, and

Whereas the city of Los Angeles has no right, under its charter, to forever alienate said waters, and the result of sending such waters to Monrovia and San Dimas will be to either alienate them forever or to cause great damage to such water owners when the city shall finally cut off their supply, as well as a total loss to the city of millions to be invested in constructing the pipe line to that vicinity, and

Whereas the city of Los Angeles can net more by selling the surplus water in the San Fernando Valley, now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that the people of the San Fernando Valley are willing to be annexed to the city of Los Angeles, or to form an irrigation district, or to organize a city of the sixth class and issue bonds to build the distributing system in this valley which shall be a lien on our lands, and thereafter become annexed to the city of Los Angeles so that at all times we shall be under the rules and regulations of the city water department, and that we are willing to pay a reasonable sum to be prescribed by the city for the use of such water on our land, and we again urge upon the city authorities the necessity of prompt action, and that they declare whether or not they desire us to move along these lines.

Great Ships Assigned to Carry Us When Panama Canal Is Built—Via New York to Europe.

With the opening of the Panama Canal, the International Mercantile Marine Company of New York will offer weekly service by boats of 10,-000 tonnage between San Francisco and Los Angeles and New York. The service will be under the flag of the American line and arrangements have already been made to assign four American-bottom boats to it. These facts are attested by William Roseman, manager of the Ferguson Steamship Agency.

The time between New York and San Francisco will be fifteen days. The ships selected for the new service have capacity of 150 first-cabin passengers, 350 second-cabin, and 450 third-cabin. In connection with the Atlantic Transport, Red Star, and White Star Lines of the International company, plying between New York and all important European ports, the new service to the Pacific Coast will afford direct European connections.

Because the Huntington Beach Company hired Andrew Miller at twenty cents an hour to work as teamster and later transferred him to labor on a ranch, without notifying him that his stipend would be less, Justice Summerfield held that he was entitled yesterday to a judgment for $26.40, instead of $19.50, which was offered by the company in settlement. Miller's witnesses proved to the court's satisfaction that he had had every reason to believe that his wage would remain the same in his new position.

The Eddie Trial.

PARAGON OF ALL VIRTUES.

Suspended Prosecutor Gives His Version.

Model of Circumspection as Self-described.

Would Seem Woman in Case Made Overtures.

The taking of testimony in the Eddie case was concluded yesterday afternoon in Department Eleven before Judge Fred V. Wood and a jury. Arguments will be begun this morning and extend over a period of two days and a half.

Deputy District Attorney Keyes will open the argument at 10 o'clock, to be followed by Frank Domingues. Lewis Works will then speak, with Earl Rogers closing for the defense. The State will sum up with a brief talk by Deputy District Attorney Blair. Then will come the instructions of the court. According to estimates of counsel the case will go to the jury early Friday afternoon, it is possible the arguments will be shortened, in which event the jury will retire Friday morning.

The defense lawyers were confident of acquittal last evening. The two prosecutors were equally sure of conviction.

The trial was begun December 17 and under the guidance of Judge Wood has proceeded with celerity. From the first he insisted on brief arguments on objections and his rulings eliminated a mass of defense testimony having no bearing on the guilt or innocence of the accused.

IN SPOTLIGHT.

Guy Eddie attracted much attention yesterday when he took the stand in his own behalf. His testimony was short and consisted in the main of general denials of guilt. The specific charge against him is that he contributed to the delinquency of Miss Alice Phelps, a minor.

The State did not offer much rebuttal. There was one witness who considered the desk which was in Eddie's office October 2 was later removed and a larger one substituted. But there was testimony on behalf of the State that putty placed around the peep-holes contracted the vision of some of the investigators who took "tests" on behalf of the defense.

Mrs. Phelps was recalled to deny that she told Eddie she was 21. The suspended City Prosecutor testified he told him she was of age when he sought secret service work under his direction.

Flatly admitting that he may have kissed Alice Phelps quite accidentally, Eddie, erstwhile censor of pink tights and stern prosecutor of infringements against the purity laws, took the witness stand in his own behalf.

The suspended City Prosecutor had the benefit of the moral uplift of seven middle-aged women who occupied seats within the railing. He was soon adroitly coached by Earl Rogers, who returned to the trial after an absence due to a sudden physical breakdown.

MOB SCENE.

Eddie did not lack an audience. The spectators were so eager to enter the courtroom they broke one of the glass lights in the door leading into the corridor. The damage was soon repaired and for the rest of the session a framework of tousled heads and eager faces filled the opening.

Eddie's testimony was in two parts. He stoutly denied having attempted the slightest of liberties with Miss Phelps. His Puritan modesty was such, he stated, in effect, that he almost shuddered as his left leg accidentally grazed the person of Mrs. Phelps as she stood near his chair on the third memorable visit.

The ex-moral censor in addition to his horrified denial of stolen kisses, mild embraces and passionate love-making went on to ungallantly deny any possible overtures to the woman in the case. With real or assumed disgust he told of her apparent eagerness to become a detective by ferreting out lodging-houses of questionable repute.

The defendant also shuddered as he told of the alleged baleful attempts of D. A. Johnston, the "all-seeing" detective, to browbeat by threats at every possible opportunity, and introduce the unfortunate young woman to his attention.

On cross-examination Eddie admitted he was obliged to investigate the nature of a number of lodging-houses, but hastily added that he did it at the behest of the Finance Committee of the City Council.

RAISON D'ETRE.

He explained the placing of Yale locks on his doors on the theory that the doors were warped and that in order to keep out importunate seekers of legal advice he was at times obliged to lock his doors. But he insisted this admission by asserting that countless possessed keys which were free to use at all times.

The witness also took occasion to point out that Mrs. Phelps told him she was married and past 21. These circumstances may be a legal bar to conviction even if the acts complained of actually occurred, assert the lawyers.

After telling of his college education and his legal studies Eddie mentioned the fact that he is married and has children. He told of his career as an assistant in the City Prosecutor's office and his subsequent promotion to the head of the department.

He first saw Alice Phelps when she was introduced to me by D. A. Johnston," said Eddie. "At the time, I opened the door of my office was Mr. Johnston first came in. After a few preliminary words for a few minutes he told me he had some work for me. He thought her in and introduced her. I asked Mrs. Phelps her age. She said she was 21 and married. I knew her if she knew about the nature of the work. I gave a brief explanation and told her it was dangerous. I really did not think she was qualified, but told her she could return." The witness was positive he had not done so.

CONCERNING LOVE.

"Did you tell her you loved her?" asked counsel for the defense.

"Did you ever fondle her?" with a look of disgust.

"There was no passion or love of that kind?"

"Did she ever sit on your lap?"

"No," quickly.

"Did you try to touch her or arouse her?"

"No," after some thought, admitted he was alone with her in the telephone and that she sat in his chair his lap. He denied the woman.

THROUGH HIS SPECTACLES.

Eddie described the scene in a manner far different from that unfolded by the witnesses for the prosecution. He said Lloyd and Johnston rushed at him with drawn revolvers.

Eddie said he blandly inquired: "What is the matter?"

In response, he said, McLaughlin seized one arm and held it above his head and Lloyd held the other arm. He asserted Lloyd tried to disarrange his clothing. He said he struggled and that Lloyd was about to use his "billy" when cautioned by McLaughlin.

About that time, the witness stated, Nimmo entered.

Passing over the conversation in the office, Rogers led his willing witness to the chambers of Judge Wilbur in a species of mental retrospect. Eddie admitted he asked the judge not to issue the complaint.

"I told him the newspapers would get hold of it and that I would be injured, irrespective of my innocence."

He declared the question which Judge Wilbur propounded to Mrs. Phelps, supposedly at the defendant's request, was really an inspiration on the part of Tom C. Thornton, a volunteer counsel.

Deputy District Attorney Keyes gave the witness a careful cross-examination. He first inquired about the numerous locks on the doors of the defendant's private office. There was considerable discussion about the locks and the reasons for barring out visitors at certain times.

Eddie disclaimed any close acquaintance with Lloyd and Johnston. He said he used the latter special officer once to gather some information against the Pacific Electric. He said Johnston appeared anxious to have him employ Mrs. Phelps.

PRINCIPALLY NOES.

"Can you remember what Mrs. Phel Phelps said when you explained the nature of the secret service work?" asked Keyes.

"No."

"Did you say anything about a test?"

"No."

"You did not think her qualified for such work, then?"

"No."

"Well, you have changed your mind since then, haven't you?"

This question raised a storm of objections on the part of the defense and it was ruled out.

"Where was Mrs. Phelps when you used the telephone?"

"She was standing near the northeast corner of my desk. I motioned her away. I did not think she had any business so close."

"Did you hear McLaughlin say: 'You have done this once too often?'"

Eddie declared he heard little at the time.

He went on to explain Johnston may have felt some enmity toward him because he once refused to take up a certain matter. When pressed for an explanation he said Johnston complained that Lloyd had paid too much attention to Mrs. Mabel Christopherson.

"Is she one of your female detectives?" asked Keyes.

"Yes."

"Did she pass the test?"

INSULTING QUESTION?

Objection on the part of the defense that this question was insulting to the witness was sustained.

There were a few questions as to what Eddie said when he was taken before Judge Wilbur.

The defense asked no additional questions and Eddie was excused.

The defense introduced Mrs. Grace Lonnecker, the guard in charge of Mrs. Phelps. She was asked if Mrs. Phelps was well-behaved during the time the witness was in charge of her. Mrs. Lonnecker replied in the affirmative.

This question is a technical one to show the young woman has not been dependent since October 2. It may be of use in case an appeal is necessary.

Rogers attempted to introduce a copy of the marriage license obtained by John Phelps when he married Alice Feak in Bloomington, Ill. The court sustained the objection to its introduction.

Rebuttal testimony followed. There was no sur-rebuttal.

The remainder of the session was devoted to arranging for the arguments.

ORGANIZED RESISTANCE.

More Than Five Hundred Have Signed Protest of Exposition Park Assessment.

The work of organizing the property owners in the special assessment district set apart by the City Council for the purpose of raising funds for the development of Exposition Park is making good progress under the direction of a citizens' committee, according to reports emanating yesterday from committee headquarters, 242 Title Insurance building.

A number of petitions are in circulation and more than 500 signatures have been secured. Minor LaV. Blythe, who with E. J. Fleming is looking after the legal end of the protest, said last night that 1500 names, representing a large property frontage, will probably be secured before the petition is presented to a court of competent jurisdiction preliminary to asking for an order restraining the city from proceeding with the collection of the assessments, which it is asserted are inequitable.

Three largely attended meetings were held in different parts of the district Monday evening, and Friday evening at Normandie avenue and Jefferson street another mass protest will be made. The appointment of the citizens' committee is approved, according to Blythe, by all of the improvement associations within the district, which extends from Washington street to Manchester avenue, and from Main street to Western avenue. So far the city officials are apparently "laying low" to learn how far-reaching and successful the protest will be.

The committee requests that property owners file at headquarters in the Title Insurance building a legal description of the property assessed together with the name of the title owner.

LEAVE WITH PRISONERS.

United States Marshal Youngworth will start North this afternoon with eight Chinese who have been ordered deported, the party sailing from San Francisco Thursday noon. Deputy United States Marshal Dingle will take D. D. Williams to McNeil's Island to begin a stretch of twenty-three months' imposed for smuggling smoking opium from Mexico into the United States.

ONE OUT, ANOTHER IN.

With his retirement from the Superior Bench, yesterday Judge Bordwell automatically dismissed himself from membership in the Board of Trustees of the Los Angeles County Law Library. His place is taken in the same manner by Judge Monroe, dean of the Superior Court judges.

To this may also be added $2,000,000 worth of canned goods, raising the total to $62,000,000, and this leaves petroleum, $45,000,000; gold and silver, $4,000,000, and manufactures, $100,000,000, entirely out of consideration.

The total annual output of Southern California's resources is not less than $225,000,000.

Hard hit? Maybe we are, but we are not dying from it. Not by millions of concentrated Southern California energy and persistence.

And don't forget that the industries of the whole country from the Pacific to the Atlantic are suffering with us right now, from the same causes, including Florida. Florida citrus growers will also rise to the occasion. You'll see.

ACCUSED OF LARCENY.

James D. Savage, manager of the delivery department of the Ville de Paris dry goods establishment, was arrested yesterday by Detective Carroll upon a complaint sworn out before Deputy District Attorney Doran by Richard E. Barry, general manager of the business, who charges the man with larceny of an amount expected to reach $200. Barry told Doran that Savage had received the money from deliverymen who got it on C.O.D. packages, and to whom Savage gave receipts, which will be used against him. Savage was taken to the City Jail.

UPSETS OIL LAMP.

Henry Daywall, 38 years old, was perhaps fatally burned in a fire that almost destroyed his home at No. 510 North Broadway, early yesterday morning. He sustained burns on his face, chest, back, arms and hands. He accidentally upset a lamp, the flaming oil quickly spreading to the room. The damage to the house, owned by E. D. Silent, is $500. Daywall was removed to the County Hospital.

twenty, live in the vicinity of the Colegrove homestead. The sons and daughters are Schuyler Colfax, Seward and George; Mrs. E. C. Brown, Mrs. Howard S. Waring and Mrs. Reginald Jones. One daughter, Mrs. James McLoughlin, lives in New York.

Another anniversary marking an even longer lapse of years was quietly observed yesterday under less auspicious conditions at No. 815 Mallard street, where Benjamin F. Quinby, 85 years old, stood at the bedside of the wife of his youth as she quietly approaches the gateway of eternity.

On January 7, 1819, they were married, back in Maine, and for sixty-four years their married life has flowed as peacefully and happily as a song. The dissolution of the tie is imminent now, and the happy youth of '49 realizes that in all human probability the final anniversary has passed.

Born in Westbrook, Me., June 22, 1828, Quinby wooed and wed Almedia Hobson Kinney of Cornish, Me., and their early married life was spent in rigorous New England under the stern conditions that brought out the best in men and women.

During the Civil War Quinby was inspector of small arms at the United States Armory at Springfield, Mass., and afterwards engaged in various business enterprises, coming to Los Angeles about ten years ago. Since then he has lived a retired life.

The two surviving daughters of a family of four are Mrs. B. A. Fowler of Phoenix, Ariz., wife of the former president of the National Irrigation Congress, and the "father of irrigation" in the Salt River Valley, and Mrs. Annie Q. Hedenberg of Los Angeles, each of whom, together with Fowler, spent the anniversary day at the Mallard-street home.

Palm Place

A subdivision complying with all the dictates of discriminating homebuilders.

An investment opportunity which contains all the elements making for profit and prosperity.

Build YOUR home on one of these large villa sites—(no lot less than 105x170 feet) where $100,000 has already been expended for improvements and beautifying features. Palms, winding roads, extra wide parkings, sidewalks; gas, water and electricity.

The view—the soil—the climate of Palm Place are matchless.

Go out Washington Boulevard on your way to the races at the Motordrome, between Palm Place and Del Rey next Sunday.

Turn In at Palm Place

Start early enough to inspect this magnificent subdivision—the place for attractive homes of the best quality. Only 30 minutes from the city by auto.

Prices Astonishingly Low

In the immediate vicinity, acreage is held much higher than sites in Palm Place, considering the improvements.

Car service over the Venice "Short Line" is unexcelled. An attractive station is on the tract. We will take you out at any time, but remember, with the enormous development going on in this popular region, the safest time to go is NOW.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Canavan,

Who were married last evening in Streator, Ill. Mrs. Canavan was formerly Miss Mildred Barlow, a popular young debutante of the easterf city. Mr. Canavan was a young bachelor of this city and one of the prominent automobile dealers.

JAMES J. CANAVAN, an automobile dealer of this city and member of Vance-Canavan Company, and Miss Mildred Barlow, daughter of a prominent automobile manufacturer, were united in marriage at the home of the bride-elect's parents in Streator, Ill., last evening, according to a dispatch to The Times. The young couple left after a midnight lunch for their home in Los Angeles. They will be registered at the Hotel Van Nuys until the home on Wilshire boulevard is finished.

When the announcement of the engagement of Miss Barlow was made Mr. Canavan was tendered a dinner here by his close friends at the Los Angeles Athletic Club. He was a popular member of the younger bachelor set and has a large circle of acquaintances here. He has been in business in this city for three years and before the partnership was formed with Warren Vance was a representative of the Halladay factory at Streator. His father-in-law is the principal stockholder in the concern.

Miss Barlow was one of the most popular young debutantes of Streator. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Barlow and is a graduate of Wisconsin University. She is also a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority of her alma mater and as such was the center of a social whirl which has kept her busy for the last few weeks. She has traveled extensively and has recently returned from a tour of Europe, which was taken as a post-graduate course. She completed her university course with high honors.

The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. H. G. K. Kelly of the Church of the Immaculate Conception. The bride-elect was accompanied by her father and was preceded by Miss Elizabeth Van Arsdale, her niece, who was flower girl. The matron of honor was Mrs. R. L. Van Arsdale, a sister. Dr. J. L. Canavan of Chicago, a brother of the groom, was best man.

The wedding march was played by Miss Anne Ryon, daughter of O. B. Ryon, and Mrs. S. W. Plumb sang "O Promise Me." Covers were placed for sixty guests, all close friends of the family. The drawing-room was decorated with pink roses and ferns and the bride-elect carried a shower-bouquet of American beauty roses shipped from Los Angeles.

Telegrams of congratulation poured in upon the happy pair. Mr. and Mrs. Canavan left Streator on the night train for San Francisco and after a few days at the St. Francis will journey on to Los Angeles. They will be at home to their friends after February 1.

—o—

Clarke-Macomber Wedding.

Charles F. Clarke, son of Governor-elect Clarke, and Miss Kate Macomber, daughter of Mrs. J. K. Macomber of Adel, were married at St. Paul's Cathedral of Des Moines, Iowa, last evening according to a dispatch from there. The Rt. Rev. Harry Sherman Longley, Suffragan Bishop of Iowa, officiated. The bride-elect was attended by her sister, Mrs. Leads Louer of Chicago, as matron of honor. Little Laverne Louer was flower girl.

Among other bridal attendants were Mrs. Harry Rollins and the bridesmaids, Miss Arabella and Bertha Macomber and Miss Frances Clarke. The guests were received by the Governor-elect and Mrs. Clarke. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Rogers of Chicago were among the guests.

—o—

Luncheon Friday.

Covers will be laid for twenty Friday at the luncheon party to be presided over by Mrs. E. W. Britt at her home, No. 2141 West Adams street. Guests have been asked to meet Miss Edith Mitchell of Philadelphia, who has come to this city to make her future home.

—o—

Mrs. Taylor to Entertain.

In compliment to Mrs. Paul Howard, Mrs. Russell McD. Taylor will entertain with a tea party Saturday afternoon. Guests, who will include men as well as women, will be received at the Taylor residence, No. 2 Berkeley Square, between 4 and 6 o'clock.

—o—

Home From Honeymoon.

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Haggarty, the latter formerly Miss Stella Louise Hayden, who were recently married in this city, have returned from their honeymoon trip, which included New York, Buffalo, Chicago, Washington, Denver, Salt Lake and Indianapolis. After February 15 they will be at home to friends at the Young apartments.

—o—

For Bride-elect.

In honor of Miss Bernardine Williams, whose engagement to Harold Waddington, U.S.N., was announced a fortnight ago, the Misses Bessie Baker and June Bailey entertained yesterday with a theater party at the Orpheum, followed by tea at the Alexandria. Covers were arranged for Miss Marguerite Brown, Miss Josephine McAlester, Miss Francis Smith, Mrs. Lawrence Kelsey, Mrs. Lane Crandall, Mrs. Allester Davidson, Mrs. Robert Hiddleson, Mrs. Rex Hardy and Mrs Howard Salisbury.

—o—

Engagement Announced.

Through the mediums of dainty New Year cards, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Brydon Ocheltree announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Dorothy, to Theodore Edward Smith, Jr., of this city.

—o—

Eastern Trip.

Mrs. Robert S. Hardy of Hotel New Maryton, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Lois Cook, will leave Friday on a southern and eastern trip of two months' duration. Their first stop will be at Tucson, from there to San Antonio, New Orleans, Memphis and St. Louis, where they will be the guests of Mrs. N. R. Waters of "The Oaks" at Webster Grove, a suburban city of St. Louis. Mrs. Waters was a schoolmate of Miss Cook and a former resident of this city. She will be remembered as Miss Frances Shaw. From there they go to Chicago and vicinity, to St. Paul and Minneapolis, Des Moines and home by way of San Francisco.

A MODERN HERCULES.

Extraordinary Feats Performed by an East Indian Who Has No Apparent Limit to His Strength.

[Review of Reviews:] Rama Murti Naidu won the name of India's Hercules by letting an elephant weighing four tons walk over his abdomen, a twelve-horse power motor car run over his shoulders and back, two country carts loaded to the limit of their capacity with men and boys from his audience pass over his shoulders and thighs; also by bearing a stone weighing 3000 pounds on his chest and back and letting men break a large rock on it with heavy sledge hammers, and finally by snapping asunder a stout chain about one-eighth of an inch in thickness by merely raising his shoulders.

He is a most popular figure in India and receives wherever he goes the reception of a prince. With high thinking he combines plain living, being a pure vegeterian. About two hours after his night performance is over he takes a light meal of rice, pulse, greens or one or two vegetables, all mixed together and weighing not more than half a pound in all.

He takes water or sometimes plain soda and that too very moderately disdaining tea, coffee, cocoa and spirituous liquors. He leaves his bed at 3 o'clock in the forenoon, when his favorite drink is ready for him. This is made from almonds, cummin seed and black peper, weighing in all two pounds, soaked overnight, made into a fine pulp, then mixed with a pint of water, strained through a piece of muslin and sweetened with sugar.

An hour later he eats a quarter of a pound of raw fresh butter. Breakfast is served at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. It is about the same sort of meal that he eats after his performance. At 4 o'clock he takes a drink similar to the one already described, made from almonds, wheat, bran and milk, and eats a sort of pudding made by boiling together clotted cream, honey, butter and sugar.

Hay for the Moose.

[Kansas City Journal:] The other day William Allen White, head of the Bull Moose party in Kansas, sent a letter to Fred Hammond of Burlington, saying: "The Bull Moose needs more hay. Please raise some money among the brethren and send it to me."

Now Hammond happens to be an ardent standpatter. So he skirmished around town and found a Confederate $50 bill. He sent it to White, with this letter: "The money inclosed was good enough for the fellows who were fighting the Republican party in the '60's, as you are doing today. It ought to be good enough for you."

Things Women Should Know

(From the Journal of Fashion.)

"At this season of the year the complexion requires better protection than is afforded by powder. Dissolve an original package of mayatone in a half pint witch hazel and you have a complexion beautifier that makes the skin soft, lovely, smooth and satiny. Gently massage face, neck and arms with this in the morning and your complexion will need no further attention all day.

"Any woman can keep her hair clean, light, fluffy and beautifully lustrous by dry shampooing every week or two, and at the same time avoid danger of catching cold from washing the head. Mix 4 ounces powdered orris root with an original package of therox; sprinkle a little on the head and brush through the hair.

"If pyroxin is applied daily with the thumb and forefinger to the roots, eyelashes will grow long and silky. Thin and straggly eyebrows will grow evenly if brushed daily with pyroxin.

"Embarrassing wild hairs and fuzzy growths are quickly and safely removed by one application of delatone. Make a paste by mixing powdered delatone with water; cover the hairy surface for two or three minutes; then remove, wash the skin and the hairs will be gone.

"Mother's Salve is an old-fashioned remedy for coughs, colds in head or chest, catarrh and sore throat. It can be purchased in prepared form from any druggist. It is easy to use and quick to act. The world never saw its equal as a household remedy."—[Advertisement.

A Resume

DEMOCRATS WILL HAVE FULL SWING

MANY CHANGES IN THE NEXT CONGRESS.

Future of the Democratic Party Depends Upon the Character of the Legislation That Will Be Enacted During the Next Two Years Regardless of Platform Pledges.

[New York Times:] Under the new apportionment the House of Representatives at Washington will have a membership of 435 after the 4th of next March; necessary for a majority, 218. The Democratic membership of the present House is 230, or twelve more than the necessary majority in the next House. The present Republican membership is 160, or fifty-eight less than the necessary majority in the next House. In the present Senate there are ninety-six members—Democrats, forty-four; Republicans, fifty-one, and one vacancy. Among the Senators there are forty-nine lawyers, four farmers, two manufacturers, two editors; sixteen public officials, and the rest are divided among the other gainful occupations, whether predatory or not, will be decided according to the muckraking disposition of the present-day mind. Among the Republicans there are a number of the Progressive, or Bull Moose sort, whose aim appears to have been the rejection of the political party with which they were identified when they were elected, and for whom it is responsible. In the present House there are 230 Democrats, 160 Republicans, one Progressive Republican, one Socialist and two vacancies. Among the Representatives there are 220 lawyers, fifty-eight public officials, seventeen bankers, three editors, seventeen farmers, ten manufacturers, nine journalists, one lecturer, three authors, one undertaker, and the rest. All of these men had some visible means of support when they were elected, except, possibly, the single teacher in their midst who probably got very little pay for a great deal of work. There are also "quite some" of the present members who have delighted to call themselves progressive, but nearly all of them were sent to Congress by one or the other of the great political parties, all, indeed, excepting Victor L. Berger of Milwaukee, the one Socialist, who has been defeated for re-election.

It is not an altogether new thing for the Democrats to have a majority in the House. In nine Congresses in the last thirty-seven years the Democrats have held the majority in the House. In the Forty-fourth Congress—1875-77—the party division was: Democrats, 168; Republicans, 107. In the forty-fifth Congress—1877-79: Democrats, 151; Republicans, 142. In the Forty-sixth Congress—1879-81: Democrats, 148; Republicans, 129. In the Forty-eighth Congress—1883-85; Democrats, 198; Republicans, 124. In the Forty-ninth Congress—1885-87: Democrats, 204; Republicans, 120. In the Fiftieth Congress—1887-89: Democrats, 168; Republicans, 153. In the Fifty-second Congress—1891-93: Democrats, 236; Republicans, eighty-eight. In the Fifty-third Congress—1893-95: Democrats, 220; Republicans, 126. In the Sixty-second Congress—1911-13: Democrats, 228; Republicans, 162.

There were practically complete Progressive tickets for Congressmen in fourteen States at the recent election, and sporadic cases in other States—250 Progressive candidates altogether. In Arizona, Delaware, Idaho, Maryland, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Mexico and Wyoming there was one Progressive candidate each. In Alabama, Minnesota, Oregon, Tennessee, Texas and Utah there were two Progressive candidates each. In Montana and Rhode Island there were three Progressive candidates each. In Colorado and Florida there were four Progressive candidates each; in Connecticut and Washington there were five Progressive candidates each, and in West Virginia there were six Progressive candidates. In Ohio there were 13 Progressive candidates out of 22; in Indiana, 13—a full ticket; in Kentucky, 10 out of 11; in Michigan, 13—a full ticket; in Missouri, 10 out of 16; in New Jersey, 13 out of 12, there being two Progressive candidates in one of the districts; in New York, 43—a full ticket; in Pennsylvania, 31 out of 32, and four Progressive candidates for Congressmen at Large, who were the same as the Republican candidates. In Illinois there were 27 Progressive candidates—a full ticket. In Iowa there were 7 Progressive candidates out of 11. In California the candidates were nominated at a primary election, and in some districts Progressives were nominated, but both Progressives and Republicans ran under the Republican emblem. In Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Dakota, Oklahoma, South Carolina and Wisconsin there were no Progressive candidates for Congress. In Kansas the Progressives were placed on the regular Republican ticket. In Nebraska the Progressives indorsed the Republican candidates in five districts and went it alone in the sixth. In North Carolina the Progressives and Republicans agreed on one ticket, but the Progressives nominated candidates in two districts. In West Virginia the Progressives indorsed the Republican nominees. Counting the candidates indorsed by the Progressives in California (11,) in Kansas (8,) in Nebraska (5,) in North Carolina (10,) in Pennsylvania (4,) and in West Virginia (6)—there were 294 Progressive candidates in the field. If they had all been elected the Progressives would have been able to claim a majority of 76 in the next House; but as a matter of fact there will not be more than 127 Republicans, counting both registered stock and half-breeds, or new strains, in the next House, and the Democrats will have a clear majority over all of 138.

INSIST ON MUNYON'S
Paw Paw Pills
For Constipation

Munyon's Paw-Paw Pills are unlike all other laxatives or cathartics. They coax the liver into activity by gentle methods. They do not scour; they do not gripe, they do not weaken; but they do start all the secretions of the liver and stomach in a way that soon puts these organs in a healthy condition and corrects constipation.

Munyon's Paw-Paw Pills are a tonic to the stomach, liver and nerves. They invigorate instead of weaken; they enrich the blood instead of impoverish it; they enable the stomach to get all the nourishment from food that it puts into it.

These pills contain no calomel, no dope, they are soothing, healing and stimulating. They school the bowels to act without physic. Price 25 cents. All druggists. —[Advertisement.

MISSIONARY, MADE BISHOP HERE, COMES TO VISIT.

Tells of Great Strides Made by Christianity in Japan and Korea, Where He Has Been Stationed for More Than Forty Years—Tendered Banquet.

"Japanese and Korean missions are in splendid condition and are continually extending the radius of their activity," said Bishop Merryman Colbert Harris, missionary prelate of the Methodist Episcopal Church in those two countries, who is passing a few days at the Westminster prior to leaving for San Francisco and Tokio.

"The people of the United States, who are the most liberal supporters of missionary work in the Orient, scarcely realize what is being done in Japan and Korea in the way of Christianizing the natives of those countries," he said. "In Japan the work is of much longer duration and the results are apparent in the men of prominence who are adopting the Christian faith. In Korea, however, the work does not extend over nearly so long a period. There are today about 50,000 believers in the Methodist faith and half that number are active members of the church.

"There are 7000 Koreans in the denominational schools and about seventy missionary workers in the Methodist territory, which comprises 2,000,000 of the 14,000,000 population. The Baptists, Presbyterians and other religions divide the remainder of the population, this having been found the most satisfactory method of procedure. We are pushing the medical work and there are two well-equipped hospitals in operation, one at Seoul, where there is also a college for women, the other is at Pyang Yang. Two new hospitals are under way, one at Wonju and the other at Haidju and two more are proposed as soon as these are finished and equipped.

"Seoul is headquarters of the Union Medical College and also for the Union Christian College, in which all denominations share in higher educational work. In Japan there are 20,000 Methodist Church members and the Sunday-school has a much larger enrollment."

Bishop Harris has many friends here. He was elevated to his present high dignity in this city during the General Methodist Conference in 1908. The honor was conferred on him in appreciation of his many years of successful labor in Japan, he having gone to that country more than forty years ago and having been the means of conversion of many of the famous men of the empire. He was for several years in missionary work among the Japanese in the Hawaiian Islands and in San Francisco.

Minoru Chinda, Japanese Ambassador to the United States, was one of the young men sent to this country by Bishop Harris to complete studies begun at home. After graduating from Denver University at Greenville, Ind., he passed a few years in the diplomatic service at home, and then was chosen for his present responsible position. The famous political leader, Prince Ito, slain by an assassin three years ago, was also a protege of the bishop. Many of his old friends and pupils live here. Japanese residents gave him a banquet last evening at the Federation Club.

Bishop Harris has been in the United States since last May, when he attended the general conference of the Methodist prelates at Minneapolis. Since that time he has devoted all of his leisure to increasing the funds to be used in extension work in the two countries under his supervision.

PHYSICIANS IN BANQUET.

Elect Officers for the Year in Annual Meeting—Dr. Dickson to Head Association.

One hundred and twenty-five members and guests of the Southern California Optical Association attended the annual banquet last night at Bullwinkler's cafe. Following the election of officers for the ensuing year, a short programme was given. Those members of the association elected: President, Dr. W. C. Dickson; vice-president, Dr. George Nicholson; secretary, Dr. Dewey Dalton Beebe; treasurer, Dr. C. H. Bell. Regents for the academy were named as follows: Mrs. H. L. Townsend, Mrs. F. H. Howenstine, J. J. Hill, W. H. Carrington, George O. Nicholson and Glenn Winslow.

Walking for Exercise.

[Health:] Walking, if properly and regularly followed, would become not only a restorer of health to many who at the present time are on the road to it, but also a source of pleasure. Let the arms swing if you feel like it, let the limbs, too; open the nostrils to fill the lungs, and the movements will lend a gentle electric vibration to the entire body, the result of which is the awakening of new life. Never take the lazy gait, as it makes one tired and produces no results. A little perspiration on the forehead may prove to be a blessing, not only in carrying effete matter from the body, but in bringing an increased supply of oxygen into the blood, putting the blush of health upon the cheek.

Perhaps the best time to walk is in the early morning. The air is then somewhat highly charged with the life-giving oxygen and the freest from the dust and smoke which rises later in the day. At this time, also, the mind seems to be free from worry and care, hence in the best condition to take in the blessings of freshness and health on every hand.

Literature Once in Fashion.

[Boston Herald:] While we are discussing literature—pronounced "literchoor," if you insist—let us note a fashion that was in vogue when Dorothy Nevill was younger. Her quotes, in the volume of her recently published, from a middle-aged novel: "All of a sudden the girl continued to sit on the sand and gaze on the briny deep, on whose bosom the tall ships went by, frightened—ah! who can tell how much joy and sorrow, how much lumber and emigrants and salt fish?"

The author, describing a fire, says: "A horse entirely consumed to escape, uttering horrible cries."

Still another told of a traveler after being perforated with bullets by bandits, was put into a limekiln, where he was roasted to a cinder; but he had strength enough to drag himself to a neighboring village and give information before a magis-

COON RAISING IN MAINE.

Big Fat Fellows Are a Coveted Prize of Hunters, Though the Sport Is Very Expensive.

[New York Sun:] In Maine growing fat raccoons is a by-product of raising sweet corn for the canning factories. Plump and weighty coons are next to the last crop harvested from the corn patch. The first is the roasting ear in the milk, the second is the glazing kernel for the cannery, the third is the green cornstalks or stover for the silo, the fourth or next to the last consists of a dozen or more coons to every acre of corn, and the last benefit comes in winter when the nutritious ensilage is fed to the hungry cows and converted into milk or cream or high-priced dairy butter.

The Maine raccoon is a compact and active bundle of sharp claws and teeth, of loose fur and diabolical cunning. In a fair fight, with no favor shown to either party, a raccoon will whip and send howling home in disgrace any dog of its weight that lives.

The season which the Maine farmers formerly set apart for hunting raccoons was during the full moon of October, partly because the stacked corn in the field held the sweetest and most nourishing nubbin ears of that period, but largely for the reason that all raccoons become more ravenous at the approach of biting cold weather, just before the time comes for them to den up inside of some hollow tree.

For chasing the coons fox hounds are by far the best dogs to employ, because their scent is very keen and their staying power is such that they will remain in the open for nights and days in succession, barking and biting at the roots of a tree with a raccoon comfortably stowed away among its topmost branches.

In the old days when hardwood timber was abundant it was the custom to chop down the tree in which the raccoon was lodged and enjoy for a few moments the cruel sport of watching by lantern light while the pack of dogs tore their fighting and struggling victim to shreds.

The increasing scarcity of hardwood timber, combined with the growing values of the coon flesh and fur, has caused a change of tactics in conducting coon hunts in Maine. However large the company of hunters may be, the number of dogs taken along is limited to two, or three at the most. Instead of felling the tree an active boy is sent aloft with a lantern to spy out the hiding place of the animal. When discovered the coon is often dislodged by shooting rockets into its place of hiding. Often the daring coon leaps twenty or thirty feet to the ground and gets away before the dogs can discover its track. As a rule these dramatic escapes are no more than temporary respites, for the coon invariably "treed" again further in the forest, when the conflict must be renewed.

It is not considered sportsmanlike for a hunter to try to shoot the coon when it is hiding in a treetop, though the difficulty of aiming in the uncertain light no doubt affords the best protection the coons could demand. It is even a worse offense against hunting ethics to climb a tree by lantern light and slay a coon with a close-range shot from a revolver.

The most desirable specimens are the large and weighty old raccoons, which are too old to take to the trees, but turn and fight the dogs as they come along in succession, the swiftest dogs getting killed or disabled first.

The average Maine raccoon when fat and not aged weighs from twenty to thirty pounds. The coveted fighters, which are too old and fat to climb trees, weigh at times forty and even fifty-five and sixty pounds. Though the outlay repaid in dog flesh and human endurance is enormous, the hunting party which captures one of these fighters has something to boast of.

New Way of Preserving Eggs.

[The Pathfinder:] A new process of preserving eggs, in connection with cold storage, is being introduced in France. It has the advantage that the eggs can thus be kept perfectly fresh for an indefinite time and when taken out of storage they do not deteriorate rapidly as regular cold storage eggs do. In eggs ordinarily there is a certain amount of air inside the shell and dissolved in the substance of the egg. This air, if left in, will cause the eggs to decay to a certain extent no matter what method of preserving it is adopted.

The new system, therefore, first gets rid of the air by placing the eggs in a vacuum. After the air has thus been sucked out of the eggs through the porous shell, carbonic acid gas and nitrogen are forced back into the egg to take its place. These gases act as preservatives, by keeping out the oxygen. The eggs are then sealed up in tin cans, when they can be kept for any period, in a cool place, the same as canned fruit.

The World's Death Rate.

[The Christian Herald:] Consumption is the most fatal disease; it is claimed that it carries off 200 out of every 100,000 of our population annually. Next comes pneumonia, with 195 out of that number; heart disease claims 135; diarrhoeal diseases, 90; kidney diseases, 88; apoplexy, 68; cancer, 62; old age, 55; bronchitis, 50; cholera infantum, 48; general debility, 45; inflammation of the brain and meninge, 42; diptheria, 36, and typhoid, 35. The world's mortality is said to be, seventy a minute, or 100,800 a day, or 36,702,000 a year.

WHAT'S A COPER? ONE WHO COPES.

"INSULT!" CRIES COUNSEL OF WITNESS SO NAMED.

Sultry Scenes Enliven Hearing on Espee Land Claims When Attorney for the Government Executes a Pun and Railroad's Expert Misunderstands It.

What is a coper? Is it an insult to be called one?

Attorney Lewers, for the Southern Pacific Railroad, maintained yesterday that it is and sparks fairly flew in the Kern county land cases when Special Counsel Mills, for the government, applied that supposedly opprobrious epithet to John A. Pollard an oil expert called by the railroad to assist in establishing its contention that the lands to which Uncle Sam seeks to revoke the patents are not mineral, as claimed.

The trouble started when Mills insisted that Pollard indulge in no speechmaking on the stand. This angered Pollard, and he replied that he was not making speeches; that he had none to make; he was trying to tell what he thought of the prospect for oil in the territory under discussion.

"You are not a speech-maker, but you must be a coper," said Mills.

"What is a coper" angrily inquired Pollard.

"I submit, that the witness is not here to be insulted by the representative of the government," said Lewers.

Pollard insisted upon knowing what a coper is, and Lewers demanded that the government attorney explain the "epithet."

"You said you had been sent to the Honolulu Oil Company, probably for the purpose of coping with the gas situation, did you not?" inquired Mills.

"Oh, yes; well that is all right, but I thought you meant something else," followed Pollard.

As a matter of fact, the Standard Dictionary does give another meaning for coper—a miner who does work in small lots, hence a petty dealer—but probably Mills did not have any such interpretation in mind.

In answer to further inquiries, Pollard declared that he had kept close tab on the oil situation in the Elk Hills from the day that the Honolulu well came in until the present time, and he would not recommend to any friend the investment of money in the hope of developing oil in commercial and paying quantities. The Associated Oil Company had a number of wells that flowed about 150 barrels a day, but he did not consider that a paying proposition. One well had been sunk by the Hart Company, to a depth of 4000 feet and no oil found. The Pyramid well had gone down 5000 feet, and while no oil had been developed, they had found some gas. The oil was not persistent in any part of the Elk Hills and a score of dry holes had been bored, with no results, he said. In nearly every instance where much prospecting had been done following the discovery of oil by the Honolulu company, the rigs and machinery had afterward been abandoned. Many deep wells had been sunk, but no oil found, and in instances where some was developed, the quantity was so small that the work did not pay, according to the witness.

A HUGE SEISMOGRAPH.

Largest Earthquake Recorder in the Country Set up in Museum of Natural History.

[Dallas News:] A big seismograph—the largest in this country, as far as its chief sponsor, E. O. Hovey, knows—has been installed since May in the New York Museum of Natural History, and it has been kept so secret that the city at large has not known anything about it.

It is in a room about fifteen feet square, off the big Eskimo hall, which opens at the rear of the big foyer of the museum. The first record of the new seismograph which has been preserved was of an Alaskan earthquake that took place at 3 o'clock in the morning of November 1. The seismograph needle vibrated then for more than an hour, and showed that the place where the earthquake originated was about 3500 miles distant. The record is now framed in a museum window.

The only person who has had the good luck to see the needle of the seismograph vibrate since the installation was a painter the other day. He was at work on the frame of the instrument, and, seeing the uneasiness of the needle, was sure that he had made some mistake and touched a sensitive part. So was Dr. Hovey until he saw by the papers the next morning that there had been an earthquake in Mexico, and then he knew that the painter had been a lucky man and the first to see the seismograph doing its duty.

Another interesting series of records that it has been making are supposed to be the sea waves striking on the rocky coast from Point Judith in Rhode Island, around to Cape Ann in Massachusetts. This is shown by the action of the big pendulum, marking the east and west component, while the north and south is little affected, the nearer seacoast whose vibrations the latter would register being that of Long Island, with its milder coast line and no rocks to cause the vibrations.

"A heavy windstorm affects the seismograph," said Dr. Hovey, "the pressure of the wind on the surface of the ground, and it is sensitive to barometic changes. The warping of the earth's crust due to the diurnal passages of the sun through the heavens produces an effect on the east-west component. On bright, sunny days the lines made by the needle on the smoked paper are spread apart in places and condensed in others, while at night, they are uniform and there is practically no difference in spacing on cloudy days."

The installation of a seismograph means much work. To get the movement of the earth free from the vibrations of the building, a wholly independent concrete pier was carried down to bedrock and cemented there.

PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT.

Orville Wright complains that America is behind other nations in making use of the aeroplane in warfare. Mr. Wright should bear with his country in its uninteresting peace.

SUPPRESSING IT.

A single copy of a little book of verse written by William Cullen Bryant, of which only five or six copies are known to exist, was sold recently for $3000. It was surely unnecessary to go to this expense to suppress the edition.

ON FOREIGN SOIL.

The American Bar Association will hold its next annual meeting at Montreal, Canada. They are welcome to go and we are not quite sure that they may not be welcome to stay. An American lawyer abroad is a pleasing prospect to contemplate.

A CAUSE FOR WORRY.

The United States Geological Survey is convinced that this country has only a little more than three trillion tons of coal unmined. As this supply cannot possibly withstand America's increasing rate of consumption for more than 4000 years, it behooves the inventors to get busy with their new fuel processes.

A PUGILISTIC PEER.

Dick Croker, ex-pugilist, ex-Tammany chief and ex-grafter, who some years ago carried his millions to Ireland, declines to accept the title of Baron Croker of Ballysloughguttery, Marquis of Stewartstown and Lord of Bullethead Manor. Dick declines a seat in the Irish Home-Rule Senate. He will not kneel while George swats him over his cabeza with the flat of a sword and says "Arise, Lord Croker."

The peerage in Great Britain must need strengthening when it invites Dick Croker into its ranks.

DELUDED LABORITES.

If there is any one thing that a union laborite loves to do more than another it is to give his hard-earned money to lawyers. At the last meeting of the carpenters' union a resolution was adopted levying an assessment of $1 a month on each member. This money is not to be devoted to the purchase of food for the families of the thirty-three convicted and imprisoned dynamiters. It is to go to the lawyers who, having utterly and ignominiously failed in their efforts to mislead Judge Anderson and hornswoggle the Indianapolis jury, will now—if they are paid for it—arise on their hind legs and make the Circuit Court of Appeals weary of life with their arguments showing that there were 123 objections which ought to have been sustained to the admissibility of any evidence whatever against the defendants, and therefore the judgments should be reversed and the dynamiters turned loose.

THE CANTEEN.

We can only presume that Gen. Wood and the majority of our army officers are the best judges as to the desirability of the canteen system for our enlisted men. At the instigation of well-meaning but uninformed reformers the canteen has been abolished and army statistics have proved beyond doubt that the service has not benefited by the change. You can never force any class of men into the paths of rectitude by hasty legislation, but you can always curb their propensities to exceed the bounds of common sense.

It is a noteworthy fact that, while the Prohibition party as a political power has been steadily losing ground during the last ten years, the cause of temperance has made giant strides. The feeling against overindulgence in alcoholic liquors has become so pronounced that no man in any walk of life can afford to lose his reputation for sobriety. Whereas, fifty years ago, a bon vivant after his second bottle could "sink in sight of port" and simply be a good fellow, today he would be shipwrecked in the estimation of his fellow-citizens.

The canteen was a strong restraining force to keep the private soldier from bibulous excesses. It acted on him as the sentiment against strong drink acts on all decent members of society. It did not debar him from one glass of beer, but it restrained him from the drop too much. It kept many decent fellows away from the bad influence of the cheap saloon and low dive. The soldier who never went beyond the canteen would probably never go beyond the limit of sobriety. Experience has proved this to be true.

If abolishing the canteen has thrown extra temptation into the way of our soldiers and has lowered the standard of the army, then by all means the canteen should be restored—at any rate, till the rising wave of temperance has gained further force; till by education and example and through public opinion drinking in the army has become too unpopular for any soldier to stand against it. Then the canteen will die a natural death. We need sober men for our national defenders and we demand the best system for producing them.

General temperance is bound to come, but not through drastic laws aimed against personal liberty of choice. The law is for those who deliberately choose the wrong. You may lead a voluntary abstainer to the bar, but you cannot make him drink. You may close the canteen against the drinker, but you cannot make him abstain.

JUDGMENT SUSPENDED ON CITRUS-CROP DAMAGE.

The writer has spent forty winters in this State and never experienced weather so bitterly cold extending so generally all over Southern California. The damage to the citrus crop is no doubt serious, but The Times suggests a suspension of judgment because nobody can come near guessing its extent now.

There are a great many facts to be taken into consideration. In the first place a large proportion of the crop may suffer, and yet leave behind a very substantial amount of good fruit that will bring large returns into the section. Another fact is that the orchardists are generally better prepared to fight the frost than back in the early history of the industry between 1880 and 1890 when spells of severely cold weather did great damage from which the growers learned a valuable lesson.

This is in a general way. But specifically we urge for suspension of estimates on this important question of loss because of the teachings of former years. It is not the freezing of the orange or lemon that does the great injury, but the thaw that follows. In a severe frost the fruit is contracted in size by the cold without necessarily bursting the cells and letting the juice run out. If the thaw is sudden and the expansion rapid and uneven throughout the body of an orange, the cells will rend asunder, the juices spill and the fruit spoil. If, on the contrary, the thaw is very gradual, giving the fruit an opportunity to recover its normal size slowly and evenly, it may come through without serious injury.

More than this; even when the thaw is so rapid as to disrupt the cells and spill part of the fruit at this very period, if there should follow copious warm rains and the oranges and lemons are left on the trees until well along in the season, they may fill up as full as ever with juice and may repossess themselves of all their original flavor or very near it.

This is not a theory, but a fact shown by former experience. The writer recalls an orchard of seedlings at Rivera which, after a severe frost and sudden thaw, was supposed to be ruined as to the crop. Some time following the cold spell there came an abundant, gentle, warm rain; and along in April or May a buyer looking for oranges (which were scarce) investigated conditions in that particular orchard and to the surprise of the owner found the fruit so nearly perfectly good that a deal was closed for the whole crop at profitable prices, and those oranges were marketed in the East to the entire satisfaction of all who handled them, including the ultimate consumer.

THE MULHOLLAND PLAN.

The City Council yesterday discarded the mature and carefully-worked-out plan of William Mulholland, chief engineer of the Aqueduct, for the distribution of the surplus water, and voted to submit to the voters a bond issue for the so-called Graham "high line," which contemplates the expenditure of six or eight or ten million dollars for a system to supply Pasadena and other cities to the eastward, whereas it is apparent to any level-headed citizen that these communities should bear this burden themselves if they want the water.

Mr. Mulholland's plan has often been described and is presented somewhat fully in other columns of today's Times. It will commend itself to thoughtful voters. Let Pasadena and other towns seeking Aqueduct water form an irrigation or canal district and issue bonds to pay for the special conduit necessary to supply them, not leaving it to Los Angeles to do the paying, as Graham proposes. Let the city, after having supplied its own wants and those of the territory immediately contiguous to the Aqueduct line, offer to sell surplus water to the Pasadena and Glendora people at a price which will tempt them to buy it. Mr. Mulholland has always contemplated the sale of all the surplus to territory that ultimately would become annexed to Los Angeles, so that Los Angeles would not really part with any of the water. Compared with this far-seeing proposition, how indefensible and ridiculous the Graham plan appears!

The City Hall ring proceeds upon the assumption that the city may bond itself to any amount, without worrying as to the payment of the bonds or giving heed to the fact that there is such a thing as bankruptcy. But the day of reckoning must come and Los Angeles will be unable to meet its obligations if the reckless financiering of the Alexander and Graham crew is permitted to go on.

Los Angeles must begin the needed work of protecting her treasury, and a good beginning would be the defeat of Graham's extravagant and unbusinesslike project. It would be much more expedient and sensible for the city to sell surplus water at the lowest practical figure to a district which had built the needed conduit than to spend millions for a pipe line and vainly expect to reimburse itself by charging an exorbitant or fancy price for the water—a price which would find exceedingly few customers and would leave the $10,000,000 conduit a white and money-eating elephant on the city's hands.

JACKSON'S DAY.

Ninety-eight years ago today Jackson's riflemen at New Orleans defeated the trained veterans of Great Britain in one of the hardest-fought battles of the war of 1812. The fight was an unnecessary one, because a treaty of peace had already been signed. But the combatants did not know it, for there were no telegraphs or railroads or steamboats in those days.

Andrew Jackson personally disliked England. When he was 14 years of age he participated in the Revolutionary War and was taken prisoner by the British. His boyish comments displeased his captors and he was severely treated by them. Three years after the battle of New Orleans, while in command in the campaign against the Seminoles in Florida, he seized Pensacola, where, for good cause, he arrested and executed two British subjects, Alexander Arbuthnot and Robert Ambrister. Their arrest was the subject of much hostile comment both in Congress and in Parliament, but before England could arrange to "arbitrate" the question of their release they were released by Jackson as hereinbefore stated.

When Jackson became of age—
"His land was but a shelving strip
Black with the strife that made it free."

He passed away in June, 1845. Had he remained but five years longer it could have been said of him as of Webster:

"He lived to see its banners dip
Their fingers in the western sea."

Jackson's career as general, Senator and President was prolific of great events in which he participated. But he lives in American thought, if not in American history, principally as the hero of New Orleans.

The great battle of January 8, 1815, which is still celebrated in many States of the South as a national holiday, is regarded as marking the final extinction of British power and British pretensions in all the American continent between the great lakes and the Gulf of Mexico. England, by an illicit treaty with Mexico (made while that power was at war with the United States) endeavored to secure a title to Alta California. But when her warship sailed into Monterey Bay to take possession its commander found American flags flying on all the public buildings, where they had been placed but a few hours before by the American commodore, whose vessel raced into Monterey Bay half a day ahead of the British man of war. It was a race for an empire, although the contestants did not at the time appreciate its importance.

When the hero of the battle of New Orleans came prominently into politics as a candidate for President the United States was in process of transformation "from a primitive democratic society into a great republican commonwealth." The problem of political, commercial, or financial subjection to England had been solved utterly and forever, and we had entered upon the course of empire free from entanglements with England or any European power.

"Jackson's personality and name," said one of his biographers, "became a power on the side opposed to banks, corporations and other forms of the new growing power of capital. He was a typical man of his generation. He represented the spirit and temper of the American of that day. He accomplished one thing of great importance. He crushed excessive State rights and established the contrary doctrine."

Yet of all his achievements we identify him most with the battle of New Orleans. Today—

"The century shrivels like a scroll,
The past becomes the present."

And we watch the Kentucky and Tennessee riflemen under the American flag as they cause the banner of Saint George to trail in the dust.

Not that today we have any hatred or dislike of Great Britain. Her memories, her laws, her literature and her glorious history are ours as well.

"We speak the self-same tongue
That Milton wrote, that Chatham spoke
And Burns and Shakespeare sung."

In the present difference concerning the Panama Canal she can claim of us all that honorable men may ask, and receive from us all that honorable men may grant, and she "can have no conflict with us without being herself the aggressor."

GILLETT'S FAULT, WAS IT?

A weak and cowardly boy will try to throw the blame of his misdeeds and failures upon some other boy. Billy failed to do his stunt of splitting kindling wood because Johnny just made him play ball. Johnny neglected to weed the onion bed in the garden because Ikey coaxed him to play marbles. Ikey forgot to deliver the message with which his mother charged him because he had to watch the circus procession.

Most men as they grow up "shed" these boyish tricks of saddling the burden of their own misfeasances and non-feasances upon others. But there are a few who retain the tricks of their early youth. One of these few is our inestimable Holy Hiram.

Ever since California suffered the misfortune of the inauguration of Johnson as Governor he has been posing and strutting up and down the land as the originator and practicer of public economies which his telegraphic biographer no later than yesterday wired to our steamed Progressive contemporary were unequaled by former administrations.

And now it turns out that, in spite of the vaunting of Holy Hiram, there will be a deficit of between two and three millions of dollars during the next fiscal year, and that "practically every institution in the State is today crippled for lack of funds."

Hiram lays it all to "the taxation system that was inherited from the Gillett administration." He says that under that system it "has been possible for the big corporations in the State to escape their just share of the burden of taxes, and the small householder was required to pay more than his just share of that burden."

The failure of Holy Hiram's administration to make both ends meet was not the fault of that patriotic Progressive perambulator. It was Gov. Gillett's fault. Holy Hiram does not mention the fact that Gillett left the State treasury in a solvent condition, while now it is as empty as a last year's bird's nest. He attributes its emptiness not to his own extravagance and incompetence, but to the taxation laws enacted by former Legislatures.

Why did not his bloviating and bombastic Excellency cause those laws to be amended two years ago? He controlled the Legislature absolutely. A majority of the legislators would instantly and abjectly put their thumbs up and down whenever the gubernatorial Simon said "wigwag." Was the Governor so busy electing Works (for which act he has since shed tears of bitter anguish) and appointing his henchmen to office and looking up outside crooks like Glavis when no California grafters were available that he did not have time to formulate an amendment to the tax laws that would have made the present condition of the State treasury impossible?

Instead of saying "Gillett did it; I inherited it from Gillett; Gillett is responsible," why does Holy Hiram not face the music and say, "Well, I am, it is true, a great statesman, a great orator, a great Progressive, and a great Governor. But I am mortal. Once in a great while I slip a cog and exhibit myself as a plain, every-day, all-around ass, and this was one of my slips."

UNCLE WALT.

The Poet Philosopher.

They may prance around in Congress to and fro, as they pranced around in days of long ago; but the wild and woolly game never more will seem the same, since the voters put the lid on Uncle Joe. Oh, a stranger in the house will hold his chair; and a stranger at his desk will rip and swear; and the whiskers that we knew never more will be in view, someone else's bunch of hangdowns will be there. Oh, we'll miss that good old face with its cigar! And we'll miss the raucous snorting of the Czar! Though the legislative men may get milling now and then, they'll be shy their scrapping Henry of Navarre. And the Murdocks and the Norrises and those who were always reaching out for Uncle's nose, if they want to start a scrap must shake up a weaker chap, for they've lost the hardest hitting of their foes. Oh, the voters rose and exercised their power and they handed Uncle Joe a lemon sour; they extinguished all the light of the beacon on the height, and they paralyzed the watchman on the tower. Back to Danville and the dump goes Uncle Joe, and the zephyrs through his galways sadly blow; and though enemies declare that his proper place is there, oh, I kind o' sort o' hate to see him go!

The Victor's Vanishing Spoils.

[Leslie's:] When, a few weeks ago, Mr. Taft added a little over 36,000 fourth-class postmasters to the classified competitive roll of civil service and a little later 20,000 skilled laborers employed in the United States navy yards, he brought the total of his work in that direction up to a high figure. The civil service act was signed by President Arthur on January 16, 1883, near the middle of the Garfield-Arthur term. Here are the number of positions placed on the classified roll under that law by the various Presidents:

Arthur	15,573
Cleveland (first term)	11,057
Harrison	15,598
Cleveland (second term)	38,961
McKinley	3,261
Roosevelt	34,766
Taft (to October 16, 1912)	61,599

The Taft total includes the 36,332 fourth-class postmasters which were classified under the order of October 15, and the navy yard employees above referred to. The figures in the foregoing table indicate the number of positions placed on the competitive roll at the time of the classification, but each branch of the service covered by those orders, except that of Taft recently, has increased greatly since then.

SOUTHLAND RESOURCES.

Loss in Citrus Fruit Product Makes but Small Hole in Total Output of $250,000,000.

Even if the value of the citrus fruit products of Southern California should be cut in two in the middle by the freeze, the loss would make a comparatively small dent in the enormous sum total of the principal products of the Southland.

The value of the principal products of the eight counties of Southern California last year exceeded $250,000,000, a gain in one year of more than $40,000,000. The largest increase was in the output of factories, the figures being a certain indication that a substantial beginning has been made on an era of great industrial development.

Additional factories now in process of construction or contemplated will probably double the present output within three years. The introduction of cheap natural gas, the bringing of petroleum for fuel in pipe lines from the Kern county oil fields and the general awakening along industrial lines presage an industrial future for Los Angeles that will far eclipse all that has thus far been accomplished in that direction.

The increase in the production of sugar from $4,500,000 to $10,000,000 and a gain in the value of dried beans of $2,000,000 are among the more important items. Practically every product of the great agricultural districts surrounding Los Angeles has increased in quantity and value.

Following are the principal products of Southern California and their values for the year 1911-1912:

Asphaltum	$ 600,000
Beans, dried	5,040,000
Brick	1,650,000
Beer	2,500,000
Borax	2,500,000

THE MAN HIGHER UP.

[Michigan Tradesman:] Thirty-three men are now paying the penalty for conspiracy in the Los Angeles Times explosion, which resulted in the death of twenty men.

None of these criminals had any grievance against the Los Angeles Times. Gen. Otis had done nothing to arouse the enmity of the union ironworkers. He had incurred the ill will of the union printers, who had a long-standing grievance because he thrived and prospered in the face of their most malignant opposition—and the union printer does not hesitate to resort to any crime in the calendar, because the ironclad oath he takes when he joins the organization compels him to obey the mandates of his master without question or comment. During the trial of the dynamiters, one witness testified that, before the explosion, the head of the union printers' organization called on McNamara and stated that he had a "job" to be done on the coast and that McNamara offered to furnish the man if Lynch would supply the money.

Thirty-three men are paying the penalty of conspiracy to commit the Los Angeles crime, but the man who conceived the idea and furnished the money to put it through has not yet been indicted. The legal department of the government moves slowly, but it moves exceedingly sure, and the Tradesman confidently expects to be able to chronicle the apprehension of the real criminal—the man higher up—in the near future.

Confirmed for Rheumatism.

[The Living Church:] The Rev. Joshua Kimber, in his "Reminiscences," tells the following anecdote of the late Bishop Horatio Potter:

He had been journeying on the east bank of the Hudson River, stopping for confirmation each day at adjoining parishes. When he reached Poughkeepsie he saw a woman at the rail waiting for confirmation whose face he was sure he recognized and was somewhat familiar with. He was also certain that she had been confirmed within the week at another place. The bishop whispered to her to remain after service, and said:

"My dear madam, what do you mean by coming for confirmation? I am sure I confirmed you on Monday at such a place. Did I not?"

She said: "You certainly did. I have been following you up the river and have been confirmed every day this week."

He, astonished, said: "Why did you do that?" Whereupon she replied:

"Because I heard it was good for rheumatism."

The World's Death Rate.

[Christian Herald:] Consumption is the most fatal disease; it is claimed that it carries off 200 out of every 100,000 of our population annually. Next comes pneumonia, with 195 out of that number; heart disease claims 135; diarrhoeal diseases, 90; kidney diseases, 88; apoplexy, 68; cancer, 62; old age, 55; bronchitis, 50; cholera infantum, 48; general debility, 45; inflammation of the brain and meninge, 42; diphtheria, 36; and typhoid, 35. The world's mortality is said to be 70 a minute, or 100,800 a day, or 36,792,000 a year.

TABLOID GIRL SHOW FEATURE.

PANTAGES BILL OFFERS MINIATURE MUSICAL COMEDY.

Chorus Quality Concentrated in Ten Coryphees and Music Loses Nothing by Recalling "Erminie." Leopold Godowsky Plays Before Critical Audience.

BY HECTOR ALLIOT.

Vaudeville has a way of its own of finding what it wants, and one of its long-felt wants is filled this week at the Pantages. About the only thing that has not been reduced to tabloid form for vaudeville purposes is opera, which hitherto resisted the condensing process. Now Fred Ardath has applied the process to the operetta "Erminie," calling his resultant "The Two Thieves."

"The Two Thieves" is strictly modern, but that does not detract from the entertaining quality of the performance. Fred Ardath's success in getting away with a red-hot stove is an index to the remainder of the act.

Eighteen people, including an agile and unusually good-looking chorus of ten, appear in the act, which is said to be the first of a series of musical-comedy productions to appear on the Pantages stage at short intervals during the present season.

LeClair and Sampson are doing their usual act as the marvelous strong men and equilibrists. This burlesque of the over-muscled gentry is not new, but is still good enough to warm up the audience for the rest of the show that follows.

Margaret Bird and Company need just such an introduction as the comedy acrobats supply. The only thing wrong with the farce entitled "The Editor's Substitute" is expressed in the words "written by herself," in the subtitle. The story is not silly enough to be funny, and too silly to be serious. It is one of those pieces that defeat the would-be Warfields of vaudeville and lure them unfailingly to their inevitable fate.

Fields Brothers are masters of the good old clog and cymbal hard shoe dances. Gavin and Platt put over an act with more genuinely new and original repartee than has been seen in a single vaudeville act this season. While all their lines are not of the same high quality, and not all are strictly in good taste, they easily capture the blue ribbon in their class.

Muriel Ardmore is so pretty that her violin playing is more of a treat for the eye than the ear. It is more than a suspicion that the Muriel Ardmore of the violin is the Muriel Arlington of "The Two Thieves." As the Widow Washington of the musical comedy she is clever and winsome, and strictly in her part.

Godowsky Recital.

While the Lambardi Opera Company visited Redlands and presented there "Mme. Butterfly," the Auditorium was given last night to the only pianoforte recital that the distinguished pianist, Leopold Godowsky, will give in these parts.

This artist is not altogether unknown in Los Angeles, because he once gave here three concerts some twenty-three years ago when as a very young man he made his first western tour.

Since then things have moved and changed. Godowsky, who became on return director of the Chicago Conservatory, is now the head of the Master School for Piano at the Royal Academy of Music in Vienna. Very few of those who heard the promising young pianist in 1890 were present last night. His appearance can be said to be his first before Greater Los Angeles, he no longer recognises as the town he visited a quarter of a century ago.

Leopold Godowsky is not, however, somewhat nor venerable, as he was born in Russian Poland some forty years ago, but he began very young to play in public, and after several years spent in the United States and has remained in Berlin and Vienna for over twenty years.

In appearance he is a quiet, studious looking man. He has believed for thirty years in hard work.

They say that in Chicago he used to teach seven hours and practice seven daily, and that his neighbors threatened to move from the vicinity of the conservatory. He has kept extraordinary practice for years. But these happy days in Chicago a giant piano has been discovered, and its inventor has entered the pantheon of human benefactors.

Godowsky presented last night a remarkable programme of great length and diversity, embracing works by Beethoven, Mendelssohn, Brahms, Chopin, Liszt and Rameau, Scarlatti, Schumann, Brahms, Chopin, Liszt and Godowsky marshalled in four parts.

His first number was Beethoven Op. 31 (B Flat) in three movements: Les Adieux, L' Absence, Le Retour, to be played with consummate musical skill and clearness. The second part was composed of lighter numbers than the first, which included Mendelssohn, Mendelssohn and Brahms; pleased to please, specially one of the largest audiences we have seen at a piano recital, here.

The six numbers of that second division were one his own compositions, a melodious and somewhat colorful, followed by Corelli's Pastorale, by Rameau and two minor numbers.

Part III was given to Sonata, in B Minor) No. 35 of Chopin, in four movements rendered with the same prowess, the same exacting technique of years of constant practice.

"An Irish d'une source" and "concerto" (F Minor)" both by Liszt were given with much greater felicity of interpretation and more brilliancy. The last number was a Godowsky morphosis of Strauss' "Symphonie metamorphoses of Kuenstlerleben" the Strauss much diluted and considered harmless.

While Leopold Godowsky is a finished technician of great merit and has a beautiful clearness of tone addicted scholastic, he is unfortunately a cold build and disposition, sweet, sympathetic, but lacking in fire and brilliancy.

With more steam and temperament said a well-known musician, "he would be a great artist."

The Lambardi company will present "Aida" in matinee today and Tosca, this evening.

Thursday afternoon at the Majestic theater, at 2 p.m., will make the first of the series of recitals for the new year given by the Egan School of Music and Drama. This promises to be a most interesting recital, as it will be given by the faculty members of the school only, and will include such artists as Edith Lillian Clark, Alfred Thomas, Taylor Drill, Florence Ames, Frank Adelsmann, Brahm Egan, Boyle and Frank C. The artist is not altogether unknown in Los Angeles, because he has given here three concerts some twenty-three years ago when as a very young man he made his first western tour.

Since then things have moved and Leopold Godowsky, who became on leaving director of the Chicago Conservatory, is now the head of the Master School for Piano at the Royal Academy of Music in Vienna. Very few of those who heard the promising young pianist in 1890 were present last night. His appearance can be said to be his first before Greater Los Angeles, he no longer recognises as a city he visited a quarter of a century ago.

Leopold Godowsky is not, however, quite so venerable, as he was born in Russian Poland some forty years ago, but he began very young to play in public, and after several years spent in the United States and has resided in Berlin and Vienna for many years.

In appearance he is a quiet, studious looking man. He has believed for many years in hard work. He says that in Chicago he used to work hours and practice and that his neighbors used to move from the vicinity of the conservatory. He has kept extraordinary practice for years. But in those happy days in Chicago a concert piano has been discovered, which is the inventor has entered the realms of human benefactors.

Yesterday presented last night a recital programme of great length and character, embracing works by Bach, Mendelssohn, Brahms, Rubinstein, Chopin, Liszt and Godowsky, marshalled in four parts.

The first number was Beethoven Op. 31, No. 3 (in three movements: Les Adieux, L'Absence, Le Retour, followed in four parts.

The second was Chopin, in four numbers rendered with the same exacting technique and power of contrast practice.

The "Etudes symphoniques" and "concert (F Minor)" both by Liszt were given with much greater felicity of execution and more brilliancy.

The last number was a Godowsky arrangement of Strauss' "Symphonic Metamorphosis of Kuenstlerleben" which, while much diluted and

Leopold Godowsky is a musician of great merit and a masterful virtuoso of tone adroitness, he is unfortunately lacking in the divine spark and disposition, sweet, but lacking in

Under the steam and temperature of a well-known musician, "he is a great artist."

The second concert will be given Friday evening when Puccini's Tosca, this

At 3 p. m. Sunday afternoon at the Majestic Theater will make the first of recitals for the season given by the Egan School of Dramatic Art. This promises to be a most interesting recital, as it will be given by the faculty members of the school and will include such well-known artists as Lillian Clarke, Alfred Hickman, Victor Drill, Florence Applegate, Graham Brown and Frank C. Egan.

The number was arranged this series of recitals to interest the public in the work of development along educational lines, and to further his plans, he requests the co-operation of all those interested in the study of music and drama.

One of the souvenir programmes of the Mission Play, San Gabriel, has been forwarded to the King of Spain by his special ambassador, the Marquis de la Vega Inclan of Madrid, who recently visited Los Angeles and witnessed an afternoon performance of Mr. McGroarty's play as the guest of the author and ex-State Senator Reginaldo F. del Valle.

In his report to his King, the Marquis stated that the Mission Play visualized the work of the band of Franciscans whom an earlier King of Spain had sent to California, better than any mental picture he had been able to make from his own studies of the historical records. He had been instructed by Alfonso, the present King of Spain and a lineal descendant of the Kings who commissioned the missionaries to Christianize California, to visit the missions of California before returning to Spain. This, the Marquis did, but he found more actual information besides a vivid picture of the hardships of those early days in the pageant-drama at San Gabriel than he had been able to acquire on his tour of the missions.

Before his departure, the Marquis informed the directors of the Mission Play Association that if there was anything in Spain belonging to or associated with this early band of Franciscan missionaries which would add to the fidelity of the production, they should write him and he would gladly forward them.

Although in writing "Broadway Jones," George M. Cohan has departed from the path which he has heretofore followed, he has shown in the selection of the cast for this play that he is a firm believer in drawing qualities of beautiful women for straight comedy as in musical productions.

Of the twenty odd parts in "Broadway Jones," four require young women, and these are as attractive in appearance as they are excellent in their respective roles.

Edith Luckett, who plays the part of the business manager and bookkeeper of the Jones chewing gum factory, is a young lady of rare beauty. She is a former Washington society girl and made her debut on the stage five years ago. Her rise has been very rapid, as she is not only a very clever actress, but is also one of the most attractive of the younger leading women and for the reason was selected by Mr. Cohan for this role.

This will be the final week of the present Lyceum stock company and on next Saturday night the theater will close temporarily, with the last performance of "The Dairy Farm," this week's offering.

This decision was reached yesterday by Oliver Morosco, who at the same time announced a general reorganization of the company and policy of the house, that is as to the type of attractions.

The Lyceum will probably remain closed, so far as a stock theater is concerned, for about three weeks, during which feature motion pictures will be given every afternoon and every night.

The new company which Mr. Morosco will later install was selected by him in New York during his recent trip there and will be made up entirely of faces new to local audiences.

Yesterday it was announced that "Get-Rich-Quick-Wallingford" would follow "Nobody's Widow," the present attraction at the Burbank Theater. The play schedule was changed yesterday owing to the non-arrival of the material for the Wallingford production, and instead on next Sunday afternoon, the Burbank company will be seen in Paul Armstrong's romance of the west, "Salomy Jane."

This has heretofore proved an exceptionally popular attraction at the Burbank and will no doubt prove so again on the occasion of its arrival next week. "Wallingford," however, will follow "Salomy Jane."

Paul Armstrong will this morning read his new play, "The Love Story of the Ages," to the members of the Morosco producing company on the stage of the new Broadway playhouse. This new play will follow "The Fortune Hunter" and promises to be the most unusual offering the American stage has ever known.

Following the reading of the play the various members of the company will be assigned their roles and the rehearsals will begin Thursday morning.

THE FIRST MAN.

Recent Discovery of a Skull Indicates That Adam Was a Really Modern Settler.

[Baltimore American:] Adam has been shorn of his honors. But, after all the Hebrew of Adam is simply the word man, and, therefore, the name is not so much a mark of identity as the statement of fact with regard to the creation of the original of the race. Just where the human race began its career science has not been able to ascertain. But that it has discovered the first man in the evolution from the past it now declares.

The cave dwellers are made modern in comparison. The glacial age is shown to have been but an episode in the continuity of human inhabitancy of the globe, and the upward rise of the human from the animal is declared to have started in a distance so dim that only the finding of the Piltdown skull has served to throw light upon it. The skull, which was found in a tertiary deposit, makes him the Methuselah of fossil humans. If the skull belongs to the bones found in association with it, then one scientist declares that the possessor of the frame must have been, from the modern anatomical point of view, a monstrosity, and certainly the intelligence of the owner of the brain pan must have been little above that of the chimpanzee.

In fact, it is asserted that the individual must have had reason without speech. As it is probably the skull of a woman, the fact may be regarded as a refutation of those who declare that woman has speech without reason. But, entirely aside from the facetiousness bred of the easy guesses of the scientists from very fragile data, it may be taken as a fact until discovered otherwise that here is an extraordinarily ancient skull of either a human being or some form of animal not readily recognizable. As to the missing link theory and the belief that this skull is the missing link between man and monkey, the conviction is a harmless one, and, considered one way or another, it adds nothing to the present sum of human blessedness.

A Dozen Languages in One Store.

[New York Press:] At the entrance of a New York City department store is a placard announcing that twelve foreign languages are spoken by employees. These are French, German, Italian, Russian, Polish, Hungarian, Danish, Swedish, Norwegian, Spanish, Portuguese and Roumanian. Can any foreign store offer equal inducements in the polyglot line, to its customers?

How to Shed a Rough, Blotchy, or Faded Skin

(From Beauty's Mirror.)

This is what you should do to shed a bad complexion: Spread evenly over the face, covering every inch of skin, a thin layer of ordinary mercolized wax. Let this stay on over night, washing it off next morning. Repeat daily until your complexion is as clear, soft and beautiful as a young girl's. This result is inevitable, no matter how soiled or withered the complexion. The wax literally absorbs the filmy surface skin, exposing the lovely young skin beneath. The process is entirely harmless, so little of the old skin coming off at a time. Mercolized wax is obtainable at any drug store; one ounce usually suffices. It's a veritable wonder-worker for rough, chapped, reddened, blotchy, pimpled, freckled or sallow skin.

Pure powered saxolite is excellent for a wrinkled skin. An ounce of it dissolved in a half-pint witch hazel makes a refreshing wash-lotion. This renders the skin quite firm and smooth; indeed, the very first application erases the finer lines; the deeper ones soon follow.—[Advertisement.

Bright Idea.

LOOK IS BETTER THAN OVERCOAT.

Temperature Contrasts Are Comfort Bringers.

Map Indicates Weather Here and in the East.

Fifty Degrees Difference Favors This City.

A glance into the window of Ross R. Whitley's real estate office, No. 136 West Fourth street, will cause believers in mental suggestion to hastily unbutton their coats, discard their gloves and call for a glass of something with ice in it.

The display, a cleverly-constructed map in bas-relief, is calculated to give an instantaneous and altogether correct impression of intense cold in the Middle West and East, and of prevailing weather conditions in Los Angeles, which, by contrast at least, seem almost semi-tropical. The resultant mind-picture drives away any discomfort one may be feeling from a 30-deg. temperature.

The entire window is taken up by a reproduction of the United States in miniature, showing principal topographical features. Standing about like sentinels on various widely-separated parts of the map are thermometers, with prevailing temperatures painted in brilliant red.

East of the line of mountains dividing the favored Pacific Coast region from a more unfortunate portion of the universe, trains bearing their quota of suffering humanity from the land of ice and snow to the land of sunshine are seen plowing through huge snow drifts. All of them have their noses pointed toward California.

The ground everywhere east of the mountain ranges is covered with snow. Here and there toy representations of human figures, muffled in overcoats, uphold flags and other little emblems, which seem snapping in the frosty atmosphere. The Great Lakes and many rivers are shown with a coating of slate-colored ice.

Over Los Angeles a golden cloud, supporting two Cupids in the love God's usual attire, and steeped in sunshine, is floating. The thermometer under the golden mass registers 32 deg. The glance rests here after a jump from the Denver temperature signal, which proclaims 20 deg. below zero, and one signs in vast relief and wonders why it was a moment before, there should have been any bodily discomfort from atmospheric conditions.

A further survey of the thermometer sentinels brings out more startling contrasts. At Duluth, for example, the mercury is flirting desperately with the 24 minus mark, whereas in Pasadena 24 above makes it just right for a brisk walk through the orange groves. In Cheyenne one notes a 24 deg. below sign, and another indicating 28 above at Alhambra. In St. Paul it is 6 below and at Ventura 28 above. San Gabriel residents are feeling fine in an invigorating temperature of 28 above, while Michigan people are shivering in below-zero weather. In Dakota it is 20 below and here it is 32 above. Even in Kansas the mercury is dangerously near the zero mark, while in Glendora and neighboring towns it is up to 28.

Anyone with a grudge against the weather man should look into the Whitley window. Warm thanks to Providence for the privilege of living in favored Southern California will be the natural and inevitable result.

AD CLUB'S MEETING.

First of New Year Replete With Interesting Features—Future Plans Extensive—Lecture Tonight.

Two hundred and twenty-two prominent advertising men sat down to luncheon at Christopher's yesterday, to enjoy the Advertising Club's first meeting of the new year. The big feature of a programme replete with interesting events was the induction and introduction of new officers.

Ernest Ingold became president; Roger M. Andrews, H. L. Stilwell and Harold Janss, vice-presidents; William C. Adams, secretary-treasurer. In addition to these officers the new board of directors consists of C. H. Mann, S. W. Botsford, A. Carman Smith, E. K. Hoak, O. W. Leonard and H. S. Carroll.

In behalf of the membership R. L. Bixby, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Long Beach, presented S. W. Botsford, the retiring president, with a handsome diamond stick pin. Addresses by Botsford, Ingold, James R. H. Wagner, Roger M. Andrews, Dr. J. W. Brougher and A. H. Wilkins, the latter acting chairman of the day, held the members at attention for an hour and a half.

Andrews laughingly referred to the club as "an organization for the prevention of cruelty to easy marks," on account of its honest advertising policy, which it is enforcing at every point. He recommended that the club take a prominent part in conducting a bureau of free and reliable information of definite and intimate character for the benefit of new arrivals, who are brought to Los Angeles by the extensive advertising this city does abroad. He said the small industry would feel a great relief in being advised by those who had nothing to sell and no ax to grind.

Wagner talked of the value of service and illustrated its many standards. "It can be of no benefit to the merchant," he said, "to attract customers to his house if they are not properly served when they get there."

President Ingold made announcements of important propositions the club expects to undertake during the present year. The club has never before held so good a meeting as that of yesterday.

This evening the club will give its third illustrated lecture of the course on advertising, which it is presenting under the auspices of the Educational Committee, in the Y.M.C.A. auditorium. The subject is "Retail Advertising Successes," which was compiled by S. Roland Hall, principal of the College of Advertising and Salesmanship of the International Correspondence Course. It will be delivered by William G. Adams, advertising manager of Coulter's.

DISCRIMINATION CHARGED.

Commissioner Thelen of the State Railroad Commission will preside at a hearing in this city on the 25th inst. of the evidence in the case of James P. Glass against the Del Mar Water, Light and Power Company. It is alleged in the complaint that the corporation has been guilty of discrimination in that it has refused to supply water to Del Mar Heights.

TO CHANGE BOUNDARY.

Government Engineers Will Cut Desert Lands Out of Angeles National Reserve.

L. A. Barrett of San Francisco, Assistant District Forester, accompanied by Supervisor Charlton of the Angeles Reserve, and a party of surveyors, left yesterday to run a new and different line along the northern boundary of the forest between Little Rock and Hesperia.

Under recent orders from the Agricultural Department an effort will be made to detach from the national reserve thousands of acres of land that are not suitable for forest purposes. It is believed the lopping-off process along the Angeles Reserve will amount to several thousand acres. The territory affected in this instance will be the northern slope of the San Bernardino Mountains, lands that are desert in their characteristics.

The work is a part of the general plan of Congress to utilize for agricultural purposes all the public land possible, and the classification scheme just commenced by the government is along the same lines. The amount of land in the Angeles Reserve is approximately 1,250,000 acres, but most of this is either not available for agricultural purposes, or has already been taken possession of by settlers under various acts of Congress.

INCREASED DEMURRAGE.

New Interstate Rate Expected to Result in Earlier Release of Freight Cars.

Freer movement of freight cars is foreseen by railroad officials as a result of the increase of interstate demurrage charges from $1 to $2, effective Monday last. The interstate rate has been $2 for some time, but until yesterday a car in interstate service might be detained twenty-four hours for $1. It is believed the new charge will result in speedier release of cars by shippers.

"The new charge should be productive of much good," said C. J. Balch, assistant to General Manager Nutt of the Salt Lake Route, yesterday, "particularly as interstate shippers will be encouraged to get their shipments in and out of cars in a minimum of time. This will mean that we can get a maximum of service out of our equipment and should also make car shortages less frequent than they have been."

Alarmed.

SACKS HIMSELF IN DEATH CAGE.

SHUFFLES OFF MORTAL COIL BY CLOCKWORK.

"Patent Applied For" the Last Joke Perpetrated by Man Who Ingeniously Commits Suicide. Despondency Over Separation from Wife Believed the Cause.

O. D. Comber committed suicide early yesterday morning in a most designing and remarkable manner, by inhaling gas after he had placed his head, encased in a cloth sack, inside a box which somewhat resembled an infernal machine. The box was so equipped with a clock and other mechanism, that when the alarm on the timepiece went off, it released a weight that prevented a flow of gas through the rubber hose. On the top of the box, in blue lead pencil, Comber had written the ironical sentence:

"Patent applied for."

The box was only large enough to comfortably hold the man's head. He had so wrapped the sack around his head and neck as to prevent much gas escaping into the room. So compactly did the sack fill the aperture through which Comber had thrust his head, that it did not take him long to lose consciousness, because he got the full effect of the gas. Death, it is said, must have resulted in a few minutes.

From the position in which Comber's body was found on the bed, it is thought that after setting the alarm to go off in a few minutes, he placed his head inside the box and waited for the gas to be automatically released by the clock.

Despondency over a recent separation from his wife is said to have prompted Comber to take his life. He was 40 years old and lived at No. 1611 Palm avenue. He was a plumber and owned a shop at No. 6704 Hollywood boulevard. Comber left a note for his wife, which will be delivered to her when she can be located by the Coroner. The body was removed to the Strothers' mortuary, Hollywood.

JUDGMENT IS ASKED.

Echo of Decision Affecting California Development Company Heard in Federal Court.

An echo of Judge Bordwell's decision affecting the claims against the California Development Company was heard in the United States District Court yesterday with the filing in the clerk's office by the New Liverpool Salt Company, of an action against the company and W. H. Holabird, receiver, for $458,247.13 judgment.

The bill recites that on December 13, 1909, the Superior Court of Imperial county in an action which had the Title Insurance and Trust Company as plaintiffs, the California Development Company, the Southern Pacific Railroad, the Inter-California Railway Company, New Liverpool Salt Company, A. N. Jones, M. H. Holland, C. R. Rockwood, W. T. Hefernan, A. J. Flores, R. T. Perry, F. G. Blaisdell and others as defendants, and Boaz Duncan, intervenor, appointed W. H. Holabird receiver. It is further alleged that, so far as the orators are concerned, the order appointing Holabird is void and of no effect.

It is also alleged that on January 10, 1908, in an action in which the New Liverpool Salt Company was plaintiff and the California Development Company one of the defendants, the Circuit Court of the United States entered judgment against the California Development Company for $456,746.23 damages, and $1500.90 costs, and interest upon these amounts at the rate of 7 per cent. after the rendition of the judgment.

This order has never been modified or set aside, the complaint states, but is now a final judgment against the property of the California Development Company.

Last Monday the Superior Court made an order granting leave to the salt company to commence an action upon the judgment.

Only One Way To Stomach Health

Eat Three Meals a Day and Let Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Digest Them. The Stomach Soon Recovers After This Brief Rest.

The very worst thing you can do is to starve yourself to overcome stomach misery. Make your meals just as comprehensive as possible. Use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets freely for a while and all traces of stomach trouble will be gone. Dieting is a fallacy. The intensive farming and gardening of the present day forces such quick results that our dietary is lacking in the quantity of flesh-forming elements of former days. Thus we get a surplus of starch; meats are often despoiled of much of their nutritive quality; the soil is depleted of the amount of vegetable salts it ought to have. We do not obtain the natural ripened fruits and vegetables, hence the stomach requires assistance to digest an overabundance of fibrous material and take care of fruit acids that Nature had no chance to convert into grape sugar. So we need more pepsin than the system can supply, more diastase, more of the natural tonic and preservative properties which ripened vegetation should give us. This deficiency is made up in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and is the only way to have stomach health under modern conditions.

Try just one box and you will never want to be without this wonderful remedy for stomach troubles. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain an ingredient, one grain of which will digest 3000 grains of food. They are so entirely harmless because they have absolutely no effect on the system one way or another except to do just the one thing—digest food.

Every drug store sells and recommends Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. The price is 50 cents per box.—[Advertisement.

Bright Detective to Enlighten Alleged Darkness of Wet-or-Dry Campaign at San Pedro.

Although the examination into the recent wet-dry election at San Pedro is no longer being pursued as an end in itself, Detective Bright of the District Attorney's office is busy looking into the general election there and it is possible that fraud will be unearthed.

The drys, who lost the election, made a complaint originally, that some wets had voted out of their precincts and that the steamer Harvard had been brought to port especially to vote her crew for the wets. Bright finds no merit in this latter contention ;and since the wet-dry election was merely a kind of straw vote, in which only San Pedro took part, leaving out the remainder of the city, he has confined his energies to the general election questions.

COMPOSER'S LAST NOTE.

Author of Cantata "Queen Esther" Passes Away at Home of Son Here. Funeral Today.

Prof. R. W. Seager, composer of the cantata "Queen Esther," at one time associated with Arctic Explorer Kane in the lecture field and known among musical people all over the country, is dead at the residence of his son, Frank W. Seager, No. 1177 East Thirty-fifth street. Funeral services will be held over the remains at the Cunningham and O'Connor chapel, No. 1031 South Grand avenue, at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Prof. Seager was 82 years of age. He was one of the pioneers of St. Paul, Minn., in the '50's and later sang with Philip Phillips, finally settling in Boston, where "Queen Esther" was produced by him. For many years the professor lived here with his son. Mrs. F. H. Lloyd, a daughter, also resides here.

The body will be sent to St. Paul, today, for interment in the family plot.

FOUR BURGLARS PILLAGE HOME OF THIEF-CATCHER.

Valuable Jewels Taken in Raid While Owner Is in Downtown Cafe Enjoying Himself—Officer Sets Himself the Task of Catching Men Who Clean Him Out.

Detective Sergeant J. C. Chapman assigned himself yesterday an unparalleled case in the criminal annals of his department, solving the mystery of who ransacked his own house, No. 1716 Kingsley drive, and recovering the large quantity of expensive jewelry that was taken.

The house was burglarized about 6 o'clock Monday evening. The detective and his wife were dining in a downtown cafe at the time. They did not learn of their loss until they returned home about 10 o'clock.

Four men, 18 to 25 years old, are suspected of the crime. Two served as lookouts, remaining on the outside, while others ransacked almost every room in the house. The men gained entrance by first cutting the screen on an outer back door, and then turning the key in the inner door with a pair of nippers.

Neighbors noticed two men loitering on the outside of the Chapman residence for about three-quarters of an hour, but did not suspect anything until they saw two other men leave the house by the rear entrance. Then they notified the University Station that they thought the Chapman residence had been burglarized.

The robbers did not take about $1000 worth of cut-glass and rugs that adorned the dining-room and parlor. In the jewelry was a gold watch that Sergt. Chapman had carried almost daily for twenty years. Monday he left it at home. In the back of the case was a photograph of his daughter taken in a fez when she was three years old.

"I would not have taken $50 for that picture," said the detective yesterday.

Following is a description of the jewelry taken: Seven-stone opal stick pin, coral stick pin, pearl cluster stick pin, gold British coat of arms stick-pin, crescent pearl and forget-me-not brooch, brown and white cameo brooch showing number of small figures, amethyst and pearl lavalier, amethyst acorn patern lavalier, two pair of pearl and gold opera glasses, one with lorgnette; large square-cut woman's amethyst ring, gold cross set with a number of pears, two sterling silver match cases, man's fifteen-jewel Elgin watch, woman's engraved watch, overcoat, half a dozen pairs of silk hose, two dozen handkerchiefs, two pair of new gloves and a quantity of ties.

PORTLAND (Or.) Jan. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The movement for a special appropriation from the Legislature to establish a permanent exhibit to represent Oregon at the Panama-California Exposition in San Diego, was indorsed by the board of trustees of the Portland Chamber of Commerce in its meeting today. This action on the part of the Chamber of Commerce, although independent of the campaign of the Royal Rosarians, who recently visited San Diego and pledged themselves to such movement, will have a similar effect, and is probably the forerunner of similar action on the part of many other commercial organizations in Portland and other cities of Oregon.

EUROPEAN LINES COMBINE TO GRAB PANAMA TRADE.

Coffee Importer of New York Admits Before "Shipping Trust" Committee That His Firm and Others Receive Rebates—Brazilian Government Agent Tells of Futile Efforts to Break Through the "Ring."

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—A system of deferred rebates granted by the so-called "ship combination" to shippers who deal exclusively with its members was described today to the House Merchant Marine Committee by a representative of a firm alleged to have received rebates for four years.

The testimony was given by Joseph Purcell of Hard & Rand of New York, one of the largest importers of Brazilian coffee to the United States, who said, for shipping its coffee exclusively by the Lampert & Holt line, the Prince line and the Hamburg-South America line, his concern is given a maximum rebate of 10 per cent.

REBATE SYSTEM CHARGED.

J. J. Stechta, New York agent for the Lloyd-Brazileiro line, owned and operated by the Brazilian government between New York and Brazil, had testified his company lost $6,000,000 in the last six years in attempting to compete with the "conference" lines. He further testified that his company had been able to get the trade only of one big coffee importer, and said that in his opinion the only explanation for this was the existence of a deferred rebate system. He acknowledged he had no positive knowledge of such a system.

Mr. Purcell testified the rebate system was started in 1908 and, with modifications in 1909 or 1910, existed today. The contracts, he said, were signed in Brazil, and the printed forms for claims for rebates sent to the London agencies for allowance. His competitors, Mr. Purcell said, got the same rebates if they signed the contracts. The witness said he believed the rates were reasonably just, because the contracts permitted shippers to charter a vessel to carry the coffee if such a charter could be procured, at 10 cents a bag less than the "conference" rate available.

DECLINE LOWER RATE.

Mr. Stechta had told the committee that the "conference" lines had raised the rate since October, 1912, from 40 to 50 cents a bag, but that an offer by his line to Hard & Rand to carry their coffee for 26 cents a bag had been declined.

When Chairman Alexander of the House committee asked Mr. Purcell to explain this, the witness testified that had the offer been accepted this concern would have lost their deferred rebate only to get a service that would not have been satisfactory.

"In addition, the 'conference' lines would have refused to carry your coffee from Brazil to Europe," suggested Representative Thayer.

"They could have done that if we had broken their contract," was the reply.

Charges of a war against United States commerce in South America, combinations of European-owned steamship lines to divert American business to European ports and of the operation of the alleged "shipping trust" to drive out independent steamship lines were made by Sidney Storey of New Orleans, one of the organizers of the Pan-American Mail line.

The Oil Industry.

NEARLY HALF OF NATION'S YIELD.

Output Declines in Eastern Fields.

Gain in California Offsets Losses.

State Produces Forty Per Cent. of Total.

An output of approximately 90,000,000 barrels of crude oil for 1912, not only has placed California in a position of absolute pre-eminence as an oil-producing section, but also offset the decline in the eastern fields, so that the oil yield of the United States was very little less than in 1911. With the world's consumption of oil aggregating 1,000,000 barrels a day, of which the United States supplied almost two-thirds, production of petroleum in this country in 1912 was 220,000,000 forty-two gallon barrels or about 250,000 barrels less than in 1911.

According to David T. Day of the United States Geological Survey the eastern oil fields, as a rule, declined in production because it was impossible to keep up with the great output of 1911 without large additional discoveries of new pools in the older fields. In all fields except those of California and the Gulf of Mexico there was a steady drain on accumulated stocks during the year so that from a total of 81,789,290 barrels—over half a year's output—on January 1, the stocks declined to 69,000,000 barrels at the end of the year.

While the production was less the rising price of the product last year increased its value markedly. Last year's output was valued at $150,000,000, an increase of about $16,000,000 over 1911. Prices advanced so greatly as to stimulate drilling even in the old New York and Pennsylvania fields.

A feature tending to strengthen the position of oil in the United States was the decrease of about 16,182,000 barrels in the production in Russia. Roumania increased its output slightly.

Ten years ago California produced between one-sixth and one-seventh of the total output of petroleum in the United States, her output amounting to less than 14,000,000 barrels a year. Last year more than 40 per cent. of the total production came from California. The State has in a large degree been responsible for the growth of the country's output during recent years.

Apparently the State is only just entering its greatest era as an oil-producing district, and as a great wave of development is likely to sweep over the fields during this and coming years it seems certain that in one or two years California will be producing half the output of the country.

If the increase continues at the present rate the gross output of the State will be nearly 100,000,000 barrels this year. With consumption gaining on production and bringing with it an increase in field activities there is every indication that the present rate will be more than maintained.

Advances in the price for fuel oil at the wells are expected during this year, because of the increasing demand and the promise of far greater need at the opening of the Panama Canal. This gives the industry a better outlook as a whole than all the other factors combined, and is believed to assure an unprecedented period of development.

NEW LOST HILLS WELL PROVES UP TERRITORY.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

WASCO, Jan. 5.—Considerable new territory has been proved up by the bringing in of the new well of the Standard Oil Company on section 9, 27-21, in the Lost Hills field. It was almost considered a wild-cat by many operators who were watching it closely before starting active drilling on adjoining properties, and has demonstrated that the high grade strata is much larger than was originally presumed. When brought in the well produced on the beam better than six-y barrels daily of thirty-six gravity.

There is considerable new work planned for the entire territory with every indication that this field because of its high gravity oil will receive much attention during the next few months.

To Abandon Holding.

MIDWAY, Jan. 6.—The old Midway Valley property in the Elk Hills owned by Dave Kinsey and his associates on section 12, 31-24, is to be abandoned and the rigs and drilling tools sold. The company was organized in 1910 at the time when the Elk Hills looked good to oil operators. It was capitalized at $1,000,000 with about 800,000 shares of stock sold. A. T. Jergins was president of the company, with B. Swadner, secretary.

Extensive arrangements were originally made for the active drilling of deep wells. One string of tools was operated for a long period but without results. The rig was erected for No. 2 but never used while the material has long been on the ground for rigs Nos. 2 and 4.

How to Make Better Cough Syrup than You Can Buy

A Family Supply, Saving $2 and Fully Guaranteed.

A full pint of cough syrup—as much as you could buy for $2.50—can easily be made at home. You will find nothing that takes hold of an obstinate cough more quickly, usually ending it inside of 24 hours. Excellent, too, for croup, whooping cough, sore lungs, asthma, hoarseness and other throat troubles.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, then add the Sugar Syrup. It keeps perfectly. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

This is just laxative enough to help cure a cough. Also stimulates the appetite, which is usually upset by a cough. The taste is pleasant.

The effect of pine and sugar syrup on the inflamed membranes is well known. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacol and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

The Pinex and Sugar Syrup recipe is now used by thousands of housewives throughout the United States and Canada. The plan has been imitated, but the old successful formula has never been equaled.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

HA—FOILED AGAIN!

Doctor Swears Out Habeas Corpus Suit to Get Himself Out of a Jail He Can't Get Into.

A writ of habeas corpus that apparently never can be served, lies disconsolately in the desk of Attorney Tom Johnson. It petitions Judge Willis to release Dr. G. W. Chester, optometrist, from the City Jail, or the County Jail, or any other place in which he may be held in durance vile.

Chester is the man who for a month has been trying fruitlessly to get himself arrested as a violator of a statute governing the practice of his profession, which he wants to test as to constitutionality. Johnson drew up his writ first to say that Chester was being held by Chief Sebastian in the City Jail, and that he must at once issue forth. That was when the City Attorney was being urged to issue a complaint against the doctor.

Then Johnson, foiled, erased the name of Sebastian and inserted that of Sheriff Hammel, who was supposed to have Chester in the County Jail. But Deputy District Attorney Joos followed the example of his city brethren and refused to issue a complaint. The writ is wearing wrinkles in itself and Chestel, still at large, is figuratively, making faces at the State Board of Optometry.

Johnson alleges that the statute governing the creation of this board is a vicious class of legislation. By its provisions the Governor appoints the board, each member to serve six years, and no optometrist may practice until the board has examined him and given him permission to do so.

"The law allows fat fees and mileage to the board," says Johnson, in stating why he believes it to be unconstitutional. "It permits restraint of the business by the option to use it diverts fines from the State treasury to that of the board, for violations; and it is class legislation because, by one clause, physicians and merchants selling lenses as merchandise are not interfered with at all."

GROWS FAT TOO FAST.

Detectives Become Suspicious and Find Out Man's Stuffing Himself on Stolen Goods.

Alfred Martinez, 24 years old, seemed to gain flesh so rapidly, but not uniformly, in a South Broadway department store yesterday, that the suspicions of Detectives Harris and Albert of the Harris agency were aroused. Martinez and his companion, James Gray, a white man 32 years old, were shadowed until they left the store. They were arrested and taken to the Central Station where three silk gowns valued at $100 were taken from under Martinez's vest.

Martinez was arraigned before Police Judge Rose on a petty larceny charge preferred by Detective Harris. He was fined $90 or ninety days. Gray is detained at headquarters on "suspicion." He has been identified by Captain of Detectives Flammer, so the latter says, as a hold-up. His record is being investigated.

TURNS ON THE GAS.

But Tourist Fails to Light All Stove Burners and He and Wife Are Almost Asphyxiated.

Ignorance as to the operation of a gas heater almost cost two aged tourists their lives yesterday morning when they were partially asphyxiated by the escaping fumes.

Harry Copp and his wife, each about 85 years old, arrived in the city yesterday morning from Norwood, Col. They went to No. 819½ East Sixth street, where relatives live. As the room assigned them was cold, the husband lighted the heater. It is thought he did not light all the jets. The couple lay down on the bed to rest. Copp was rendered unconscious by the fumes. The wife, who was made sick, staggered into the hall and summoned aid.

Mrs. Copp lost consciousness en route to the Receiving Hospital. It was thought that Copp was dead when he was placed upon an operation table. By hard and constant work both were revived.

THE BUNNY-HUG TOUCH.

Negress Evolves Novel Twist to Popular Dance Which Police Are Much Opposed to.

A "bunny hug" by a negress cost Gus Johnson $35 Monday evening. As it is a new method of holding up a person, the detective bureau at the Central Station has sent out a warning to all persons to guard against a colored woman who may approach them with the avowed intention of embracing them in public.

Johnson lives at No. 208 Winston street. At the intersection of Winston and Los Angeles streets, while en route home, he said he was approached by a negress who insisted upon giving him a "bunny hug." Before Johnson could side-step the woman's outstretched arms, he avers, she had him folded tight in a fond embrace. After fighting the woman off, and walking a short distance, he discovered that his pocket had been picked of $35 by the woman. In the interim the negress escaped.

GIBRALTAR IS,—

The combination of thousands of men and women, hundreds of thousands of dollars, and the right principle of co-operation joined with experience, honesty and ability, operating in an unlimited field. Many people never become prosperous simply because they do not realize the important fact, that MONEY REALLY WORKS. To be useful and to perform its best function money must work so that it will beget more money, when money is saved and employed for a definite purpose it becomes the most constructive agency of human progress. This is the sum and substance of all investment.

Safety and Earning Power

Land is the keystone of safety. Gibraltar's earning power is from the development of land and the growing of trees. From the seed beds and propagating plants to the nurseries, from the nurseries to the land, from the land to the bearing orchard. The economy effected from these many operations under one organization with one selling cost, increases the dividend paying power of Gibraltar. The careful investment of the funds of this company in land and growing trees by an experienced and capable directorate is rapidly increasing assets and IS THE POWER BEHIND THE EVER INCREASING VALUE OF THE SHARES WHICH ARE TODAY INTRINSICALLY WORTH 20 CENTS EACH.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

Pasadena.

BEAUTY CHASES AUTO THIEVES.

Stirring Race on Pasadena's Crowded Streets.

The Official Chasm Is Deepened and Widened.

City Council Does Not Appreciate Lower Rates.

PASADENA, Jan. 8.—Miss Margueretta de Silva, a handsome young woman of this city, yesterday afternoon picked up Patrolman Harris, and in an immense touring car that she drives herself, gave chase to two youths who, it is alleged, attempted to steal the automobile of Dr. E. G. Mattison of No. 535 South Pasadena avenue. Dr. Mattison himself, who was also in pursuit in another car, with the assistance of Edward Carrigan, captured the boys, but it was not because Miss De Silva did not drive fast enough.

"They are stealing that automobile!" she exclaimed as she rushed up to Patrolman Harris, who was at the Colorado street and Raymond avenue crossing. "Would you like to go after them in my car?"

The car was at the curb and the policeman lost no time in getting in. Miss De Silva took the wheel.

"May I speed?" she asked. "May I exceed the speed limit?"

"Sure. Go to it," replied the astonished officer.

Miss De Silva turned west on Colorado street to Fair Oaks avenue, down which the boys had gone with Dr. Mattison's car, and then went south on Fair Oaks avenue to Central Park. Here she overtook Dr. Mattison and Carrigan, who had the culprits in hand. She drove the car so fast that, although the distance was several blocks, the policeman had barely time to take his handcuffs from his pocket. The time was 2:10 o'clock and the streets were congested. The dexterity with which she steered won her applause from all who witnessed the incident. It is estimated that she made all of sixty miles an hour.

An instant before Miss De Silva gave the alarm to Patrolman Harris Dr. Mattison's secretary at his office in the Chamber of Commerce building, who stood looking out of the window, startled him by saying:

"Why, doctor, they are stealing your automobile."

Dr. Mattison rushed down the stairs, out of the building and leaped into his brother's (Dr. F. C. E. Mattison's) car, which stood by. It was in this that he overtook the boys who were hastening away with his own. He had considerable difficulty in getting hold of them, and one or the other would have probably got away, as they took to dodging around trees in Central Park, had Carrigan not come along in another automobile and got out and helped him.

At the police station the boys gave the names of Charles and George Harths, and their address as No. 513½ West First street, Los Angeles. They are 19 and 18 years old, respectively. Their only comment was that they had merely started out for a ride in the car. Both were locked up in the City Jail.

With Miss Silva in her car were Miss Gladys Taylor, Franke De Silva and Miss Victoria F. Collins. Miss De Silva did not wait for them to get out of the automobile, but took them along with her.

FRESH TROUBLE.

Another chapter was yesterday added to the perpetual and continuous dispute between the City Council and the Board of Education as to whether or not a permit shall be taken out by the latter for the erection of the Polytechnic High School.

Building Inspector Stevens ordered that all work on the buildings cease at once.

"It is just to gain a little more time," Mayor Thum said last night. "It was found that an adjustment of the difficulties would require more time than had been counted on. This action is just a temporary one. What will come in the future will depend on the future."

Asked if the members of the Board of Education will, after all, be arrested for building the Polytechnic High School without a permit, the Mayor said:

"I hope not."

AFTER LIGHTING COMPANY.

The City Council yesterday cracked its whip at the Southern California Edison Company by enacting an ordinance designed to keep the corporation from further lowering its rates in the city. Whether the municipal lighting department will lower its rates to those now charged by the Edison Company, Mayor Thum last night was not prepared to say.

Under the terms of the new ordinance, which has been adopted on first reading, there is but one way in which the Edison Company may cut its rates, if it so desires, and that is by showing the city by its books and by statements that it will be making a profit of 4 per cent. net on its investment at any proposed price that might be asked for electricity.

DISASTROUS FIRE.

A fire that totaled a loss of approximately $8000 occurred at 1:30 o'clock yesterday morning at the corner of Colorado street and Michigan avenue. For a while it was feared the entire neighborhood would be wiped out.

Victor Marsh lost a $1000 garage, an automobile and a tenthouse; A. C. Ong a barn and a chicken yard, and E. H. Ewing, a garage, a tenthouse and a shed. His house also was damaged.

The origin of the fire is unknown. The firemen fought it with might and main for nearly half an hour before they had it under control.

CITY BRIEFS.

Word was received here yesterday of the death at the Midway oil fields of Mrs. William Hofman Kobbe, formerly Miss Mary Catherine Mather, a prominent Pasadena young society woman. She went to the oil fields after her marriage. Kobbe, who is the son of Gen. W. A. Kobbe of No. 116 South Grand avenue, is employed there by the General Petroleum Company. The body will be brought to Pasadena for burial. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

City Engineer Van Ornum, who expects to tender his resignation, to become effective February 1, will probably be succeeded by Lester Gibson, formerly Assistant City Engineer. At least rumors to that effect were current yesterday.

It was announced yesterday that the Anti-Liquor League will not have a ticket in the field at the coming election for City Commissioners. Neither, declared S. W. Odell, the president, will the organization send any one to Sacramento to contest the ratification by the State Legislature of Amendment No. 10, regulating the sale of liquor in the city.

POSTAL BUSINESS GROWING.

South Pasadena Leaps to the Fore As a Place of Some Federal Importance —News Briefs.

SOUTH PASADENA, Jan. 7.—Report of business in the South Pasadena postoffice for the month of December, which has just been completed shows an extraordinary increase. The sale of stamps for the month totaled $2950 as against $1500 in December 1911, an increase of about 95 per cent., while the money order business for the same month showed a corresponding increase, $8050 as against $5300 for December 1911. The sale of stamps is far the largest ever recorded in the South Pasadena postoffice.

In point of total volume of business contracted, the month of November was the largest in the history of the local office. The combined money order and stamp sale receipts being $14,000. This record amount was caused partly by the fact that several foreigners sent large amounts of money to the old country.

Assistant Postmaster Smith states that the parcel post in this city has not been very heavily patronized, but as advantages are being found by the residents, a steady increase in the number of packages sent is noticeable.

NEWS BRIEFS.

The proposed conference to frame a city and county consolidation amendment, which was to have been held at Santa Barbara, Saturday, January 11, has been indefinitely postponed, owing to the lack of interest on the part of some of the larger cities which were invited to participate.

Paving between the Pacific Electric tracks on Mission street and Pasadena avenue is now being laid at the corner of Fair Oaks avenue and Mission street, and the engineer stated that the work would be pushed rapidly to completion.

Edward Rust of the Rust Nursery on Bank street in this city, is probably the largest local loser from the cold weather of the week, as many of the delicate plants are entirely frozen, and he is now busy putting up portable houses to shelter the rest of his stock. The thermometer registered lower last night than the evening before, going down to 19 deg. above. Icicles were formed and hanging from most of the fire hydrants in the city, some being three feet long and as many inches thick.

Frederick Gates, son of A. H. Gates on Monterey road, returned to Stanford today. He was accompanied home for his holiday vacation by Clifford Gates, son of C. W. Gates, and the two young men returned together.

NOTABLE CHARACTER PASSES.

Descendant of Alexander Campbell and Worker in Humane Causes Dies at His Home in Santa Monica.

SANTA MONICA, Jan. 7.—Oliver S. Westover, father of Mrs. Cynthia Westover Alden, founder and president-general of the International Sunshine Society, and himself an ardent worker in the society and the Good Templars, died here early this morning. He was 80 years old and had spent the last quarter century at Santa Monica. A descendant of Alexander Campbell, founder of the Campbellite Church, he also numbered among his ancestors some of the earliest colonial settlers. He joined in the rush to Pike's Peak in the sixties, there beginning his famous collection of minerals and curios. A widow and two children besides Mrs. Alden survive, Walter R. Westover of Los Angeles and Mrs. John Fraser of San Francisco.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Upon receipt of a communication from Chief of Police Ellis E. Randall the Board of Trustees last night raised the salary list. Petitions were received asking for street improvements in many sections. The residents of Fifth street ask to have their street paved and petitions were also received for Bay, Eighteenth, Nineteenth, Twentieth and Twenty-first streets.

Mrs. Fannie Lennox Kelley, mother of R. C. Prescott of the passenger department of the Southern Pacific, and Mrs. C. B. Finch, passed away after a short illness at her beach home. She was a member of the old English family of Peyton. The body will be sent to Salina, Kan., for burial.

At the age of 92, a pioneer of this section, Mrs. Julia A. Carey died at her home on Fifth street. The funeral will take place in Pomona.

A Masonic ball will be given at the Venice pavilion tomorrow night. Thursday and Friday nights Masonic installations will take place. The Eagles will observe special ceremonies tomorrow night when their new officers take the chair and the officers of the Fraternal Brotherhood will also be installed.

THIRD STORM OF THE SEASON.

Catalina Storm-Swept Is Enveloped in a Cloud of Dust and Debris From Mainland.

AVALON, Jan. 7.—A severe northeast storm has raged here doing considerable damage to the waterfront. Huge breakers crashed over both wharves and over the wrecked bathhouse, tearing out piles and strewing the oceanfront with wreckage. The launch Pearl broke from its mooring and was washed high and dry on the beach at the foot of Catalina avenue.

Several launches were swamped, two glass bottom row-boats were smashed to pieces. A sand-ladened cloud crossed the channel and was so thick that it became almost impossible to see or breathe. Never before have such clouds of dust been carried over the ocean and deposited on the island. Boatmen who were patrolling the waterfront at the time claim that the cloud contained bits of stick, paper and other sharp missiles which almost cut into their flesh. Owing to the heavy surf the steamer Hermosa was unable to land passengers at the dock. Several persons were brought ashore in lifeboats with the mail. The steamer arrived nearly an hour late after beating its way along the side of the island for protection. This is the third storm experienced here during the winter.

Long Beach.

HIS INJURIES PROVE FATAL.

Long Beach Boy Succumbs After Long Struggle.

Submarine Builders Indulge in Heated Fight.

Fresno Visitors Get a Touch of Deadly Ptomaine.

LONG BEACH, Jan. 7.—Death this morning relieved the suffering of little Melvin Glenn, the 7-year-old son of Mrs. Rena Huff Glenn, who was injured severely on Thanksgiving night, when the auto of his grandfather, Dr. M. B. Huff of Corona, crashed into another machine on the Long Beach boulevard and the entire party was injured.

The little victim's left leg was broken in the smash-up and he was also burned severely. He never recovered from his hurts and death is said to have been caused by inanition or nonassimilation of food, a condition arising as a result of the injuries. His mother is still confined to her bed and is practically helpless as the result of her injuries in the same wreck. The other victims are practically all recovered.

FIGHT OVER PROXIES.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Submarine Boat Company today was featured by a warm fight over proxies and resulted in the defeat of the Harvey faction, which is fighting the Cage interests because of a contested stock pool. The majority of the members of the pool met and decided to cast their strength to Cage and of the 583,000 shares of stock it was found that the latter controlled by proxy and otherwise nearly 500,000 votes. Harvey, who is the father-in-law of Cage, was deposed from the directorate and Howard Young chosen in his stead. The other directors are John M. Cage, Dr. J. W. Wood, E. S. Finney and Dr. G. M. Ruff. Officers will be elected later. It is said that the submarine just finished by the company will be given its trial trip the latter part of the week.

HUSKY BUDGET.

With a budget calling for the expenditure by the different city departments, exclusive of the water section, of $388,467.10, the report issued today by City Tax Collector Pillsbury proves a shock to the city officials. His receipts for the year 1912 amounted to $244,429.43, and receipts for the remaining six months of the fiscal year will be less than $50,000, or about $100,000 less than the budget calls for. The receipts for 1912 were $110,000 less than in 1911, due in part to a lower tax rate. The expenses of the various departments for the remaining six months of the fiscal year will have to be pared deep, and even then it is doubtful if the city can avoid a deficit.

CONFIRMATION.

Official confirmation of the award of submarine contracts was received today by the Craig ship plant, which is to build two of the vessels awarded to the Lake Boat Company. The vessels are to cost $650,000 and one is to be completed within twenty-four months and the other within twenty-six months. The Craig people have given orders for the material from the East and it will begin to arrive the latter part of March.

MASS MEETING.

The Progressive League, a civic organization of the city, fearful that the interest in the two charter liquor amendments may cause other charter amendments to be lost sight of at the election next Monday, have called a mass meeting at the Auditorium Friday night, which will discuss all the amendments except the liquor questions. Speakers who will open the free for all discussion are Mrs. Emma Greenleaf, Miss Jane Harnett, L. N. Wheelton, Dr. Sweet, Harry Riley, H. S. Pillsbury and Supervisor W. E. Hinshaw.

SELL ENTIRE OUTPUT.

Today the California Glass Insulator Company, whose factory is located here, signed a contract with the Pacific States Electric Company of San Francisco whereby the latter company takes the glass company's entire output of insulators for five years, which means the handling of $1,000,000 worth of the product. The glass factory is just completing another unit to the factory for the manufacturing of bottles.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Physicians were called in haste today and labored for several hours with the family of Mrs. C. Weyant, visitors from Fresno, who were suffering from ptomaine poisoning caused by eating sausages. Late this evening it was stated that all will recover.

Surgeons today made another unsuccessful attempt to locate the bullet in the body of Irma Smith, the little girl who was maliciously shot Sunday evening by an unknown boy. The little victim is resting easier today and strong hopes are now entertained for her recovery. Officers, accompanied by the girl's companions, are making visits to each school in the city in hopes of identifying the boy who fired the shot.

Horace S. Wakeman of Westport, Ct., today purchased a half interest in the Bentley Grand Theater lease and will assume the active management of the theater, handling road shows one or two evenings each week and vaudeville and motion pictures the balance of the week.

John Hutchinson, 85 years old, and a native of Pennsylvania, died this morning at his home on East Fourth street. He had been a resident of California seventeen years. The body will be taken to Pasadena for burial.

Mrs. Polly A. Pearson, aged 80, died this morning at her home on State street. She was a native of Illinois, and had lived in California twenty-two years.

INDICTMENTS DUE FRIDAY.

The Federal grand jury was in session yesterday, and considered a number of matters that have been before the body in one form and another during the term that will close Friday. On that date it is understood that a number of indictments will be returned, cleaning up the docket. The new grand jury for the term beginning next Monday will be drawn on that date, the venire being returnable about thirty days hence. The term trial jury will also be drawn at the same time.

12% for Your Dollar

We know YOUR AMBITION as well as you know it, because we are living in a day and age when the height of one's ambition is to be independent and OWN A HOME.

YOU MUST CERTAINLY BE INTERESTED IN YOUR DOLLAR.

YOU CERTAINLY WANT YOUR DOLLAR TO EARN AS MUCH FOR YOU AS IT SHOULD EARN.

YOU CERTAINLY HAVE MADE UP YOUR MIND TO BUY SOME UNIMPROVED LOTS, in a GOOD LOCATION, or a TRACT OF LAND, say FIVE, TEN or TWENTY ACRES, upon which you intend to improve and bring to a point of production whereby you can feel that you have a future independence—or you certainly must have in mind the purchase of a HOME, or to BUILD ONE, SOME DAY, SOMEWHERE.

THE CITY BUILDERS INVESTMENT COMPANY stands alone in a genuine bona fide CO-OPERATIVE, EASY INSTALLMENT SYSTEM, organized for the purpose of assisting the individual in placing his money where the largest possible returns can be obtained, and later applied AT WILL upon a HOME, or LOTS, or a SMALL FARM.

3% Paid January 1st

Have you read our pamphlet

"Who Is Who?"

in THE CITY BUILDERS INVESTMENT COMPANY?

HAVE you read our pamphlet entitled:

"YOUR DOLLAR?"

Should you have purchased stock in our Company during the last quarterly period of 1912, you would have received a payment at the rate of 12%, paid January 1st, 1913, on your investment in CASH.

Our next quarterly period of 3% will be paid April 1st, 1913, in CASH.

JULY 1ST, 1913, WE PAY 3% QUARTERLY DIVIDEND in CASH.

OCTOBER 1st, 1913, WE PAY A 3% QUARTERLY DIVIDEND; in other words, every three months we guarantee to pay a 3% quarterly dividend to the shareholders in this Company during the natural life of our charter, under conditions set forth in our guarantee in CASH.

ON MARCH 1ST, 1913, our stock WILL POSITIVELY BE ADVANCED to $1.25 PER SHARE.

ON MAY 1ST, 1913, our stock WILL POSITIVELY BE ADVANCED to $1.50 PER SHARE.

From that time on the stock will advance in value as our assets accumulate and increase in value.

12% GUARANTEED

You want YOUR DOLLAR to earn all that you can, safety, of course, being considered. IS IT DOING THIS? Have you concluded that, when your dollar has earned 4% (the amount paid by Banking Institutions for the use of your dollar for the year) the maximum earning power has been reached? CERTAINLY NOT, because we KNOW that you know better. However, if you want to get all that is possible out of your dollar—get the major profit instead of the minor—then we want you to come to our office so that we may talk with you, for we have a proposition that is both LEGITIMATE and SAFE, and one by which YOUR DOLLAR will earn 12% per annum, and payable to you in quarterly dividends.

This 12% is GUARANTEED under our guarantee, as set forth in our pamphlet of

in the CITY BUILDERS INVESTMENT COMPANY.

Should you be satisfied with the LARGE EARNINGS of the stock you hold, and not want to exchange it for property, you DO NOT have to do so; you can keep your stock for an investment and enjoy all the dividends paid, participate in all accumulative profits of the Company, and get the benefit of the continuous advance in price of your stock.

It is quite nice to buy your stock at $1 a share and get 12% per annum on your money, and later have your shares to be selling at three or four dollars a share—isn't it?

The time to buy stock is at its first selling price, if you can get it, if not, then buy while the stock is advancing; if you do you will always make money.

DO YOU NOW CLEARLY SEE THE DIFFERENT POINTS OF MERIT set forth in our proposition to you? We ask you to call to see us, and go further into details regarding the plans and principles of this organization.

MONEY BACK PLAN

We have created a sinking fund for the purpose of taking care of any of our shareholders who are obliged to realize IMMEDIATELY upon the money placed in this institution. Should you become a shareholder and be obliged to realize immediately on the money you have invested, or if you become dissatisfied and desire your money, this sinking fund is created for the purpose of purchasing your stock from you at the price you paid for it, less the dividends earned, providing the exchange is made within one year from the date of purchase, or we will repurchase at the price you paid for the stock in full, without deducting dividends, providing the exchange is NOT made within one year from date of purchase.

GAME WARDEN AN OFFENDER.

One San Bernardino Man Gets Too Much Pay.

County Will Insist on His Returning Excess.

Y.M.C.A. Will Open a Night School Next Month.

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 7.—James Vale as county game warden has for several years been drawing $5 per month more than the law allows him. The discovery was accidentally made by the Supervisors after Vale had been reappointed for another term, when the question of salary was suggested.

Vale has been getting $65 per month and $25 for expenses, while the law permits but $60 and expense money. How many years Vale has been drawing the additional salary is not known, but the District Attorney was instructed to look it up and make a demand on Vale for the excess amount to be returned to the county treasury.

It is supposed that when Vale was originally appointed the salary was $65, but has been reduced since by the Legislature, the change having not been noticed by the Supervisors.

Y. M. C. A. NIGHT SCHOOL.

The Educational Committee of the Y.M.C.A., of which W. M. Parker is chairman, is now completing plans for the opening of the night school soon after the formal dedication of the new building, which will probably occur within the coming month. A dozen branches will be taught at the outset, while additional topics will be added to the list as the demand may appear. It is planned to make the educational feature a prominent one in the association work, owing to the fact that large numbers of shop employees will be among those who will seek the benefits of the institution.

NEW BAND STAND.

In response to an appeal from a committee from the Chamber of Commerce, the City Council has instructed that a band stand be erected in Lago Park for the purpose of giving evening band concerts during the summer months. The concerts are to be furnished by the new Santa Fe band, which was recently organized.

DISTRICTS ORGANIZED.

Three new school districts were organized by the Supervisors this week, Sunrise being from a part of the Oro Grande district and some unorganized territory; Lanfair from part of the Mauvel district, and Bell Mountain in the Apple Valley section. Schools will be opened in all of them the coming fall.

ELECTRIFY TRUNK LI FISHER GIVES CO

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—What Secretary Fisher believes to be the beginning o tthe electrification of all transcontinental railroads was marked today by a grant to the Great Falls (Mont.) Power Company to transmit, over public domain under federal government regulations, power for the electrification of 450 miles of tracks of main line of the Chicago, Milwaukee and Puget Sound Railroad between Harlowtown, Mont., and Avery, Idaho.

The fact that the Great Falls company was "willing to accept the full-time provisions for the protection of public interests, even where all it was doing was for a transmission line," is of even greater importance to the public benefit, asserted Secretary Fisher today, than the further great electrification of railroads which must follow.

SUSTAINS DEPARTMENT.

"It demonstrates," he continued, "not only that the provisions for protection of the public interest upon which the Department of the Interior has insisted, do not prohibit water power development as has been claimed by opponents; but that the greatest development which has yet taken place in the practical application of electricity can be and is being taken under those very provisions. The power company and the department found they could co-operate cordially and effectively in fixing the terms of grant so as to recognize effectively the public and private interests and needs."

GRANT FOR FIFTY YEARS.

The grant, which is for fifty years, was worked out under the act of June 4, 1911, relating to electrical power sites, telephone and telegraph lines. Secretary Fisher said it should have a precedent which will have a far-reaching effect."

The grant is subject to readjustment every ten years, provides for regulation of rates and service, the sale of power to the United States, the State and other buyer and prohibits the assignment of the permit without the approval of the Secretary of the Interior.

POWER FOR MINES.

In addition to furnishing power for the operation of part of the Chicago, Milwaukee and Puget Sound Railroad, the Great Falls Power Company also will deliver power to the mines at Butte, Anaconda and to all other points of power consumers which can be served by them. Interior Department officials expect that much of it will be used for pumping water on land now arid. The amount of rental charged the company in the first ten years

H. W. Garner, a pioneer of this valley, having come here in 1852 on the overland trip from Iowa, is dead at Colton. The funeral will be held in Colton Wednesday, and the interment in the old family plot. The old homestead of the family was for many years on the western border of the city, but is now occupied by Santa Fe shops and homes, having long since been cut up into lots.

NEWS BRIEFS.

With the new year Judge B. F. Bledsoe becomes presiding judge of the Superior Court of this county, also judge of the juvenile court, and will preside for the calling of the calendars.

A. Mattson and S. P. Shields, who broke jail in this city December 11 by sawing their way out when they had but a few more days to serve, are now sorry. They went to Stockton and committed a burglary job, were caught, and are now serving terms of four and five years in Folsom Penitentiary. Word to that effect has just been received by Sheriff Ralphs.

UNIQUE STORAGE PLAN.

Porterville Association Men Confer With the Independents With View to Safe Handling of Fruit.

PORTERVILLE, Jan. 7.—Leading orange growers of this district, independent and association men are working out the details of a warehousing plan for the early navels. J. F. Canty, a large business property owner and one of the pioneer orchardists of this district, heads the movements.

Canty plans to form neighborhood organizations and warehouses built at convenient points, to house from twenty-five to forty cars of fruit. When early picking starts, if the prices are satisfactory no oranges need be shipped. If the market is unsettled, the oranges can be held until conditions improve.

Tests have been made of the keeping quality of the earliest oranges and it has been found that they will remain in perfect condition upwards of six months. It is believed that this system will protect the grower and that it will stimulate f.o.b. buying. Condition of fruit could, of course, be guaranteed.

THROW DOWN THE GAUNTLET.

Santa Ana Trustees Hurl Defiance at Irrigation Concern and a Battle to the Finish Is on.

SANTA ANA, Jan. 7.—The City Trustees have again thrown down the gauntlet to the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation Company, and an action will soon be brought to determine whether or not the city can compel the company to remove open ditches from certain city streets. The case will not rest until it gets through the Supreme Court of the State. Santa Ana has won one suit against the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation Company and has a decision decreeing that open ditches on West Washington avenue and East Seventeenth street be removed. In that case the city won for the reason that the street was dedicated as a street before the ditch was established. The point at issue in the case proposed to be brought involves the right to compel removal on streets on which the ditches were established before the streets were dedicated. The city has an ordinance classing open ditches on public streets as nuisances.

Attorney E. E. Keech, representing the ditch company, has declared that the company will never put the ditches underground unless forced to do so, for the reason that the precedent would bring similar action all over the territory covered by Santa Ana and Orange and would prove costly.

The City Trustees may decide to have the officers of the ditch company cited to appear in the Supreme Court for contempt. Nearly a year ago the court gave the company ninety days in which to remove the open cement ditches from West Washington avenue and East Seventeenth street, and as yet the order has not been obeyed.

BOARD ORGANIZES.

The Board of Supervisors organized today by electing T. B. Talbert of Huntington Beach as chairman of the new board, four out of five of which were on the old board, of which Talbert was chairman. Appointments of County Physician, Stock Inspector and other officials will be made tomorrow. The board will decide whether or not it will establish a game warden's position.

AVALON NOTES.

AVALON, Jan. 7.—Nearly an inch of ice was formed this morning on water left in cans. Never before in the history of the island has cold been so severe. Before daylight the mercury registered 34 deg. Reports come from Middle Ranch, an altitude of 700 feet in the interior of the island, that the mercury fell to 32 deg. just before daylight. The windstorm, which continued for three days, abated at midnight.

While trimming the tops of an eucalyptus tree F. Vagus, aged 20, fell a distance of thirty feet and fractured his skull. The young man is still unconscious.

Because there was no quorum of members of the Freeholders' Improvement Association at the meeting to be held today, it was announced that the meeting would be postponed until January 20.

ROOF IS BLOWN OFF.

ONTARIO, Jan. 7.—The roof of a million-gallon reservoir, belonging to the Ontario municipal water system, was blown off yesterday afternoon by a severe northeast wind which struck that section to the east of the city where the reservoir stands.

The wind is reported to have been the heaviest to strike that section in years. The roof, which is 132x113 feet, was completely removed from the huge tank, and a portion of it carried over 250 feet. Men from the city water department who went to the scene of the trouble state that they could scarcely see their hands before their faces for wind and sand.

ELECTRIFY TRUNK LINE, FISHER GIVES CONSENT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—What Secretary Fisher believes to be the beginning o fthe electrification of all transcontinental railroads was started today by a grant to the Great Falls (Mont.) Power Company to build over public domain under certain government regulations, power for the electrification of 450 miles of the main line of the Chicago, Milwaukee and Puget Sound Railroad between Harlowtown, Mont., and Avery, Idaho.

The fact that the Great Falls company was willing to accept the full-crew provisions for the protection of employees, even where all it was asking was for a transmission line," was of great importance to the project, asserted Secretary Fisher, more than the further great electrification of railroads which must follow.

REGULATIONS DEPARTMENT.

"The regulations," he continued, "provide that the provisions for protection of the public interest upon the public domain of the Interior Department of the Interior Department do not prohibit water power development, as has been claimed by some; but that the greatest project which has yet taken place for practical application of electricity is now and is being taken under very liberal provisions. The power bureau of the department found that it could co-operate cordially with the company in fixing the terms of the lease so as to recognize effectively the public and private interests and to protect them.

LEASE FOR FIFTY YEARS.

The lease which is for fifty years, is taken out under the act of June 10, 1911, relating to electrical power, telephone and telegraph lines. Secretary Fisher said it should be stated which will have a far-reaching effect.

"The lease is subject to readjustment every ten years, provides for regulation of rates and service, the sale of power to the United States, the State or municipality at as low rate as is given to others, and prohibits the assignment of the permit without the approval of the Secretary of the Interior.

PROVISIONS FOR MINES.

"With respect to furnishing power for mining purposes, a part of the Chicago, Milwaukee and Puget Sound Railroad, which the Great Falls Power Company also controls, power to the mines at reasonable rates and to all other consumers which can be served. Interior Department officials expect that much of it will be used for pumping water on land now arid.

"The rate of rental charged the first ten years will be nominal, and Secretary Fisher said he thought it should remain at a low figure, "so long as the prices exacted of power consumers are reasonable."

FIRST RENTAL CHARGE.

The first decade rental charge is five mills per 1000 kilowatt hours. The Secretary thinks the fact that his successor at the end of each ten-year period will have the power to increase the rental charge, if it should appear that the company was charging consumers unduly high prices, "will of itself and without the exercise of that power, exert a constant pressure upon the company inducing it to make its prices reasonable."

WILL CUT DUTY ON OLIVE OIL.

CHEMICAL SCHEDULE HEARING IS CONCLUDED.

Dr. L. J. Huff of Los Angeles Protests Against Twenty Per Cent. Reduction in Tariff That Would Hurt California Producers—Rate on Spices May Be Retained.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. — Public hearings on the chemical schedule of the proposed tariff legislation to be enacted at the coming session of Congress were closed today. It was indicated that the Democratic majority of the House Committee on Ways and Means will indorse a chemical schedule almost identical with that embodied in the bill that previously passed both Houses of Congress and was vetoed by President Taft.

It is possible that there may be some modification of the rates on spices, but this is uncertain.

The only indication of possible change shown throughout the long hearing today was when W. J. Gibson, a New York lawyer, argued for a 50 per cent. duty on spices and on all other luxuries.

"Wouldn't it tend to cut off importation if we put a higher duty on spices?" asked Chairman Underwood.

"No," replied the witness, who added that spices, running from 5 to 15 cents a pound, were not expensive.

Mr. Gibson wanted to put cod liver oil on the free list because of its medicinal value to "rickety" and decrepit children. He classed spices as luxuries traceable to sybaritic and voluptuous conditions in ancient Rome.

"No mother," said he, "gives her child spices, nor does any one take them from real liking."

The chemical schedule did not evoke as strong opposition as the committee expects will be aimed at several other schedules.

Manufacturing interests from Paris to San Francisco, affected by the contemplated Democratic revision of the tariff, were represented at today's hearing. The hearings are to continue until January 3, schedules to be taken up in sequence. The committee allows each fifteen minutes headway for uninterrupted argument followed by a more or less close examination by the committee.

Dr. L. J. Huff of Los Angeles protested that a 20 cent reduction of duty on olive oil would work a hardship to California producers.

HEALTH BROKEN BY DYNAMITE TRIAL AND LETTERS.

Two Threatening Missives Now Declared Hoax by Unknown Writer Who Says He Merely Intended to Make Copy for Newspapers—Examining Reporters.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEWCASTLE (Ind.) Jan. 7.—Frank Dare, foreman of the jury which returned a verdict of guilty against the dynamite conspirators, who has received two letters threatening his life, departed today for Florida to spend the winter. His heath has been impaired by the worry over the letters and by the long confinement of the trial.

The threatening letters sent to Dare were written at the request of a newspaper correspondent, to provide a new source of "copy" according to a letter received by the prosecuting attorney today from a person who signed himself "Joseph Allen, State street, Chicago."

The prosecutor called in various newspaper men to his office and asked for a sample of their writing. The unsimilarity to that in the threatening letters easily established their innocence.

This is the Complete Typewriter

Inventors have been working on improvements for years, but it has remained for one man, M. C. Crawley, an engineer of national fame, to finally perfect the typewriter and combine with it an in-built, practical adding machine.

Two Machines in One Case---Electrically Driven

The Addograph is absolutely the same size as the present typewriter, and operates the same way except that in the Addograph the troublesome escapement is omitted. The carriage is manipulated entirely by the electric power, through simple and positive mechanism. EVERY STROKE HAS SAME POWER.

Although it has adding, subtracting and tabulating features, it has less parts than the average typewriter—simpler, stronger, heavier, better all through.

The new, perfect machines are now ready for manufacture.

Investors Listen to This---(Stenographers, This is Your Chance)

You are now exactly where men were years ago when the first Typewriter, or the first Cash Register, Linotype machine or Burrough's Adding machine was ready for manufacture and these companies asked for help. Vast fortunes have been made in these machines.

According to Moody's Manual, the insignificant sum of $100 invested in these companies would have returned the following in dividends.

How $100 Grew When Invested in the Beginning

Burrough's Adding Machine for each $100 invested—$41,349.99—Linotype machine—each $100—$25,000.00—National Cash Register—each $100 has grown to $42,700.60 — Underwood typewriter — each $100—$38,800.33.

The Addograph should equal the earning power of typewriter and adding machine combined or for each $100 invested now the returns should be $80,000.00, when machines are in world use—as they will be, for they do all the separate machine will do, do it better, faster, less wear and at a cost much less than for separate machines.

ALL WE ASK IS THE PRIVILEGE OF SHOWING OUR MACHINE IN ACTION.

AMMUNITION FOR MEXICO.

Five Million Rounds Shipped Since Neutrality Proclamation Last Year, Senate Investigators Discover.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 7.—Approximately 5,000,000 rounds of ammunition have been shipped from New Orleans to Mexico since the neutrality proclamation was issued by President Taft last spring, according to testimony given here today before Senator William Alden Smith, chairman of the Senate committee investigating the Mexican situation. Several representatives of firearms companies were before the committee today, and produced original orders, copies of invoices, names of purchasers and names of consignees.

Senator Smith questioned the witnesses closely in an effort to ascertain whether the money for these supplies was furnished by American capitalists.

"We have struck a warm trail here," he said, "and the testimony taken does not tend to support the declaration of neutrality by this government. As a matter of fact, it appears that the Madero faction in Mexico has been permitted to get unlimited quantities of arms and ammunition, while his opponents have been forced to comply with the President's proclamation."

Fresno Construction Company Will Stand Firm in Face of Insolent Demands of Strikers.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

FRESNO, Jan. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Officials of the Stone-Webster Construction Company this afternoon announced that they would not accede to any demands of hundreds of I.W.W.'s, who have struck at Big Creek and that they will stop work until they can get another crew of workmen if necessary.

Assistant General Manager Farnsworth stated that the demands of the I.W.W.'s were unreasonable and that in many instances it would be impossible to grant the demands if the company desired. They claim that the majority of the laborers are satisfied with the conditions in the mountains, but that the I.W.W.'s are stirring up trouble.

The striking men are employed at the tunnel and the officials of the construction company say they are months ahead of their contract and that if necessary they can suspend work for months. So far no riots have occurred in the mountains, but the Sheriff's force may be increased by additional officers. A number of the strikers are reported to have returned to work today. The strikers would be taken out of the mountains by the Stone-Webster Company, but the officials say that they will not permit the men to eat the company's food free of charge while they are not employed. The strikers demand better food, better sleeping quarters, and more pay for all overtime.

TO PROTECT SUFFRAGISTS.

Taft Promises to Turn Out Cavalry from Ft. Meyer to Guard Proposed Parade.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—President Taft will turn out the United States cavalry at Ft. Meyer, if necessary, to protect the suffragists who desire to parade down Pennsylvania avenue on March 3. This was the information given out at suffragist headquarters today.

The women declare the commissioners of the district and Maj. Richard Silverster, Superintendent of Police, have withheld permission for the parade because they feared the actions of a hostile crowd might overtax the police. Local business men have volunteered their services to the suffragist managers and it was said they obtained the President's promise to call out the troops if the police protection was inadequate.

President Taft is to be invited to review the marching women.

STOCK LETTER.

(Furnished by Logan & Bryan, Members New York and Boston Stock Exchanges, Bradbury Bldg., Los Angeles.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—After the Supreme Court's decisions of yesterday were carefully analyzed it apparently became the general impression that the results in no instances were destructive. As a consequence very little general liquidation took place. As a matter of fact London seemed to take a more cheerful view than domestic interests and purchased American issues on a fair scale. The news from Europe relative to the present situation was somewhat more assuring. The break in the peace conference was thought to have been offset in great part by the quiet action of the powers in their efforts to prevent a renewal of hostilities and greater co-operation among the contending elements. It perhaps is quite fortunate that many European nations are in the market for loans, as such a condition serves to place continental bankers in the attitude of being able to force the belligerents to accept such terms as might otherwise be rejected. The domestic money position shows signs of easing which has encouraged constructive endeavors in the stock market in certain quarters to a moderate extent, judging by the action of prices today and it is believed that some betterment will be witnessed.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET

The vegetable market was more or less demoralized yesterday as a result of the destruction of truck garden products by the frost. Peas and beans were practically out and tomatoes were quoted at $1 to $1.50, only the Mexican variety being on the market. There was a firmer feeling in cabbage, cauliflower and lettuce. Bad weather conditions have not as yet had such a pronounced effect on these vegetables. The probabilities are that they will advance later. Sweet potatoes were firm, and Irish potatoes easy. Australian brown onions were firmer for the best quality. On the produce exchange 80 bags of Lady Washington beans sold at $4.40 for future delivery. The market was a little weaker.

The fruit market showed little change, except that offerings of Bellefleur apples were at a somewhat higher rate than the previous day. Fifty dozen avocados were offered on the exchange at $2. There was apparently rather an over-supply of this fruit. New Jersey cranberries were offered as low as $11, and as high as $10.50 was bid for Late Howes.

The butter market was firm, and the tendency strongly toward an advance of 1 cent on creamery extras. Storage ladle butter was rather easy, and ten cubes sold at 32½. The highest bid for creamery extras was 34, and the lowest offering 36. Eastern extras were offered at 31½, and firsts at 29½.

The best bid for case count eggs was 36, and the lowest offering at 37. The market shows a strong upward tendency. Eastern storage were still weak. The market was 19 bid, at 32 cents. The market for northern case count was 35 bid, at 37 cents.

Cheese was easy with prices at 14½ cents for northern fresh. Eastern daisies were offered at 18, horns at 19. Oregon triplets at 17½, storage cream brick at 16 to 18 cents; 19 was bid for fresh cream brick.

Bids were made for broilers and young turkeys in the poultry market, but there were no offerings.

Receipts were: Eggs, 130 cases; butter, 215[illegible] pounds; cheese, 415 pounds; potatoes, 2175 sacks; onions, 910 sacks; sweet potatoes, sixteen sacks; apples, 720 boxes.

HEN BERRY BUYS ELLIS; ANGELS' GREAT OUTFIELD.

Berger Very Likely to Play Again With Local Club. New Ball Ground Improvements Will Help Left-handed Batters—Frank Chance May Manage Highlanders After All—Duffy Lewis Trains Here.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

HENRY BERRY yesterday closed with the St. Louis Nationals for George ("Rube") Ellis.

It was an outright purchase and one of the most important deals that has featured the off-season dickering of the Coast League magnates.

In trading Ellis, the Los Angeles club was forced to bid high, it is believed. His services were sought by Minneapolis and three Coast League clubs.

Ellis Huggins, successor of Roger Bresnahan, wired Berry yesterday for a definite proposition. Berry incinerated a telegraph wire setting forth the amount which he was willing to pay. Not conversant with Huggins's idea of "baseball finance," and he promptly informed Berry that Ellis will forthwith become the property of the Los Angeles club.

Is Began Here.

Ellis will feel right at home in an Angel uniform. He was schooled in baseball on the Los Angeles club, and it was his expressed desire that he should return here if St. Louis did not care for his services. His home is in Texas, and he would rather play ball here in any place outside of the Lone Star state.

Ellis is slated for left field, the position which he adorned before going to the Cardinals four years ago. To see him cavorting out in the same "old spot" will make a noise like old times. With Ellis in left, Maggert in center and Moore in right, Los Angeles will have one of the greatest outfields in the history of the club. It is a outfield which will hit close to .300, will cover every vacant spot in the outer garden and give a good account of itself on the bases.

With "Doc" Gill at first, Page at second, Metzger at third, Berger, Ellis and Fahey fighting it out at short, last year's catching staff on the job and the pitching staff materially strengthened, the Angels begin to look like a first division team.

Much Case Uncertain.

Despite mention of Berger called forth the inquiries, it is not known positively that he will be with us again next season. Berry, "but I have reason to believe that he will. In fact, I would be surprised if he is not back on the job. But should he fail to return, we have good men in Howard and Fahey, either of whom can fill the position to a nicety. With Berger back, he and Fahey will fight it out for the place, leaving Howard free for utility duty."

Seymour Traded.

The purchase of Ellis leaves Cy Seymour out of the reckoning. Seymour did not want to play on the Coast, and Berry did not press the matter. He still is the property of the Los Angeles club, but it is probable that he will be sold or traded.

Ellis joined the Los Angeles club in 1906, and for a number of years was regarded as the best left fielder in the league. He made good with St. Louis from the jump. Last season he was benched once or twice, but this was due to personal differences with Bresnahan rather than to any falling off in his work. "Rajah," it is said, rode "Rube" until he made life miserable for him. Friends of Ellis, who saw him play last season, say that he is fully as fast as when he left here. His big league schooling should make him doubly valuable to the club.

New Life at Ball Grounds.

The silence which has infested Washington Park since last October will be broken in a few days by the industrious melody of numberless hammers and saws, when the work of enlarging the park will be started.

This is not exactly a small-undertaking, and the park will be all to the animation for the next two months.

The fences are to be moved back sixty feet, the grand stand enlarged and the bleachers extended.

The grand stand will be expanded accommodate 1900 more persons, while the right field bleachers will be extended part way around the grounds toward center field. When the improvements are made, the park will to accommodate 1900 more persons.

Johnny Kane was downcast when informed of the proposed improvements.

"Going to extend the bleachers around into right field, eh?" said the classy center fielder. "Guess that won't be soft for the left-handed hitters."

WIFE TO CAMP ON CHAMPION'S TRAIL.

[By (Wireless) Line to The Times.]

FARGO (N. D.) Jan. 7.—[Special Dispatch.] Mrs. Rhoda McCarty, wife of the new heavyweight champion, who has been employed in a local restaurant here while her husband was climbing the pugilistic ladder, left last night for her home in Sidney, Ohio. She will visit with White Eagle the father of the pugilist, and expects to meet the latter on his way from Los Angeles to New York.

POLO MOUNT BREAKS LEG.

RAGING GALE FAILS TO STOP GAME AT CORONADO.

American Beauties Pick Teams from American Polo ists Now at Colony and Interesting Contest Is Staged—Whites Defeat Greens by Narrow Margin.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CORONADO, Jan. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The cold weather was too far from zero to chill the ardor of the polo ists of Coronado and a lively game was played this afternoon by teams nominated by Miss Wood and Miss Southerland, the former winning in a close contest at 7½ to 7.

Thomas Le Boutillier, Jr., the noted player of New York and eastern polo tournaments, made his first appearance on the field, playing with Miss Wood's team, which wore the green. He was mounted by Maj. C. G. Ross and had the misfortune of having Texas Tommy, one of the ponies, break a leg under him.

The accident happened during an exciting contest for the ball at the side board. When crowded off his course and over the rail, Le Boutillier attempted to draw back in.

The play was intended as an American tournament between the teams chosen by Miss Wood and Miss Southerland. The latter was to be composed of Jones, Weiss, Critchley and Hobbs.

It was learned, however, that Critchley was in danger of blood poisoning from an injury to a hand received in the Sunday match when it was hit by a driven ball and that Hobbs had not arrived from having passed the week-end at his home in Pasadena. For that reason the Greens allowed R. Weiss and Jones positions on the team.

The Greens presented the following line-up: L. Jones and Dupee, 1; Capt. Besley, 2; R. Weiss and Le Boutillier, Jr., 3; Maj. Ross and Le Boutillier, Jr., back.

The Whites, Miss Southerland's team, were: Neustadt, 1; Carle, 2; H. Weiss, 3; Burke, back.

The game was one of fast polo all the way although the Whites secured a long lead in the early periods. Maj. Ross was a great factor in bringing the Greens to the front when he came into the play and Capt. Besley also was in good form. Walter Dupee, at the same time, showed his best play of the season.

The score:

For Miss Wood: Goals, Maj. Ross, 3; Capt. Besley, 3; Le Boutillier, Jr., 1; R. Weiss, 1. Penalty, R. Weiss, ½.

For Miss Southerland: Goals, R. Neustadt, 1; R. Carle, 2; H. Weiss, 2; C. Burke, 2.

WELTERWEIGHTS MATCHED.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 7.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Ray Bronson of Indianapolis and Tommy Howell of Philadelphia, welterweights, were matched tonight to box ten rounds here on January 22. The men are to weigh in at 145 pounds ringside.

POOR DUCK SHOOTING.

The cold weather this week has made duck shooting bad in many of the clubs, for the remarkable reason that there has been sufficient ice formed on many of the ponds to keep the birds away from open water.

He Likes It.

"GIVE ME ANOTHER FIGHT," SAYS PLOWMAN PALZER.

[BY WIRELESS LINE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Jan. 7.—[Special Dispatch.] Al Palzer arrived on the Santa Fe this afternoon on his way to New York.

He was a traveling companion of Frank Chance.

The fighter has a slight discoloration of one eye as a memento of his battle and says that he was not nocked out and is anxious to get nother chance at McCarty.

He was inclined to complain at the ght being stopped by the referee, as he insists he was not hurt and might ave had a chance to turn the tide of attle, although a very small one.

"I am going to England to fight ombardier Wells and thus get in ine for another bout with McCarty. firmly believe I can whip him.

"If I succeed in defeating the Enrishman, I don't see how he can refuse to meet me. He will have a ough time of it beating Jess Willard, but if he does as well against Willard as he did against me, he ought to come out victorious."

HAS THE REACH.

The enormous reach of Jess Willard, one of the foremost contenders for the heavyweight title, according to the tape reach is exactly eighty-one inches. This combined with his height, six feet six inches, makes the Kansas cowboy look like one of the biggest men who ever crawled through the ropes.

Willard's chief claim to fame is the fact that he decisively defeated McCarty in a ten-round bout in New York last August.

"McCarty can't claim any heavyweight championship," says Willard; "until he has met me over the longer route, he can't be regarded too seriously. I think I could stop him in ten rounds. That's how good he looks to me."

THE POPULAR PUG.

Willard is today the most sought after individual in the game. He is being besieged by would-be managers they are offering large sums for his services for one year, but to date he has turned a deaf ear to all.

He knows that but for Charlie Cutler ae never would have been heard of. When Cutler first took the fellow in tow, he did not know how to raise a hand. Today he is considered one of the fastest big men who ever put on a glove. His wonderful speed, combined with his reach and height, make him one of the prize ring's greatest curiosities.

Willard's measurements, printed for the first time are:

Age, 25 years; height, 6 feet 6 inches; weight 225 pounds; reach 81 inches; chest, 46 inches normal; chest, 49½ inches expanded; waist, 36 inches; neck, 18 inches; thigh, 26 inches; biceps, 15¾ inches; wrist, 9¼ inches; calf, 17½ inches.

SAN BERNARDINO AUTO MEN AFTER W.A.A. SANCTION.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Plans are being rapidly matured for one of the greatest road races ever run in Southern California to be held here February 22, the closing day of the National Orange Show. At a meeting of the San Bernardino Automobile Racing Association, Leon A. Atwood was elected president and A. E. Perris secretary. Committees were named on the course, finances, awards and sanction.

President Atwood and J. F. Lindsay are in Los Angeles today to secure a sanction from the Western Automobile Association. The course which will probably be accepted circuits the valley and is level and fast. Bruno Seibel, who has driven on many of the best courses in the country, declares it to be as fast or better than the Santa Monica course, having more straightaways and better opportunity to make time.

Committees named were:

General Arrangements—Lisle Esler, George Pearson, Jr., J. F. Lindsay, J. Dale Gentry, Ben B. Buxton, J. E. Eastman, J. Lukins, Grant McIntyre and C. M. Glessner.

Finances—E. C. Brandenburg, Lisle Esler and Ben B. Buxton.

Prizes and Awards—J. Dale Gentry, F. J. Hendee and J. F. Lindsay.

For W.A.A. sanction—President L. A. Atwood and J. F. Lindsay.

Live Hombre.

HART PUTS BUDDING CLUB ON LOCAL ATHLETIC MAP.

THE Western Athletic Club promises to be a live factor during the spring campaign in the field of track sports and also in boxing circles.

Manager Hart has many boxers working out in the club gym at the present time and says that he hopes to land several southern titles at the next glove carnival.

One of the most likely candidates is a young man named Yokem, a lightweight of marked ability.

Emil Becker, who lately turned professional, is working out under Hart and expects to make his debut as a featherweight soon.

There is to be a club handball tournament next month and when the play is over, the best men will be selected and teams formed. These teams will issue challenges to the L.A.A.C., and the Y.M.C.A. handball clubs and Manager Hart says that he hopes to be able to arrange a city handball tournament, open not only to the club men, but to all athletes who are interested in the game.

There are several distance runners training at the club for the races this spring. The Western will be represented in the A.A.U. championships and also in the other open meets, later in the season.

Their Journey's End.

CHICAGO FAMILY CROSSES GREAT DESERT IN AUTO.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CLAREMONT, Jan. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] O. C. Brundage of Chicago arrived here last night in his Stoddard-Dayton "40," having made the trip by way of the Santa Fe and Sunset trail.

Brundage was accompanied by his wife, two children and a hunting dog. They had an entire camping outfit with them and the trip was made by easy stages.

They left Chicago, October 20, and spent Christmas Day at Brawley, Cal., having come through Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona.

For two days they were detained by snowstorms in the White Mountains, finally being towed out by a cowboy. On another occasion they were detained for a week.

Forty-eight miles from Albuquerque, N. M., they overtook Dr. Jordan and Dr. Gilbert, with their families, who were stranded in the mountains. They were on their way from Iowa to California and had been without bread and water for over a day, having siphoned water out of the radiator to give their child.

COLLEGE TRACK SQUADS FUSS AND FUME IN COLD.

Wealth of Material at U.S.C. and Occidental but the Coaches Are Unable to Start Heavy Training on Account of Cold Spell Which Is Bad for Southern Fruit and Southern Athletes.

BY OWEN R. BIRD.

LIGHT work under heavy wraps was the order issued yesterday on the Trojan field when Coaches Cromwell and Comstock mustered the cinder men for the day's work-out. This cold snap is not only bad for the oranges, but is also dangerous to sprinting tendons and muscles. However, most of the U.S.C. track men have been doing light pre-season work, and the squad, as a whole, is in fairly good shape.

Occidental will not agree to meet the Trojans on February 8, but want to hold the meet March 15. This would have been agreeable had not the University of California decided to change dates.

The Bears want to come south March 15 and have the Trojans meet the California freshmen in the North one week later.

Stanford has not been heard from yet, but this new arrangement does not look like it would fit in with the Cardinal plans, as issued earlier in the season.

If Stanford drops out of the southern running, it will leave U.S.C. to form a dual agreement with California, and then the Trojans will be able to renew relations with Pomona and Oxy in regard to baseball and track. This might also make a southern intercollegiate meet possible, which is something we have missed here for a time.

Before the A.A.U. competition the Trojans will have two interclass meets. On Friday, January 10, the annual interclass meet will be held, and a week later the 'varsity tryouts will be staged.

From the showing made in these meets the varsity squad is to be selected and the men placed in the proper events.

In the first meet, January 10, none of the monogram men of past seasons will be allowed to compete, as the freshmen and new material from the upper classes will be given an opportunity to show.

Later, in the 'varsity tryout, the field will be opened to all, and the veterans will be tested against the new lights. This will be the first chance to draw a line on the condition of the old heads for the coming season, and a meet of this nature is always interesting.

The Occidental Tigers opened up yesterday, but Pipal did not allow any of his men to extend themselves owing to the raw wind. He is also afraid of broken muscles and cracked tendons.

The first tryout meet of the Tiger season is to be the interclass affair of January 15, followed one week later by the varsity tryout. The team will be picked after these meets and then put in hard training for the A.A.U. meet, as the Tigers are going after this contest with all sail set.

The cinder experts of the Highland Park College have been promised a northern trip if they show enough class in the A.A.U. meet, so there is no doubt as to their strenuous efforts.

Most of the Oxy track and field men have been training since the close of the football season, and are now ready for the hard grind, and should round into good condition with great rapidity.

The new men in the freshmen class carry the balance of power this season. If these young delegates can produce enough class to fill up the holes among last year's point winners, the team should be a dangerous organization. Last year the Tigers had some good men but there were not enough of them to cover all the events in the proper manner.

The "ante-bellum" statements from Highland Park seem to point to wonderful things.

They have Craig, fast in the 220 and 440, coming from Burbank High, "Bo" Wilson, the "curly wolf" from Long Beach High, is hopping over the cross bar on the vaulting standards at 12ft. 1in., and looks capable of more altitude, but the standards stop here. Ross Wilsie of El Centro High has been setting the Imperial Valley [illegible] the past two years and they say he has run the 100 in 10 1-5s., but if he can go 10 2-5s. he will be a welcome addition. This bush timing does not count for much in the big leagues.

Lockhard, from Santa Barbara, is something of an all-around man, being good in the low hurdles, pole vault and relay. Then we come to some stars we know, hailing from the Oxy Academy.

Johnny Cook, in the 440 relay, is one of the fastest quarter "horses" in the South. He proved it last year at U.S.C. Bill Annin, in the 880 and mile, should be among the first men to cross the tape in every meet this season.

Hollinger, from Western Reserve, comes with a good record in the 880 and relay. Squires, from Downey, is showing up well in the weights as an understudy to Drury Wieman.

The Tiger veterans who will be ready for the strife this season are: Baer, 100 and 220; Bradbeer, 220 and 440; Henry, two-mile and mile; Dill, high and low hurdles; Kirkpatrick, high and low hurdles; "String" Beckes, high jump, Petit, two-mile; Yakeley, 440 and relay; Hogan, high jump; Lawyer, high jump; McDonald, shot and discus and Wieman, hammer and shot. This is a good string of old heads form a foundation and many a coach has had worse to deal with in Southern California.

The new lights at U.S.C. who have come to the front for the track squad give promise of bolstering up the already strong aggregation which will represent the Trojan flag this year. Ira Courtney, the Olympic sprinter, has been working out for two weeks and looks faster than he was in Stockholm last spring. Carrigan, from Georgetown, has only been out once or twice, but is showing a world of "pep" off his marks. He is a remarkable starter, having gained his fast getaway in the indoor competition along the Atlantic Coast during the past two years. Waldo Throop, the old veteran in the century and furlong events, will have to travel faster than last year to hold first place in these events on the varsity squad this spring.

Berger, from L. A. High, is showing speed in the 440, and with Stonewall Jackson, from Citrus Union High, as a running mate, will make Vic Hodge, the varsity man, extend himself to the limit if the past few workouts can be taken as a criterion. "Ash" Hendrick, the hammer thrower from Citrus Union, is working well and has put the sixteen pound pellet over the 138 foot mark already.

In February, Borgstrome, of Ventura High, is out for the pole vault and with his record of 12ft. 2in., should make the going interesting for Oxy's find, Wilson.

Laird, the fast low hurdler of Redlands High, is another star who will be on Cromwell's list. Corpstein, of Phoenix High, comes with a good 440 and low-hurdle record. Cole of Burbank, according to Comstock will smash an 880 record before the season is closed. Commie is sweet on this youngster.

Last season's stars, Kelly, Swigget, Tipton, Captain Smith, Hodge, Earle, Torrance, Murphy, Locke, Livernash, Chaffee and Clemment are all looking fit and fussing over the delay due to the cold weather.

CHAMPION DE ORO LOSING MATCH.

MATURO WINS SECOND GAME AT POCKET BILLIARDS.

Cuban Must Run 292 to Denver Man's 200 Tonight in Order to Retain World Championship. Title Nearly Certain to Come West. Not Saved by His New Rule.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—James Maturo of Denver increased his lead to nearly 100 points over Alfred de Oro, the world's pocket billiard champion, in the second night's play for title honors tonight, the total score standing 400 to 308. Tonight's score was 200 to 120. De Oro played far below form, but steadied himself at one time for a run of thirty-three, the highest thus far. Maturo played consistently, making a run of twenty-four.

The final block will be played tomorrow night.

The following changes in championship contest rules are used by De Oro and Maturo in their match:

At opening of play the balls are racked in the usual way. When either man has run fourteen the fifteenth ball is left on the table and the fourteen are racked with a dummy. For the next shot the dummy ball is removed from the table, thus eliminating pot shots.

Theory.

INDOOR GOLF LATE SPORT.

Jolly Good Sport for the Parlor Athlete.

Played in Cage of Netting With Real Clubs.

Brings Green to Home of Business Man.

The newest thing out and the greatest thing ever for the busy business man is indoor golf.

The game can be played in any room, preferably in a space fifteen feet wide by thirty in length. Against one end canvas is stretched and on this pockets are sewed, a foot or more wide at the top and held out from the canvas by a spring.

Thirty feet distant, the golfer stands, with his ball on the usual golf "pix." Using his home course, he drives off from the tee at the top center pocket.

CLUBS DECIDE DISTANCES.

On each pocket is printed a list of the clubs one is supposed to use for each hole and the distances one is theoretically supposed to make with any particular club, less from 25 to 50 per cent., of the real distance.

The first hole of the San Gabriel course, for instance, is 350 yards. Selecting your driver, you drive off from the top center pocket and if you land your ball in it, you figure that you have made 200 yards on your first shot toward the hole.

With 150 yards left to go, you change your club to one representing 150 yards on some pocket, and "shoot" for that pocket with that club. If your ball goes in the pocket, you score 150 yards and have thus made the total required number of 350 yards and score the first hole as made in two strokes.

After this, you continue for each hole on the same plan. For short holes, you must use the club representing the distance nearest the desired distance.

PUTTING GREEN.

On the floor of the court or "fair green" is a strip of carpet to represent the "green" and at the other end of the court is the hole, and you are to putt for this. If you are over or under five, six, ten or twenty yards, you can put your ball on the line you are over or under and putt the same as in regular golf.

This game is not hard to learn. The netting keeps your ball from going out of bounds and being lost. If you go into the net, you lose a stroke, of course, and try again.

Of course, it has none of the exhilirating outdoor exercise of real hilarating outdoor exercise of real the one requisite of golf.

THE ANNUAL MEETING IS AGAIN POSTPONED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CINCINNATI, Jan. 7.—The annual meeting of the National Baseball Commission was postponed today until some time next week in Chicago.

This announcement was made by Chairman Herrmann when it became definitely known that President Ban Johnson of the American League would not be able to come here for at least a week.

A preliminary meeting discussed the fixing of a uniform contract and the individual salary question but it was announced that no decision would be rendered.

BIG SPORTS AFTER DUCKS.

MEMBERS OF THE FRATERNITY BRAVE CHILLY WINDS.

The Shooting Game Incites Well-known Quartette Away from Fireside on Jolly Jaunt and They Carry Quantity of Ammunition in Boxes, Pints and Quarts.

Eddie Maier, Jake Stahl of the Boston Americans, Barney Oldfield and Hap Hogan left this city yesterday afternoon for a trip to Oxnard to be the guests of the Oxnard Gun Club last night for a duck shoot on the club preserve near Hueneme.

Today they are to be guided by Jack Milligan to the pigeon-shooting grounds in the Santa Ynez Mountains and the boys expect great sport there, for pigeons are said to be very numerous.

Hogan was given a special dispensation to shoot on the Oxnard club grounds, because no decoys are used there. It seems that Hogan is barred from a number of the local clubs because he always shoots the decoys, thinking these are real ducks.

Jake Stahl was cautioned before he left, to keep on the glass-eye side of Hogan so as not to get filled full of shot. Dillon of the Los Angeles team was invited to go with the party, but refused for he says that Hogan is so jealous of him that he might shoot him by "accident."

It is needless to state that the merry party took along enough ammunition in boxes, flasks and bottles to last for several days, for it is said that there are not only ducks and pigeons, but rattlesnakes up there.

On Their Nerve.

VITAL POINTS FOR BIG RACE

Man Who Draws Pole May Win Match Race.

Oldfield Agrees to Let Ford Mile Decide Question.

Ex-Champion Doesn't Look Well to Speed King.

BY BERT G. SMITH.

"The man who gets the pole in the Oldfield-Tetsla[illegible] race will win."

This is the declaration of E. Ruess, the Page-Motor agent, who won the [illegible] and whose cars have figured in several speed battles [illegible] makes a proposition that sounds fair. Here it is:

"Let the man who makes the fastest exhibition mile [illegible] pole in the two-mile [illegible] race. This would eliminate the question of chance. If a coin is flipped the lucky man will get the advantage. If the man who turns the fastest mile possibly makes a world record is given the pole, the race will be fairer."

This proposition was put to Oldfield last night and he agreed. Tetsla[illegible] asked for other day to consider the [illegible] Oldfield believes he can make the fastest mile with his four-wheel drive Christy. Tetsla[illegible] wants to try again this afternoon before agreeing to the new and peculiar proposition.

Bitterness of feeling exists between Teddy Tetsla[illegible] and Barney Oldfield. The fact that Tetsla[illegible] has driven a sharp bargain with the speed king and has insisted, first on a [illegible] and second that the best two of three heats shall decide the championship rankles in Barney's breast.

Just how much depends on the showing for Oldfield only Barney himself realizes. He knows that [illegible] perhaps soon, he is to be regarded as an ex-champion. This thought is not pleasant to the speed king who is loth to retire with all the honors of the [illegible] master.

Barney Oldfield is a drawing card. He can draw [illegible] Every driver wants to meet him for the short-distance world championship. There are many who can beat Barney in a road race, but there is only one man who can beat him in a sprint. That man is Teddy Tetsla[illegible].

Out on the Motordrome [illegible] the rules will permit him to be [illegible] Tetsla[illegible] is training faithfully. He is not true of Barney. The latter believes he can win the world's title without much training. Can he?

That Oldfield is trying [illegible] goes without saying, but he will get into form as he must do, as Barney is 33 years old. As old as Jim Flynn. That is not too old to hold championship, but Tetsla[illegible] is 25 years old.

WIN OR WRECK.

This race is to be won or [illegible] The cars are equal in speed. The Fiat is good for a world record and so is the Christy. It is to be a question of just how hard the driver can step on the throttle. Now, Barney has the experience. Has he the nerve?

Having weighed the question carefully, Tetsla[illegible] is going to win. He knows what it means to be a world's track champion. He will [illegible] of the State and will be able to demand thousands of dollars. If he loses he must wait for another year to meet Oldfield and that year will become for a year. The man managing Barney will go to the [illegible]

FRAME-UP!

If Oldfield wins this match he will not hook up again with Tetsla[illegible] for at least a year, and then he will simply hand Teddy the air and the tire. This is Barney's plan.

There are those who think that this race is a frame-up. They point out as Tetsla[illegible] is concerned he would was and also wished to make sure was for him to win, but Tetsla[illegible] laff will never admit that he made a bargain any more than Oldfield will. It is to be a race for blood and the men coming to the starting mark will the dash of their lives.

There are to be other [illegible] and drivers have been [illegible] line. Frank X. Good will [illegible] baker and another driver will be [illegible] La Casse of the Stutz [illegible] name today are to start. [illegible] form the nucleus of the [illegible] teams which will open [illegible] of the W.A.A.

There is a possibility that [illegible] is to be entered with Ralph [illegible] as driver. Cooper defeated [illegible] the five-mile race at Ascot [illegible] Barney will be started in the [illegible] event. The interest [illegible] two-mile dash, however, as [illegible] not much to be said about [illegible] liminaries as yet.

The entries close at [illegible] day.

Here is the list of events:

No. 1—Five miles, open [illegible] and under.

No. 2—Five miles, open [illegible] inches.

No. 3—Five miles, open [illegible] inches.

SPARK-PLUG M'G[illegible]

Makes An Attempt to Put Scissors on the Results—He Lassoes the Orchestra a Hole Through the Ba[illegible]

TO TELL the truth, it sounded like a Roman mob scene "off stage." There were loud, angry voices and vain protestations. The sound increased in volume as the elevator came upstairs.

Long and bitter experience told us that Spark-plug and Scissors were having another little family quarrel.

When the elevator finally dumped them out Scissors was a forlorn-looking object. He resembled the clothes model of a misfit emporium who had been having words with an unfriendly bulldog.

He had on the tattered remnants of a dress suit. His shirt front was spattered with gore and smeared with dirt. One end of his collar had torn loose and soared up over one ear. Spark-plug was striding along with his automobile ulster streaming out behind him and Scissors was humbly hobbling along behind.

POOR SCISSORS.

"Look here," exclaimed the exasperated sporting editor, "can't you go somewhere else and quarrel with your friend, Scissors? Why is it that you always bring him up here every time you have trouble?"

Spark-plug returned a growl like an indignant pit dog. "Me bring him up here?" he roared. "Do you think I'd be bringing a hound dog like him anywhere? He's been follerin' me ter eight blocks like a bill collector. Don't try to wish him on me. You can raise the window and throw him out on the pavement for all I care. I wisht you would. Him and me has parted forever."

Scissors said nothing, but dropped into a chair with a heavy sigh. His reproachful eyes glanced up at Spark-plug, then dropped to the floor in humility and abasement.

"Has Scissors been trying to fight again?" inquired the sporting editor.

A FIGHTER—NOT FIGHTING.

"Him fight? He couldn't fight a cream puff. Nuthin' like that. He ain't been tryin' to fight; he's been tryin' to be a fighter."

"Well, I'll be the goat," said the sporting editor. "What's the answer to the riddle? How could he be a fighter if he doesn't fight?"

"Nobody in our set considers it sporting to be too clubby to fight," said Spark-plug, flicking the ashes off his cigar-ette with a blase gesture. "You don't see Johnny Kilbane or Johnny Coulon or Willie Ritchie or none of them high-powered actors fightin' do you?"

Spark-plug considered the matter awhile, then he added, "This here Jimmy Burns said it pretty good; he called hands like sisters.' I guess that's not bad, huh?"

"It's great," said the sporting editor, "but what does it mean?"

"I meanse," said Spark-plug, "that if you wants be a actor you gotta have a fighting record, and it ain't no use bein' to be a fighter unless you can get a job at a theayter.

SOUBRETTE CHAMPIONS.

"Nevadays when a guy wins the world's championship he drags on a loud-and-nuts suit of clothes wit a shiny shirt front and turns soubrette. I guess this young feller, Willie Ritchie, had his ingenue gown waitin' at the ringside. Before the referee had give his decision Willie was on his way to the theayter to begin his career as an actor, and, as Harry Lehr says, 'Tistlaina knew him no more.'

"I'm tellin' y' on the level," said Spark-plug, "that pretty soon when a fighter wants a job on a theayter stage the manager will ask for his fightin' record. I suppose that some day actors will get their wives to give 'em a tin ear wit a meat cleaver so's they can get engagements."

"It might go double," said the sporting editor. "Perhaps prize fighters will have to pass an examination on the stage before they can fight."

"I wouldn't be surprised," agreed Spark-plug. "Pretty near any day I expect to hear the announcer hollar

Long and bitter experience told us that Spark-plug and Scissors were having another little family quarrel.

A FIGHTER—NOT FIGHTING.

"The fight? He couldn't fight a cat paw. Nuthin' like that. He has been tryin' to fight; he's been trying to be a fighter."

"Well, I'll be the goat," said the sporting editor. "What's the answer to the riddle? How could he be a fighter if he doesn't fight?"

"Nobody in our set considers it any dishby to fight," said Spark-plug, "that went around to the theayter frisking a job fer him. Honest you could have sold a sewing machine wit half the con talk I put over on that theayter guy."

A wan smile escaped Spark-plug. "I made him think that Scissors was the champeen of South America. I told him that Scissors was a half Indian who was born on the cow ranges of Patagonia and spent his Sunday afternoons lassoin' wild elephants in his native jungles."

"Lassoin' elephant in Patagonia?" inquired the sporting editor, raising his eye brows.

PRACTICED THE ACT.

"Oh, well," said Spark-plug, "This theayter feller never wrote no geographies. It looked right to him and he grabbed Scissors.

"I had the big bum out in the back yard fer a week practicin' lasso throwin' wit a clothes line and I bought him a rifle and spent enough money to start a bank gettin' him cartridges to practice.

"He never hit nothin' but the cat the whole week so I got a feller to stand behind the scenes to bang on a bell wit a hammer every time Scissors missed the bullseye.

"It would a went great," groaned Spark-plug, "If this big bum hada been a regelar human bein'."

A HISTRIONIC TRIUMPH.

"What did he do?" asked the sporting editor.

"What did he do?" said Spark-plug, glaring at poor Scissors, who sat staring at the floor in front of him. "I'll tell you what he done:

"I had it fixed where he come onto a dark stage made up to represent a jungle. When they turned on the lights, Scissors dropped the gun and it went off, shooting a hole through the bass drum."

"I was scairt; I t'ought somethin' had broke," protested Scissors miserably.

DISMAL FINISH.

"I hollared to him to begin his lassoing," said Spark-plug, "And the first card out of the case, this poor boob gets the rope twisted and lassos the orchestra leader by mistake. Somebody bounced a cornet off his bean and the show broke up in a riot."

"Poor Scissors must have been roughly used," said the sport editor sympathetically.

"Well it ain't nothin' to what's going to happen to him when he meets the waiter that I borrowed that open-faces suit offn," said Spark-plug cruelly.

RIVAL TEAMS TOSS BASKETS.

LOS ANGELES HIGH TRIMMED IN LEAGUE OPENER.

Great Activity Among the Prep School Basketballers All Over Southern California—Three Fast Quintettes Lead in County Play and Four on Par in City.

The old-time rivalry between the two city schools broke out again yesterday afternoon when the hill-top basketball sharks journeyed out to Poly and were walloped 45 to 37 by their hosts in the first game of the league series.

The Mechanics gained their whole advantage in the first period and during the second half the two teams scored exactly the same number of points.

The particular stars for the winners were Wilson, White and Cook. The two first-named players distinguished themselves by their ability to throw baskets from any angle.

Nye Moses and his partner at forwards for Los Angeles High proved to be the whole thing as far as the hill-top aggregation are concerned.

Polytechnic meets Hollywood on Friday night and a fast game is assured.

The Triangle basketball team of the local Y.M.C.A. is to play the Huntington Park High School team on the Y.M.C.A. courts Thursday night. The Triangle team has won every game played so far this season and should make things interesting for the Huntington Park five.

The play in the City League this year promises to be as fast and interesting as that in the County League. In the latter organization Long Beach, South Pasadena and Glendale are all very evenly matched and it is a toss-up between them.

Glendale has perhaps less chance than either of the others.

In the City League Los Angeles, Polytechnic, Manual Arts and Hollywood all seem to be on the same plane, without more than ten points difference between them. This means a good close race and one that is sure to be full of thrills.

On Thursday night in the Occidental gymnasium the basket ball teams of the Polytechnic Night School and the Occidental Glee Club are to mix. The night school team has three old Polytechnic stars, John and Harold Cooke and Booker.

This aggregation has lost but one game this year, and that by two points. They rolled up a score of something like 72 to 15 on the Los Angeles College of Osteopathy.

The Glee Club team has had a very successful season so far, having tied South Pasadena High, defeated Colton and San Bernardino high schools. The game is sure to be a fast one, with the odds a little in favor of the night schoolers.

Riverside High School has a better team than usual this season and they are looking forward to grabbing the bunting for the championship of the Citrus Belt League. Capt. Vermillion at guard is one of the best defensive players in the State. Boardman was last year rated the premier basket-tosser in the league. The other three positions on the team are being fought for by a bunch of old and new players and the resulting combination is sure to be strong.

COUNTRY CLUB GOSSIP.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

THE women golfers played their third handicap event for the Southern California Golf Association's medal yesterday afternoon, when Miss Marion Clark was again the winner. This makes the third occasion upon which Miss Clark held the medal, a fourth time will make her its permanent possessor.

It was a bitterly cold day and only five brave souls turned up. There was four inches of ice in all the boxes and the sand was so hard one had to crack it before proceeding to build a tee. The 18-hole course had to be played according to the rules of the S.C.W.G.A. so the majority of miladies just simply funked it. Miss Mildred Hogan, the new captain, who succeeded Miss Constance Clark, duly presided but herself declined to play. Miss Clark's score was 57 out, 51 home, which her 14 handicap reduced to 91 net.

Mrs. A. C. Scales made a net 93 on 21 handicap and Miss Margaret Halsted a 94 on 29 handicap. Miss Gwendoline Lawton also played but implored the press to blot out her score with Hope and Promise. All the same she did very well for a novice.

Mrs. D. R. Weller gave quite a large luncheon card party, to which at least fifty friends responded. It was a blush rose affair as regards decorations, the flowers, the ribbons, the souvenirs and the lights all being delightfully, rosily pink.

Victoria Club, Riverside.

The Victoria Golf Club opened the season in great style with a ball at the Glenwood and one of the most brilliant social gatherings was witnessed. Riverside's elect were present en bloc and many friends went up from Los Angeles and Pasadena to participate.

The acting hostesses for the occasion included all the well-known names—Mrs. Hugh Bain, Mrs. Harry Chase, Mrs. Harry Kearne, Miss Chance, Mrs. Herbert Coffman, Mrs. L. F. Darling, Mrs. Lily Pauline Frost, Mrs. De Witt Hutchings, Mrs. C. M. Loring, Mrs. C. H. Low, Mrs. John Merriman, Mrs. Charles Nye, Mrs. Harry Pattee, Mrs. W. W. Poole, Mrs. C. Reynolds, Mrs. C. Stibbens and Mrs. G. E. Trevelyan. The dancing was looked after by Mrs. Gaylord. Miss Della Hosp and a committee of useful men, including Messrs. Lyman V. Brown, De Witt Hutchings, Myron Milice, Pember Castleton, and Drs. Montgomery and Griffith, and the orchestra was an importation from Los Angeles.

Some of the distant visitors were Miss Marjorie Wyatt, who came all the way from San Diego, Mrs. Ethel Bruce of Santa Monica, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Curtis of Colton, Mr. and Mrs. Leipsic of Redlands, Mr. and Mrs. George Veinor of San Bernardino.

Mrs. Harry Kearne, who has now joined the San Gabriel Club, was to have come down from Riverside for yesterday's golf, but wired that she could not manage it after all. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kearne were the hosts at quite a large house party over the week-end, which may account for the hostess's indisposition. Some of their guests were Miss Florence Sutton and Mrs. Ethel Bruce, Miss Marjorie Wyatt, Mrs. Nellie Spencer Schwartz, Arthur Collins and G. A. Black. One item on the programme was a dinner at the Glenwood, preceding that Victoria ball, when, in addition to their house party, they entertained Martin Redmayne, the polo man, just returned from England, and Alexander Gray, who is more likely to be recognized as "Dick" of that ilk.

The Victoria Club will be the scene of the first invitation tournament of the season, a crowded week-end affair, February 21 to 23, when the team matches against San Gabriel, Annandale and Long Beach will all be crowded in. So far, with the long delayed rains, the course looks so dry and uninviting that they have not even had the heart to organise their team yet, but much is hoped for the next few weeks.

The Celebrated Tufts.

One way and another the large and amiable Edward has been figuring in public attention lately to quite a considerable extent. Having, by natural qualifications, become a sort of golf dictator on the Coast, it has become a tradition that no tournament could be successful or complete without him. He entirely agrees with this idea, of course, but was nevertheless prepared to sacrifice the success of the Del Monte New Year's affair by remaining right here. When invited in sugary tones to be present and reminded of his responsibility in refusing, he is understood to have murmured something Shakespearean to the effect "Nope, I ain't going!" Del Monte was in tears. It was as though their New Year's tournament were still-born. A hurried council was held . . . and behold, the wires on New Year's Day specifically assured us that Edward was gladdening Del Monte with his ample presence.

Of course, we all know there is enough of him to make two—two two-hundred pounders, too—but all the same he seemed to us to be very much here at the same time that they were declaring him there. If we only had his astral body, all we could say was there is some substance to astrality. But Edward himself declined to regard the one of him that was here as astral so a few urgent inquiries were set afloat. Ha, ha! Also ho, ho! Our anxiety was considerably relieved to discover that in the interests of Del Monte Vincent Whitney, the Vincent Whitney, had modestly sacrificed his own superb if somewhat meager personality in order that he might masquerade as Edward the Great for one large and solemn occasion. It was Little Claus masquerading as Big Claus with a vengeance and we are sadly assured that the disguise was very unconvincing, but think of the magnitude of the idea! Anti-Fat, with noble resolve, impersonating Fat in a Great Cause!

About the same time, that mild, gentle, harmless, antiseptic journal, Pacific Coast Golf, thrilled its readers by publishing a series of golf "Don'ts," author, Edward Tufts. As president of the Southern California Golf Association Edward the Great's words take on added profundity. Some of those Don'ts smack of the personal and vindictive—distinctly acidulated. So I hied me to one Nat Wilshire, who knows things, and asked in my most persuasive manner if he could enlighten me as to a few names. He could, and he did. Now when I want to stir up trouble for the Great One, I shall confide in you to whom those rude insinuations referred. But since Nat Wilshire recognized each shameless trick as belonging in some specific quarter, perchance the Autocrat was more than justified.

Norman Macbeth will again be the captain of the Los Angeles Country Club golf team, providing he may delegate his duties to some other shoulders occasionally during the season. His handsome head is now in the process of cogitating the qualifications of his men and the names will be finally selected this week.

GOTHAM BREEDERS WAIT FOR GLOOM TO VANISH.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Notwithstanding the suspension of horse racing in many sections of the country and the fact that no Futurity has been run in New York State since 1910, horse breeders continue the nomination for future events.

Those for the Futurity of 1913, made public today, reached the total of 507, or 113 more than for the preceding year, an increase of 30 per cent.

Seventy-one different breeders made nominations although there has been no definite assurance that the race will ever be run. The large entry, however, was taken to indicate the hopefulness among breeders that the cloud over racing might be lifted by 1915.

FOR MEN ONLY IS NEW GOLF COURSE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—Another new golf course, one which will admit no women to membership, is to be added to the many already along the North Shore. It was announced last night that the club will be known as the Old Elm and will occupy grounds on the old Green Bay road at Ft. Sheridan.

The reason for making the club one for men only, it is said, is to insure golf to the members of the organization at all times without any waiting. The membership is to be limited to 150.

GASOLINE WAR.

Autoists Get Together to Inaugurate Fight for Cheaper and Better Carburetor Juice.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—"Every increase of 1 cent in the price of gasoline means a loss of $10,000,000 a year to the automobile driver," according to a protest voiced at a meeting of sixty-five garage owners of this city against the increased prices for gasoline.

Steps have been taken to enlist the interest of automobile owners to devise ways and means of combating the high prices.

It was declared that coincident with the gradual increases in price there has been a decrease in the grade of gasoline.

THE BRAVE SPORTS.

Roy Brashear and Ed Golter were to start yesterday afternoon for the Chico club for a Wednesday duck hunt, while A. Maas, Henry Pfirrmann and O. Pachmeyer were scheduled for the Decoy club. The nights are too chilly for all but the rabid to take a chance on any of the clubs.

OCCIDENTAL AND ORIENTAL.

"The Typhoon" Gripping Play With Tragic End.

Scarlet Woman and Yellow Man Features.

Drama Has Nothing to Do With West Coast.

"The Typhoon," the work of an Hungarian dramatist, and which comes to the Majestic next week, originally produced in Buda Pesth, swept through Europe like a whirlwind, carrying all before it in its triumphant march across the continent. Vienna, Berlin and Paris acclaimed it with equal enthusiasm. It was welcomed with appreciation everywhere, not only on account of the intense and sustained power of the play itself, but for the fresh viewpoint and original treatment of a theme of pregnant modern interest—the attitude of the East toward the West; the contact of races separated by a wide gulf of tradition, religion and habit.

The immense differences between the two civilizations are shown in a way never before attempted on the stage. The dramatist takes a handful of Japanese students and civil servants and places them, with all their ancient prejudices, in ultra-modern Berlin—Paris, Washington or London would serve as well. This small Japanese colony, living on alien soil, working stealthily and persistently for Nippon and the Mikado, conforming outwardly to the manners and customs of the Occident, but still conserving the deepest ideals of the Orient, is a fascinating background for one of the most human and tragic dramas of our time.

DARING CONCEPTION.

The daring originality of its conception acted as a bar to its early production in America. The leading producers were frightened that its weird and unusual power might fail of effect with our blase and hypercritical audiences. Mr. Walker Whiteside, from the first, grasped its enormous possibilities, and at his own hazard risked a splendid production with implicit confidence as to the result.

His confidence was amply justified. From its initial production in this country there was never an instant's doubt as to its astounding success. A run in Chicago proved its genuine appeal, and New York crowded the exclusive Fulton Theater to a point where its capacity was soon reached, and the play was taken to the fashionable Hudson, where it ran until after the hot weather had closed almost every other theater in New York.

Rarely has any play been so cordially received by the leading critics. Mr. Whiteside's unique conception of the leading role, accurately studied from the inside, and not the conventional figure which had heretofore masqueraded with only the costume to give illusion; an impersonation with all the dignity, reticence and strange secretiveness of the real Japanese, was at once recognized as vitally true, in a stage setting that bore the imprint of verity and of minute observation. The intimate atmosphere of Japan was transferred to the stage. The production has even elicited approval from the leading Japanese artists resident in America for its extraordinary accuracy in detail. The story told necessitates realism of the highest kind, as the slightest jarring note would mar the cumulative effect.

PLOT OF THE PLAY.

Here is the briefest outline of the imagining of the great Hungarian playwright. Tokeramo, the character portrayed by Mr. Whiteside, is a young Japanese nobleman assigned by the Mikado himself to a special diplomatic mission at Berlin. During his stay in the German capital he becomes infatuated with a beautiful young woman and is tempted to betray his government's secrets.

His associates, loyally devoted to their country's interests, persuade him to leave this dangerous woman. Finally convinced of her perfidy, he casts her off. The young woman denounces the diplomat, and in an excess of jealour fury he strangles her to death. This scene is declared to be the most powerful and gripping the stage has known in years.

Instantly, to save him because of his value to Japan, his compatriots decide to shield him, and one of their number takes the responsibility for the crime upon himself, and pays the penalty by imprisonment. Remorse gnaws at the soul of the guilty man, culminating with his death.

The drama fairly throbs with human passion through every moment of the unfolding of its story, and possesses several big climaxes of breathless intensity. Mr. Whiteside is surrounded by a large company, every member of which has been personally selected by him, and the production is complete to the minutest detail.

Walker Whiteside "On and Off."

The half tone shows this splendid actor in one of the tensest moments of the play. Over the phone he learns that the white woman he idolized, scorns him. The mental tempest mirrored in his face is considered by many the greatest piece of silent acting ever seen the American stage.

SOUTHERN MEN GOING TO BAKERSFIELD DOG TRIALS.

LOCAL field dog men are much interested at present in the coming annual meet of the Pacific Coast Field Trials Club, which is to be held near Bakersfield on the Stockdale ranch, the last week in January. As usual, the Derby, members and all-age, will be the principal stakes.

But two dogs will represent Southern California and these are P. Sweeney's pointer, which is entered in the Derby, and H. Kebalt's setter, in the all-age. This dog won on the Canadian circuit last fall and is very promising in style and range.

It is expected that there will be about fifteen entries for the Derby, the greater number from points around San Francisco Bay. There are always a number of northern dogs trained around Bakersfield.

While rain is badly needed to make the ground "good," the dog men are hoping there will be sufficient before the trials come off to make ideal conditions.

Four or five dog sports are to attend from this city, chief among these being the veteran, John Schumacher, and Prof. Osthouse, the well-known dog and animal trainer and painter.

TEXAS COW HORSES BREAK INTO POLO.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL PASO, Jan. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Texas-bred cow ponies will be the mounts of the exclusive Long Island Polo Club. Godfrey Preece, a member of the club recently shipped forty-seven polo ponies from Midland, Tex., to New York, to be used in the spring tournament.

These ponies were bred on the Henry Haiff ranch near Midland, Tex., and brought prices ranging from $200 to $750, depending on their age and training in the polo game.

Eastern polo players have been sending to Texas for many of their mounts this year, but this is the largest single shipment.

ORIGINAL CASTS MUST SIGN TO COME TO COAST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Werba & Luescher, the newest and most energetic firm of theatrical producers, today posted a placard in their New York offices which is likely to insure that the greater cities of the Pacific Coast will hear the newest theatrical offerings in exactly the same shape and with the same important players as did the eastern metropolis, for each of their players must bind himself to as long a season as is desired and must play western territory when desired.

This step was considered today to be far-reaching in its effect upon the theatrical world for it has been a custom of long standing for certain players of reputation to demand that their contracts should so read that they need only play during the New York, Philadelphia, Boston, and possibly the Chicago runs of the more important productions.

It was said today in several other offices of well-known theatrical firms that this step was a most important one and that other producers would follow the Werba & Luescher action, both because it was now realized that western theater-goers were among the most critical of the country, and that it would tend to lessen the number of immature would-be stars and develop a much higher class of balanced attractions for the theaters.

Werba & Luescher stated that they had in reality adopted this plan last season when they sent their "Spring Maid" to the West with Mizzi Hajos, the Hungarian who originally created the leading part in Vienna, and have since followed the scheme with "The Rose Maid" by sending the New York players and production direct from the run at the Globe Theater to California.

They will also send Eddie Foy in "Over the River" exactly as presented in New York, even to the costly foreign cabaret singers and dancers.

It was also learned that this firm intends to make Los Angeles their producing center during the coming summer and will present there for the first time on any stage a new comic opera by Victor Herbert with Christie MacDonald as its star, and a second by Reginald DeKoven with the Hungarian, Mizzi Hajos, in the leading role. The intention being to play from spring to fall in California territory. In this way they intend to make a full year's season for their attractions instead of the thirty-five or forty weeks that has usually been considered a theatrical year.

ters. Every ball that is plunked into those bleachers will go for a homer."

Coast league parks seem to be made to order for left-handed batters. Heretofore, Los Angeles had about the only grounds in the league that were not equipped with a short right field fence. Now the one obstacle to their greatest batting success is to be removed.

Chance Has Them Guessing.

Frank Chance won't consent to manage the New York Americans?

That is the story ticked off by the telegraph keys last night.

It was a great story. Marvelous! It told how Frank stepped from the train and asked the newspaper men to guess what he was going to do about it.

"Sign," they replied in chorus.

"Guess again," said Frank.

"Not sign," chorused the newspaper men.

"Right," said Chance.

"I am going out on my ranch for a year and nothing, absolutely nothing, can tempt me to change my mind," continued Chance.

"Why the long trip then?" piped an inquisitive scribe.

"For the purpose of telling Farrell in person that I would not manage the team. I felt that he might not understand me clearly if I depended on writing. He has been square with me, and I wanted to be square with him."

Half an hour later the wire told another story, as follows, to-wit:

"At the conclusion of a lengthy conference between Frank Chance, former manager of the Chicago Nationals, and Frank Farrell, owner of the New York American League Club, late today, it was reported that the 'peerless leader' had practically accepted the terms of the Gotham magnate to lead the Highlanders in 1913 and that he would sign a contract tomorrow.

"Neither Farrell nor Chance would make a definite statement, but it was given out from authoritative sources that Farrell's last offer to Chance had caused the former Cub leader to change his mind about returning to retirement until 1914.

"The magnate and the famous leader will meet again tomorrow noon, at which time it is believed details of the deal will be closed. It is said Chance practically agreed to the terms submitted him by Farrell, though the contract was not signed tonight."

Possibly during the interim between the two stories Chance received news of a few things which Jack Frost had done to several orange ranches out this way.

In view of this latter untoward and unfortunate circumstance, one would seem to be justified in offering odds that the two Franks will reach an agreement.

Zimmerman's Long Golf Drive.

Frank Dillon's successful conquests on the golf course yesterday caused Johnny Kane to reflect on the greatness of Heinie Zimmerman of the Chicago Cubs in the same line of endeavor, and on one drive in particular.

Although it is not generally known out this way Zimmerman in early youth acted as a caddy to Travis and learned a lot of golf from the former champion.

When the Chicago Cubs were training at French Lick Springs Kane, Zimmerman, Shulte, Archer and several other players passed considerable time on the golf course.

"One day we asked Zimmerman to show us how far he could hit the ball," said Kane, "and believe me, we were lucky to find it again. Zimmerman drove the sphere 234 yards on the fly, and it rolled for more than fifty yards after striking the ground."

All will have to admit that it must have been some home run.

THE WEATHER.

LOCAL OFFICE, U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, Jan. 7.—[Reported by Edward A. Carpenter, Local Forecaster.] At 5 o'clock a.m. the barometer registered 30.44; at 5 p.m. 30.42. Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 51 deg. and 46 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 52 per cent.; 5 p.m., 81 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., northeast, velocity 12 miles; 5 p.m., west, velocity 5 miles. Highest temperature, 60 deg.; lowest, 38 deg. Rainfall in season, .44 of an inch. Barometer reduced to sea level.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.—The area of high barometric pressure which was central Monday over Manitoba drifted easterly over Ontario and another high area entered the Northwest. Over these areas form a field of high pressure covering the western half of the United States. The southerly extension of the high area brought colder weather to Southern California. As the low area over Alberta brought slightly warmer weather to the balance of the Pacific Coast. Owing to unusual storm conditions, all reports are missing east of Texas and south of the Great Lakes. It is expected that the present high area will drift slowly eastward, and with its departure the temperature in Los Angeles and vicinity will slowly rise. There will be heavy frost Wednesday morning.

BULLETIN—6:30 P.M., TUESDAY.

The area of high pressure still covers California, Nevada and Arizona, but the temperature in Northern California are somewhat higher than they were at the same hour last night. The rise amounted to about 10 deg., the southerly southerly in amount to 4 deg. A well-defined area of low pressure is central over the Northwest and rain is falling in Washington and Oregon, and it is snowing in Eastern Washington and in Idaho. The presence of this low area on the Pacific Coast will cause slowly rising temperatures to Southern California.

THE WEATHER.

LOCAL OFFICE, U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, Jan. 7.—[Reported by Edward A. Carpenter, Local Forecaster.] At 5 o'clock a.m. the barometer registered 30.44; at 5 p.m. 30.42. Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 51 deg. and 46 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 52 per cent.; 5 p.m., 81 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., northeast, velocity 12 miles; 5 p.m., west, velocity 5 miles. Highest temperature, 60 deg.; lowest, 38 deg. Rainfall in season, .44 of an inch. Barometer reduced to sea level.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.—The area of high barometric pressure which was central Monday over Manitoba drifted easterly over Ontario and another high area entered the Northwest. Over these areas form a field of high pressure covering the western half of the United States. The southerly extension of the high area brought colder weather to Southern California. As the low area over Alberta brought slightly warmer weather to the balance of the Pacific Coast. Owing to unusual storm conditions, all reports are missing east of Texas and south of the Great Lakes. It is expected that the present high area will drift slowly eastward, and with its departure the temperature in Los Angeles and vicinity will slowly rise. There will be heavy frost Wednesday morning.

BULLETIN—6:30 P.M., TUESDAY.

The area of high pressure still covers California, Nevada and Arizona, but the temperatures in Northern California are somewhat higher than they were at the same hour last night. The rise amounted to about 10 deg., the southerly southerly in amount to 4 deg. A well-defined area of low pressure is central over the Northwest and rain is falling in Washington and Oregon, and it is snowing in Eastern Washington and in Idaho. The presence of this low area on the Pacific Coast will cause slowly rising temperatures to Southern California.

Barometer reduced to sea level.

GENERAL WEATHER CONDITIONS.—The area of high barometric pressure which was central Monday morning has drifted easterly over Ontario and the lower lake region and entered the Northwest. The high areas have a field of high pressure covering the western half of the United States. The southerly extension of the high area has brought milder weather to Southern California, while colder weather is reported in the low area over Alberta brought slightly colder weather to the balance of the Pacific slope. Owing to unusual storm conditions, all reports are coming east of Texas and south of Kansas City. It is expected that the cold high area will drift slowly eastward, and on its departure the temperature in Los Angeles and vicinity will slowly rise. There will be heavy frost Wednesday morning.

BULLETIN—8:30 P.M., TUESDAY.

The area of high pressure still covers California, Nevada and Arizona, but the temperature in Southern California are somewhat lower than they were at the same hour last night. The fall amounted to about 10 deg., and is moving easterly in amount to 4 deg. A small area of low pressure is central over the Northwest and rain is falling in Montana and Oregon, and it is snowing in the State of Washington and in Idaho. The pressure over this low area on the Pacific Coast will cause very rising temperatures in Southern California.

STOCK EXCHANGE PRICES ASCEND.

LEVEL CREEPS UPWARD AND TONE IS BETTER.

Harriman Stocks Are a Strong Feature—Union Pacific Sells Two Points Above Yesterday's Close With Speculative Interest Largely for Short Coverings.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—The level of stock exchange prices crept upward today and though the demand was not large enough to create an active market the tone was perceptibly better. The effect of the set back received yesterday in the Supreme Court's refusal to sanction the plan of the Harriman interests for the distribution of the Union Pacific's holdings of Southern Pacific were off over night and the Harriman issues were strong features of the list with Union Pacific for a time selling two points above yesterday's close. Speculative interest was greatest in this stock, buying of which [illegible] be largely for short coverings. Although the advance in prices was quite general there were a few weak points in the list. Beet sugar dropped four points to 21, its lowest price since 1910. There was a wider inquiry for bonds today. An increasing demand for high grade issues is looked for at this season, in consequence of reinvestment of the heavy disbursements of interest and dividend. Although the tone of the bond market has been better for the last few days, the demand so far has proved smaller than in former years. Total sales par value $1,585,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

New York Curb Stocks.

[Furnished by E. F. Hutton & Co., Members New York Stock Exchange, 118 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—The curb market was practically unchanged in the coppers, except Giroux which closed 3⅛ bid at 3⅜. Braden was in fair demand. Alaska sold off slightly. The Boston coppers opened steady, with improved activity and with better prices during the session. North Butte showed the greatest incentive to rally. Granby and Butte and Superior were both active and during the early trading showed a strong undertone, Hayden being the principal buyer of the latter. The afternoon hours brought about extreme dullness, with prices holding fairly well. Trinity advanced half a point easily. Following are the closing bid and asked prices:

PERSONALS.

Hon. C. A. Barlow, of the real estate firm of Barlow & Hill, Fresno, and also State Senator, is passing a few days at the Hollenbeck. Among the other guests registered at the same hotels are Dr. T. Jacobs of Atlanta; George W. Webb, immigration inspector located at Calexico; J. J. Duel, C. H. Holmes and F. J. Hill, oil operators of the Bakersfield district and Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Hendricks of Salem, Or. Hendricks is president of the Statesman Publishing Company of that city.

M. J. Fontana arrived at the Hayward yesterday from San Francisco. He is secretary of the California Canners' Association, and is here inspecting improvements on the local plant. Michael McNally, a dealer in light hardware and sporting goods, in El Paso, is passing a few days at the same hotel. J. J. Murtough, a Seattle brewer and Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Armstrong of the same city are making their home at this hotel.

H. J. Simons, general manager of the El Paso and Southwestern Railway, is a guest at the Van Nuys. He has just completed a tour of that road and came from the Arizona terminus to Los Angeles to confer with the local representative of the company, Douglas Alexander, an official of the Standard Oil Company in San Francisco, is making his home at the same place. Another guest is Lawrence Monet, Jr., who is a student at Berkeley, and who is here visiting friends for a few days.

Capt. John M. Page, United States Army, is staying at the Alexandria, where he is registered with Mrs. Page from San Francisco. H. W. Thomas

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Persons are asked to meet the Park Commission at the Council chamber Friday night to discuss the Arroyo Seco parkway.

On advice of the City Attorney the Board of Public Works will reorganize this afternoon, when A. A. Hubbard will be re-elected president.

As alleged creditor of the late Pierre Agoure of this city, who left an estate worth $500,000, failed in his efforts in the Superior Court yesterday to prevent the appointment of Mrs. Agoure as administratrix.

At the City Hall.

BAD FAITH THE IMPLICATION.

PARK COMMISSION QUOTES THE COUNCIL'S RECORD.

Balked at Last Moment Carrying Out Plans for Acquiring and Improving Arroyo Seco Parkway. Meeting Friday Night—Board of Public Works Will Reorganize.

As a result of eleventh-hour objection to the acquisition of the Arroyo Seco parkway, from seemingly unknown sources, a meeting has been called for the Council Chamber on Friday evening, for the discussion of the subject with the Park Commission, which body is anxious to meet at that time all persons directly interested in the project.

The plans for the improvement have all been made and the assessment district outlined, with the concurrence of the Council, but just as the last steps were about to be taken, opposition developed in some quarter, and it came to the ears of the Park Commission that the Council now proposes to change the assessment district.

The commissioners filed a protest mainly based upon the grounds that Pasadena, South Pasadena and the County Supervisors, upon assurance that the project was to be put through by the city, have proceedings under way to secure their portion of the arroyo.

Attention is further called to the Council proceedings, and to the fact that the present city administration made the question of the improvement of this parkway an issue in the late municipal election, by printing and circulating the statement that its acquisition would be favored.

The Board of Public Works yesterday granted the use of the Council Chamber for Friday evening, for the discussion of the question.

PUBLIC WORKS BOARD. REORGANIZATION TODAY.

The Board of Public Works had contemplated reorganizing yesterday, but on advice of the City Attorney the somewhat perfunctory ceremony was postponed until the regular meeting this afternoon at 2 o'clock. More or less gossip has been indulged in concerning who would be elected president of the board, but as stated in The Times yesterday, the choice will fall upon A. A. Hubbard, who has filled the position acceptably ever since his appointment as a member of the board. There is no disagreement in the board, and the two new members, Messrs. Johnson and Handley, will vote for the senior member to retain the leadership. Mr. Hubbard is painstaking and deferential to his fellow-members, and has the business thoroughly in hand. Mr. Johnson has already become chairman of the Aqueduct Advisory Committee, in the place of Gen. Adna R. Chaffee, resigned, and Mr. Handley will become superintendent of the Street Department.

Must Pay Rental.

If an ordinance sent to the Legislation Committee by the City Council yesterday goes into effect, builders who use the city's streets as a storage place for material will have to pay rent. It is believed this will have a tendency to curtail such use of the streets.

Victory in Defeat.

One of the most strongly-contested projects for street improvement that has been before the Council committees for months was that of the paving of Hope street, from First to Third streets. Former Councilman George Stewart led the forces in favor of the improvement and Lawrence Holmes was captain of those who objected to having the block between First and Second included in the charges. The Stewart faction won and in due time the contract was awarded. Now Holmes is the victor. He discovered a technical error in posting of notices and appealed to the City Attorney, who sustains him, and so notified the Council yesterday. The contractor has agreed to cancel his contract and the Council yesterday ordered the entire proceedings abandoned and the refund of assessments paid into the city treasury.

East Side Library Site.

The City Council adopted yesterday the ordinance providing for the condemnation of land for a public library site at Avenue Twenty-six and Workman street on the East Side.

Vermont-Avenue Widening.

Whether Vermont avenue shall be widened to 120 feet from Sixth street to Griffith Park, is still an open question. A large number of property owners were before the Council yesterday to present both sides of the case, but no decision was reached and the hearing was continued to the 28th inst., in order to give the two sides opportunity to reach a compromise.

Consider Double-Tracking.

After receiving the petition from patrons of the West Jefferson-street car line, asking for better car service and double-tracking four blocks, with an extension of the line to the westerly city limits, the City Council yesterday decided to request the Board of Public Utilities to give the subject immediate consideration. The charge was made by I. X. Lynard, representing the petitioners, that application to the Board of Public Utilities had been fruitless; that that body had simply referred the subject to Vice-President Dunn of the Los Angeles Railway Corporation, and that he had announced that he would not undertake to make the desired extensions until franchise conditions were more favorable.

To Discuss a Loan.

Adjourned sessions of the City Council are becoming frequent. The third session this week will be held Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, at which time special consideration will be given the request of the Aqueduct Advisory Board that the city loan the Aqueduct Bureau $325,000 to complete the work on the big conduit. As the members of the Finance Committee have taken a decided stand against the making of this loan, it is probable they will be sustained by the Council.

Garbage Plant Specifications.

The specifications for the proposed garbage disposal plant were presented to the City Council and referred to the special committee on garbage disposal yesterday. After their approval as to form by the City Attorney, the Council will adopt them and authorize the Board of Public Works to advertise for bids.

HIS ATTACK IS FLASH IN PAN.

WIDOW MADE ADMINISTRATRIX DESPITE OBJECTIONS.

Alleged Creditor's Petition Is Branded Scurrilous Attack, Unworthy of Consideration—Charges Wealthy Man Didn't Die of Poisoning.

An attack on the competency of Mrs. Catherine Agoure, widow of the late Pierre Agoure, a wealthy rancher man of Ventura county, who died of formaldehyde poisoning, taken by mistake, November 29, last, to administer the estate, flashed in the pan in the Probate Court yesterday when Judge Rives granted the petition of the widow. She was opposed by the petition of John Lapique, an alleged creditor.

Lapique filed a petition which contained what the opposing attorneys characterized a scurrilous attack. He was proceeding under cross-examination of Mrs. Agoure to bring out the alleged events at the time of Agoure's death when the court sustained an objection of Attorney Gage.

Gage declared the paper filed by Lapique, who, as a party to the suit conducted his own case, contains all sorts of scurrilous allegations. The only thing in the paper worthy of consideration, he said, is a statement that Lapique was a creditor.

Lapique was granted the opportunity of reading the statute covering his point of view—that the widow is incompetent and is disqualified. He said he had a number of witnesses to testify along the line of allegations contained in the petition. He imputed that Agoure's death was not the result of accident.

The court held that the widow had the first and absolute right to act as administratrix unless there was something that disqualified her. No offer was made, and at the afternoon session the widow's appointment was announced. She was represented by O'Melveney, Stevens & Millikin and Gage & Foley.

Agoure's estate is valued at $500,000. He lived at No. 3955 Western avenue and owned 15,000 acres in Ventura county, and other property; also large quantities of hay and grain. The total rental value of the property is $86,966.34. The cash on hand is $29,424.38. The heirs are the widow, and the following children: Lester, and Vivian Agoure, Angile Agoure Vail, Byon Agoure Brinkop.

FAILS ALL AROUND. UNROMANTIC DENOUEMENT.

The case of George Janowitz, who was released on a writ of habeas corpus by Judge Willis yesterday, revolves around the question whether suicide is a crime in this State. Janowitz was arrested after he had shot himself. He had been in jail for four months. His attorney, George L. Greer, argued yesterday that Janowitz was committed for threats and that his commitment was improper. The court so held.

The attempt of Janowitz to commit suicide was apparently intended to be romantic, but it was a failure. He went to the home of Miss Julia Reah July 19, last, and asked for her. When someone approached in response to his inquiry, he presumed it was Miss Reah and drawing a revolver shot himself in the head, sinking on the doorstep. Unfortunately for his romantic end, the shot did not prove fatal and the person who responded to his call was not Miss Reah. To cap his misery he was arrested.

GETTING TOGETHER. COMPROMISE IN AIR.

It is probable the factional fight among the directors of the Dabney Oil Company, which has resulted in litigation, may be smoothed over at the meeting called on the 21st inst. to elect a new board of directors. A motion to continue the trial of the Dabney Oil Company against the Providence Oil Company and others was made in Judge Finlayson's court yesterday and the date was set for the 28th inst. It was stated there is a possibility of the case being compromised, which would dispose of the preliminary questions Judge Finlayson would have to decide before going into the accounting asked for.

The Dabney company asks the defendants to account for the profits made in the management of the company and alleged to have been negligently handled.

VICKERS ESTATE. WIDOW GIVEN FREE REIN.

The estate of John V. Vickers, who died December 28, last, is valued at $575,000, according to the petition filed yesterday by the widow, Mrs. Anna C. Vickers. It consists of real estate, $500,000, and personal property, $75,000. The will, written by Vickers in Arizona, December 12, 1902, gives the widow free rein with the estate; she may dispose of it as she sees fit or retain and manage it for the best interests of the four daughters.

Vickers's desire is that the property be kept and made the most of until such time as the best prices may be obtained for it. He names his wife executrix and desires she have ample funds to keep up a good house for herself and the children. The latter are Mrs. Florence V. McAllister, Mrs. Anna C. Crawford, Dora and Clara Vickers.

CAN'T BE GOOD? BREAKS PAROLE; GOES TO JAIL.

The endeavor of Judge Willis and Capt. Dodds to make Joe Beardsley see the error of his ways failed, and for having violated his parole he was sentenced to San Quentin yesterday for five years. Beardsley left the courtroom with a grievance. He said if the court had sentenced him when he pleaded guilty to burglary he would have served part of the term by this time.

Beardsley stole two suits of clothes, sold one and the other was taken from him when he was arrested. Judge Willis placed him on parole. He told him to keep away from saloons, refrain from seeing a certain married woman and if he got employment to stick to it.

Beardsley did none of these things. He went to work on the aqueduct. Later he drew $45 and spent it wantonly. Then he came here to see the woman.

The trial of the divorce suit of Josephine S. Hall against Charles V. Hall was continued yesterday until the 28th inst., at which time it is expected depositions will arrive from Tampa, Fla., of persons alleged to have been cognizant of the residence in that city of Hall and Marie Seuten, the attractive protege of the capitalist.

Miss Seuten is named as the corespondent by Mrs. Hall. Hall denies that she was any more to him than a young woman deserving of assistance. Hall is contesting the action, the main fight promising to be on the division of the property. He is president of the Industrial Oil Company and has extensive real estate holdings.

DRAWN ON JURY. BUSY MEN; NO EXCUSES.

Two bankers and a business man were drawn on the January term jury in Extra Sessions One yesterday and not one of them asked to be excused, declaring they believe it their duty to serve. They were John E. Fishburn, president of the National Bank of California; W. D. Longyear, secretary of the Securities Savings Bank, and W. P. Story, owner of the Story building.

Story arrived in court late. He was asked by Judge Dooling what excuse he had to offer and he said he had none. Of the eighty men drawn for the panel only twenty-three were selected. Twenty could not be found and thirty-seven were excused for various reasons.

COURTHOUSE NOTES. BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

CASE CONTINUED. Owing to a crowded calendar the fight in the Juvenile Court for the custody of the children of Mrs. Franc Franklin was continued until today. Mrs. Franklin eight years ago secretly married the son of L. D. Gale, a New York banker. Three years ago she was divorced. Recently she married Earl Franklin. The children are by the first marriage. Banker Gale, acting for his son, is endeavoring to have the custody of the children on the ground that Mrs. Franklin is an unfit person to care for them.

APPOINTS REFEREES. Andrew T. Allen, Franklin F. Johnson and John B. Hass were appointed referees by Judge Craig yesterday in the condemnation suit of the City of Pasadena against Emily B. Foote, Guy S. Garner, Paul J. Crippen and Herbery Iasayi were appointed to view the property the city desires to take for street improvements in the Wilshire district. The action is against James McLaughlin.

IN THE INFERIOR COURTS.

Justice Protects Man Against Himself When Latter Pleads Guilty to Crime He's Not Committed.

It is not misdemeanor embezzlement for a person to appropriate to his own use a check intended for his firm, but accidentally made payable to him, in which check he has a commission interest, according to a ruling made yesterday morning by Police Judge Rose when he discharged E. F. Collins from custody, although he pleaded guilty to the charge preferred against him by Frank Clapp.

Clapp lives at Riverside, but is sojourning at the Y.M.C.A. here. He employed Collins on a commission basis. On December 14, last year, Collins collected $18.75 from Mrs. I. K. Anthony, No. 666 Berendo street, who paid him by check made payable to himself instead of Clapp.

When Collins failed to make a proper return on the check, Clapp caused his arrest. Ignorant of court procedure, Collins pleaded guilty. After Clapp had testified, Justice Rose said:

"The offense charged in this complaint has not been committed by the defendant. He is discharged. If the assistant City Prosecutor who issued this complaint had been informed as to the law, he would never have issued it."

A Shame to Do It.

Declaring that it would be a shame to send a quartette of such unsophisticated individuals to jail, Police Judge Rose yesterday discharged George A. Brown, Pedro Curio, Hugh McAllister and O. A. Hargraves from custody. They were arrested late Sunday afternoon for participating in a riot at Third and Los Angeles streets, following the I.W.W. parade. A red flag was carried at the head of the column. The men claimed that they had only been residents of the city but a few days, and denied that they intentionally violated any laws of the city. After admonishing the men that it is foolishness on their part to imagine that they can come to Los Angeles and after so short a sojourn attempt to teach its older residents anything along economic lines, he dismissed them.

Nine Speeders Fined.

Nine speeders and seven violators of the muffler ordinance were arraigned before Police Judge Rose yesterday on complaints sworn to by Motorcycle Officer Blaisdell. The latter were fined $3 each and the former $25. The speeders were L. C. Cash, driving Southern Pacific Transfer Company truck thirty miles an hour on Sunset boulevard; H. M. Thompson, No. 2002 Sunset boulevard, thirty-five miles on same thoroughfare; C. C. Troxell of San Fernando, twenty-four miles on East Ninth street; W. S. Wheaton, No. 601 S. Spring street, thirty-five miles on East Ninth street; O. B. Burras, Eleventh and Flower streets, twenty-five miles on East Ninth street, fine suspended; James Miles, No. 422 West Forty-fifth street, twenty-nine miles on Sunset boulevard; Sidney Reed, No. 321 Gramercy place, twenty-eight miles on Wilshire boulevard, fine suspended; Chick Tribble, No. 513 South Main street, thirty-two miles on Wilshire boulevard; Charles Moyer, No. 601 East Sixth street, twenty-four miles on South Grand avenue.

Twelve Reasons.

GIFTED "NEWSIE" OWN ADVOCATE.

YOUNG DEMOSTHENES IS ALSO AN ANOMALY.

Knows How He Should Behave, According to His Own Rules of Conduct, but Has Overweening Penchant for Joy Rides—He's Mentioned in Judge's Book.

Arthur Lynch, at the age of 12, occupies two pages of Judge Wilbur's book on the Juvenile Court. Arthur was asked to give twelve reasons why a boy ought to be good and twelve reasons why a boy does wrong. He answered so intelligently that Judge Wilbur reproduced the answers in the boy's own handwriting.

At that time —1904—Arthur was in the Detention Home for the theft of a bicycle. He was placed on probation. Two years later he stole goods from a department store. Now, at the age of 19, he is in trouble again for having taken a joy ride in a stolen machine from San Diego to San Francisco.

Arthur appeared before Judge Wilbur yesterday and pleaded his own cause. His language was well chosen and inclined to polysyllabic words. He was striking his stride as a young Demosthenes, when at the end of twelve minutes Judge Wilbur stopped him. He continued the case until Monday, meant me remanding Arthur to the County Jail.

Arthur is an anomaly. He sells newspapers on the streets at San Diego and earns from $20 to $30 a week. He made himself president of the San Diego Newsboys' Club. Externally he is a young gentleman, but at times he seems obsessed with the desire to appropriate things on wheels and go on joy rides. His explanation for his latest venture was a desire to see San Francisco. Repentance is keen, and his determination to be good apparently sincere.

A boy should be good, he wrote for Judge Wilbur, for his parents' sake, for his own good, for his own sake, for other people's sake and for a good reputation. He should be good if he expects to get along, if he wants to be happy, if he wants to have friends, if he expects to have a pardoner.

A boy does wrong because he does not realise it, when somebody leads him, when he does not mean to, just to be smart, to get out of another wrong, and to get what he wants. He says a boy would not do wrong if he knew what it meant.

On Guard.

PREPARING BILL TO TIDE OVER.

EMERGENCIES MAY ARISE WHEN VOTES ARE TAKEN.

New County Charter Causes Board of Supervisors Worry for Fear It Will Not Be Adopted by Legislature or Process of Law Will Block It—Sore Necessity.

An emergency amendment to the County Government Act of 1911 will be presented to the Legislature, at the instance of the Board of Supervisors, by Deputy District Attorney Hanna as soon as it can be framed, if the new county charter fails of adoption at Sacramento, or if anyone should hold it up by seeking to employ legal process to have it declared unconstitutional. The measure will then have to be invoked to tide the various county governmental departments over until the question is settled.

Hanna will leave tonight for Sacramento, to take a preliminary view of the situation. He expects to return Monday and report to the Board of Supervisors. Meanwhile the county departmental heads will transmit to his office a statement of their needs in help and salaries, which will permit him to go about the drafting of the bill intelligently when he returns.

The third meeting of the county departmental heads was held yesterday in the office of Auditor Lewis to present the views of the men to Hanna before his departure. Lewis declared that 50 per cent. more warrants than ever before have passed through his hands during the last year, without any increase in help or appropriation to cover running expenses.

In Recorder Logan's department the business has increased 54 per cent. in four years, while the force has gone up only 6 per cent. In Assessor Hopkins's force there has been no increase for two years, but 25 per cent. more business is being handled than ever before. County Clerk Lelande's duties as registrar of voters were doubled when women were given the ballot, without legislative provision for increasing his staff. The Justice Court filing office is undermanned.

In Lelande's case extra clerks have been employed, but no provision has been made to pay them. They will have to wait to see what the Legislature is willing to do. Whether the charter is adopted or not, or held up until its validity is tested, Lelande may be obliged to present a special relief bill to the Legislature independent of the act Hanna is to draft.

This latter enactment will be amendatory to Section 4230 of the Political Code, which comprises the last County Government Act. Consideration of the charter will be asked of the Legislature at as early a date as possible, and Hanna's bill need never see the light if it goes through.

WILL OPPOSE POWER COMPANY.

Tulare Land Owners Entertain an Old Prejudice Against Having Towers Erected on Their Ranches.

TULARE, Jan. 7.—Woodville district dairymen and alfalfa ranchers have completed their organization to fight the Pacific Light and Power Company, in their plans for stringing steel towers through the ranches of the dairy country. The Pacific company engineers are surveying the shortest possible lines through the district and in many instances the towers will run in most inconvenient lines through the ranch property.

These towers are twenty feet square at the base and the legs of the structures shored to concrete pillars.

The company is said to have offered $20 for the easement to property upon which each tower is located.

Counsel has been retained by the Woodville association and a most determined attempt will be made to compel the corporation to build these towers on county road lines.

HELD IN BONDS.

Al Relbern and Burt Henderson were held to answer in the Superior Court yesterday on a charge of grand larceny, preferred at the instance of John B. Gray of the Southern California Edison Company, after an examination before Justice Summerfield. Witnesses testified that the men had been found in possession of 1800 feet of copper wire belonging to the company, valued at $250. They were held in $1500 bonds each.

CRUSHED IN CAVE-IN.

Nick Sotello, 19 years old, an Austrian laborer living at No. 476 Bell street, was so seriously crushed in a cave-in yesterday that Receiving Hospital surgeons say that his recovery is doubtful. He was working in a six-foot trench near Adams and Montclair streets, when one side gave way, completely burying him under a quantity of sand. He was dug out by fellow workmen. His most serious injury is a crushed chest.

Ocean Traffic Is Controlled from English Capital Says Witness.

House Committee on Trail of Trust More Grasping Than All Others.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Testimony about "a shipping combination that controlled the commerce of the seas with a stronger grasp than any combination which ever existed in the trade between the States," was presented today to the House Merchant Marine Committee. Shippers told of being at the mercy of the combination. The former agent of one so-called "conference" or combination line related the methods of keeping independent lines out of the trade, of pooling profits and of dividing territory.

W. H. Douglass of the New York exporting firm of Arkell and Douglass declared that a combination of German and British lines existed, controlling the ocean, and that the steamship managers in London were able to direct the course of trade at their will.
